Alumni Return for Traditional Events

LAYING OF CORNERSTONE FOR NEW DORMITORY FOR WOMEN

Again this year many alumni returned for the annual Home-coming over the Thanksgiving week end. Out-of-state alumni were present from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, New York, Virginia, Nebraska, and Kansas.

The traditional Thanksgiving service was held in the College Union at 10:15 on Thanksgiving Day, Dr. S. C. Yoder, President Emeritus, preaching one of his interesting and inspiring Thanksgiving sermons, using as a text Psalm 103:2. Members of the college congregation, students, and guests nearly filled the front part of the auditorium.

Following the Thanksgiving service, 555 guests enenjoyed the annual turkey dinner in the college dining hall. In spite of the large number present, the meal was served dining hall fashion from 11:30 to 1:00 instead of cafeteria style. As diners would leave one table, waiters immediately set the table to make room for six other guests. A. C. Gingerich, turkey king of Wellman, Iowa, donated a generous supply of the famous American Thanksgiving fowl.

At two o'clock guests met in Assembly Hall for an after-dinner program planned by a faculty committee headed by Professor Samuel A. Yoder 28 in co-operation with the social committees of the "Y." Acting President Carl Kreider 36 demonstrated his versatility by showing himself an interesting and humorous toastmaster. Toasts were given by Doris Liechty 50, of Pettisville, Ohio; Lois Blosser 48, of Beloit, Ohio; and Harold Bauman 46, of Orrville, Ohio. Ralph Wade 49, music teacher at Fisher, Illinois, played an instrumental solo, and Royce Saltzman 50, of Grantham, Pennsylvania, sang one of his delightful tenor solos. The Spartan Quartet composed of Lowell Byler 51, Don Miller 50, Merrill Swartley x50, and Paul Brunner 49 sang several numbers.

An interesting feature of the 1950 Home-coming was the laying of the cornerstone for the new dormitory for women. Since the Mennonite Board of Education favors designating the new dormitory as an alumni memorial, the program was in charge of members of the Alumni Association. Dr. Carl M. Hostetler 33, president of the Alumni Association, was chairman. Dr. H. Clair Amstutz 33, member of the Building Committee, spoke briefly on "Christian Educational Idealism." Acting President Carl Kreider 36, also a member of the Building Committee, placed documents in the repository. Professor Viola M. Good 39, dean of women, member of the Building Committee, spoke a few appropriate words and with the assistance of J. Gordon Jackson, construction engineer, laid the cornerstone. Leland Bachman 38, business manager of the College, secretary of the Alumni Association, and chairman of the Building Committee, closed the service with an appropriate prayer and benediction.

The traditional chorus program was held in the auditorium of the College Union in the evening. Members of the three choruses, the A Cappella, the Motet Singers, and the Collegiate Chorus, all participated. The Motet Singers, under the direction of Professor Mary Oyer 45, sang two groups of numbers; the A Cappella Chorus, under the direction of Dwight Weldy 40, sang two groups; and the combined choruses, under the direction of Professor Walter E. Yoder 33, sang Christiansen's "Praise to the Lord" and "Prayer of Thanksgiving," a Dutch folk song arranged by Kremser.

Regular classes met on Friday morning from 7:30 to 11:35. Edgar Metzler 52, winner of the Peace Oratorical Contest and Goshen College representative in the state Peace Oratorical Contest next spring, delivered his oration, "Breaking the Cycle," during the special chapel service at 10:15.

Following lunch served cafeteria style in the dining hall from 10:15 to 12:30, students, faculty members, and guests met in the gymnasium to witness the annual Alumni vs. Varsity basketball games. In the women's game the alumni threatened to make it a real battle, but the superior team play and sharp shooting of the varsity enabled them to come through with a final score of 35-22. In the men's game, although alumni were leading 4-0 in the first minutes of the game, the fast breaking style and superior staying power of the varsity brought them through with the top-heavy score of 54-21.

The concluding event of the Home-coming season was a lecture. "Southwestern Wonderlands," by Ray Eggersted. Regarding this lecture, W. W. Oesch a10, associate editor of the Farmer's Exchange at New Paris, wrote in part in the issue of December 1:

"Eggersted, an excellent photographer, captured some of the finest nature scenery of this area in color. . . . He took us through Bryce Canyon and Zion National Park in southern Utah. . . . At Lees Ferry on the Colorado his party in four boats went down the roughest portion of this turbulent stream. There were thrills aplenty, even for a casual onlooker, as the pictures showed their boats tossed about like eggshells on the rapids. It was an evening well spent for those who are interested in knowing the physical geography of our country."

On Saturday forenoon classes resumed as usual, but the Teacher Education Division and the Christopher Dock Club jointly sponsored an Education Conference that brought together alumni teaching in various fields and in a number of states. Professor Karl Massanari 36, who was largely responsible for the organization of the conference, felt greatly encouraged by the response and the interest and contemplates making this an annual event.

FIRST ANNUAL GOSHEN COLLEGE ALUMNI REUNION OF WAYLAND, IOWA

Sixty Goshen alumni and friends met for an alumni reunion and dinner in the basement of the First Mennonite Church in Wayland, Iowa, on Thursday evening, December 28. A bountiful dinner was served by one of the Sunday-school classes of the church.

Dr. J. Glenn Widmer x42, a member of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association of Goshen College, was master of ceremonies. He called on the Reverend Ezra S. Mullet a12, pastor of the congregation, for the invocation. Dr. Olive Wyse 26, professor of home economics at Goshen, and Professor Vincent Krabill 43, instructor on the Hesston College faculty, spoke a few words.

Music for the evening was furnished by playing recordings from the Goshen College record albums including selections by the College choruses and the hymn by the students during the chapel period.

Dr. Carl Kreider 36, acting president of the College, speaking on the subject, "Internal Improvements at Goshen College," gave the principal address of the evening. The master of ceremonies then called for impromptu remarks by Rev. Mullet, Dr. Clarence C. Wyse x32, Dr. Reuben B. Widmer 40, and Mr. Emery Eigsti x23.

The group of alumni present effected a permanent organization by electing Dr. J. Glenn Widmer, M.D., president, and Mrs. Harold Meyer (Aldine Sutter x37) secretary-treasurer.

CALIFORNIA-ARIZONA GOSHEN COLLEGE ALUMNI REUNION

Alumni in the California-Arizona area are planning a dinner meeting and reunion in Los Angeles on the evening of January 28. The program committee, composed of Arlene Sitler 44 and Mrs. Alice Classen 47 (Alice Leichty), of Reedley, and Mrs. Robert Yearout 48 (Lois Jennings), of Tranquillity, have arranged the following program: Chairman and Toastmaster, John David Zehr, 48 of Los Angeles; music features, piano solo, Mrs. Alfred Zook (Rosemary Roose 43), of Tempe, Arizona, and violin solo by Margaret Detwiler 43, of Tucson, Arizona. The committee plans to have each guest introduce himself with a short autobiography. This will be followed by viewing the Goshen College Kodachrome Slides. Rev. Calvin Snyder 47, of Glendale, will lead the devotional period. Leonard Henard 41 will give a reading or talk and Mrs. Kuttruff (Nellie Yoder 16), of Blythe, California, will give a talk. The group also plans to hold an offering for the new dormitory for women on the Goshen College campus. Much of the credit for the reunion must go to John David Zehr and Arlene Sitler, who conducted most of the correspondence in preparation for the reunion.

MID-CENTURY ISSUE OF THE COLLEGE RECORD

Are you alumni reading the Goshen College Record? If not, you are missing some of the good work being done by the editor, Owen Gingerich 51, son of Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Gingerich 26 (Verna Roth x29), and his associate editor, Robert Hershberger 53, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hershberger 23, formerly of Oakland, California, and now of Washington, D.C. These enterprising young journalists are constantly finding new themes and ideas for the Record.

The Mid-century Issue contains a number of pictures and articles giving some of the high points in the history of Goshen College from June, 1903, when the campus was still a wheat field, down to the present. The editors ransacked the old files of electrotypes and found one showing the crowd present for the Ground-Breaking Ceremony of Goshen College. A number of other views illustrate the growth of the physical plant and campus down through the years.

They printed a number of extra copies of this issue. If you are interested, write to the Goshen College Record, Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana, for a copy and then send in a subscription so that you will receive a week-to-week account of the activities on the campus of your Alma Mater.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY DIRECTORY READY FOR THE PRESS

All the material for the Golden Anniversary Directory has now gone to the printer, galley proof and page proof have been read, and the Herald Press at Scottdale, Pennsylvania, is ready to print the Directory.

When the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association of Goshen College, Inc., planned the Directory in 1945, they recommended that two thousand copies be printed. In August 1949 the alumni office sent out letters to alumni to learn how many were interested in receiving copies of the Directory. At that time four hundred and fifty stated that they wished a copy. Several others stated that it would depend on the cost. Since then more than a hundred others expressed a desire for a copy.

So long as the supply lasts the Directory probably will be sent free of charge to all alumni (1) who request it and (2) who, also make a contribution to the Building Fund during the current fiscal year beginning September 1, 1950, and ending August 31, 1951.

The "Alphabetical Lists" of the Directory contain the names of all students who have attended the Elkhart Institute and Goshen College up to and including the year 1949-50. The "Class Lists" contain the address and occupation of alumni who are on the mailing list. The "Faculty Lists" contain the names and teaching fields of instructors in the Elkhart Institute and Goshen College.

Because some of the material has been set in type for more than a year, not all of the addresses are up-to-date. The cost of changing addresses after they are set in type is very expensive, but to all alumni the alumni office will be glad to furnish addresses of alumni on request.

In order to protect alumni from various firms and agencies who might make improper use of the information in the Directory in promoting advertising campaigns, the Directory is being copyrighted so that no one can reproduce any part of it in any form without written permission from the Alumni Office.

It is not too late to order a copy of the Directory but the number to be printed is limited and when the supply is exhausted, it will be impossible to furish additional copies. Alumni wishing a copy may return the order blank printed on page sixteen.

A PEEP AT THE EDITOR'S MAIL

The Director of Alumni Relations receives many expressions of interest in the College and of gratitude for what the College has done for them. Here are a few that the editor thought might be of interest to alumni:

From a medical student—"I am unable to contribute much, but I want to have a share in the building program of Goshen College. It gives me a sense of participation in the ongoing work of Goshen College and the church."

From a Pennsylvania couple—"Best wishes for a successful program."

From a recent graduate, a schoolteacher—"I want to thank you for the NEWS-LETTER. I always enjoy getting it and eagerly devour the news."

From a former Winter Bible School student and her husband—"We wish each and every faculty and alumni member a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

From a non-Mennonite minister—"My contribution for the current year. I'm very happy to learn that Goshen College will have a new dormitory to ease the housing shortage on the campus. I shall be happy to help all I can."

From a young schoolteacher—"I am planning to send a bit more after Christmas."

From a housewife in Michigan—"This letter reached me today on one of those rare occasions when there happens to be a little cash on hand. I hope the enclosed will reach you in time for my Thanksgiving offering. May the Lord's work continue to grow at Goshen College."

From a church worker—"Herewith my gift toward the construction of the new women's dormitory at Goshen College. Any contribution which I can make financially—or probably ever will be able to make—can only be a small token of appreciation to the institution which has meant more than words or money can ever express."

From a schoolteacher of the 1950 graduating class—"In appreciation for the great contribution that Goshen College made to my life during my four years in college, I am sending this offering to be used in the construction of the new girls' dormitory. I sincerely pray that Goshen College may contribute as much to students in the future as it has in the past. May God's richest blessing rest upon Goshen College and all its endeavors."

From another schoolteacher of the class of 1950—"Enclosed is the first small down payment for the things Goshen College has given me. I am sure my debt can never be paid."

From a teacher in one of our church institutions—"Here is a very small contribution [And it wasn't so small at that.—Editor] toward that wonderful new dormitory. It is just enough I hope to let you know that I am remembering Goshen College. The part she is playing in the work of our church can not be overestimated. I hope someday I shall be able to give more and oftener."

The following note accompanied a generous contribution from a member of the class of 1935—"Best wishes for a successful year at Goshen College in 1951. I always look back to the four years spent at Goshen as some of the richest of my life. My Christian instructors, the friends I made, the teaching that I received have meant, and continue to mean, a great deal to me. May the Christlike spirit pervading the atmosphere of the Goshen campus continue."

This from a prosperous young businessman—I hope this check will help to get the girls out of Coffman Hall—it always seems there is something wrong when we visit the campus and find Coffman Hall full of girls!

I trust that your 1950 drive has been successful and that the alumni will continue to give you a vote of confidence by backing you up on future alumni commitments. It surely is a pleasure for an alumnus to visit the campus and see the advancement that the College has made in which the alumni have been privileged to participate.

ORDINATIONS

At the fall reorganization of the Sunday school in the Sunnyslope congregation near Phoenix, Arizona, Johnwilliam Boyer x44 was elected superintendent. On November 5, Mr. Boyer was chosen by lot and ordained to serve in the office of deacon. Melvin Ruth, bishop of the congregation, was assisted by Sherman Maust, pastor and bishop of the Mennonite Church at Upland, California.

On November 12, Paul Haarer 50 was ordained to the ministry at the Shore Church near Shipshewana, Indiana. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Haarer 13 (Fannie Eash a12). Mr. Haarer will assist Willard Sommers, pastor of the Marion congregation near Howe.

On December 24, at the Martins Creek Church in Holmes County, Ohio, Warren Miller x43, of rural route four, Millersburg, Ohio, was ordained to the Christian ministry in the Martins Creek Church. From a list of several members chosen by congregational ballot, Mr. Miller and another young man received a large majority of votes in the morning service. In the evening service Mr. Miller was chosen by lot and ordained by the Bishop D. D. Miller, of the Martins Creek congregation, assisted by Bishop Paul R. Miller, of Walnut Creek, and Bishop O. N. Johns x07, of the Beech congregation near Louisville, Ohio. Mrs. Warren Miller is the fomer Kathryn Yoder 49, whose father, Edward Yoder, is a minister in the Zion Church in Hubbard, Oregon.

In the same service Roman Stutzman, of rural route five, Millersburg, Ohio, husband of the former Evelyn Mast x34, was ordained to the office of deacon for the Martins Creek congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Ulrich 45 (Betty Stutzman 44), of Eureka, Illinois, who had been serving at the Peoria, Illinois, Mennonite Mission, have moved to Kitchener, Ontario. They were received as members of the Stirling Avenue Mennonite Church on Sunday morning, December 17. On December 31 Mr. Ulrich was ordained to the ministry and installed as pastor of the church. He succeeds the Rev. A. R. Shelly, former pastor, who has resigned to accept a teaching position at the Mennonite Biblical Seminary in Chicago.

GOSHEN DEBATERS HARD AT WORK

Four Goshen debaters won five out of eight in the invitational novice debate tournament held at the University of Illinois Extension in Chicago on December 9. The Goshen negative, Joe Stoltzfus 53, of Manson, Iowa, and Jesse Yoder 53, of Elverson, Pennsylvania, won three out of four. The affirmative, J. P. Oyer 53, of Eureka, Michigan, and Harold Schultz 53, of Guelph, Ontario, defeated Manchester and the University of Illinois (Chicago Extension), and lost to Carroll College and the University of Illinois, Urbana.

TEACHING IN ETHIOPIA

Ruth Bauman 47, of Leetonia, Ohio, and Eunice Hartman 48, of Goshen, are teaching in the Empress School of six hundred girls in Ethiopia. Erma Grove 48, of Hagerstown, Maryland, Edwin Weaver 26, formerly of Wakarusa, and Leona Yoder 40, of West Liberty, Ohio, are teaching in the Haile Selassie I School of twelve hundred pupils, mostly boys. These five teachers each receive a good salary and all of them turn over their salaries to the hospital in Ethiopia.

CORRECTION

The editor regrets that an article in the November issue of the Goshen College ALUMNI NEWS-LETTER incorrectly reported that Dr. O. J. Eigsti 31 had been carrying on certain experiments in the employ of the E. J. Funk Hybrid Seed Corn Company. Dr. Eigsti never has been connected with the E. J. Funk Company and has been in the employ of Funk Brothers Seed Company of Bloomington, Illinois, ever since he left Northwestern University. For several years prior to that time he had been working with the Funk Brothers Research Staff on the improvement of Funks "G" Hybrids. The editor acknowledges with gratitude a letter from Howard B. Springer x27, of rural route three, Bloomington, Illinois, calling attention to the error.

GOSPEL TEAMS

The Extension Committee of the Y.P.C.A. sponsored three Gospel teams during the Christmas season. One team left for Manitoba on Friday afternoon, December 15. Speakers in the group were Harvey Toews 51, of Steinbach, Manitoba; William Klassen 52, of Homewood, Manitoba; and Chester Raber 50, of Topeka, Kansas. The Excelsior Quartet composed of Leonard Hurst 52, of Goshen; Robert Smith 52, of Eureka, Illinois; James Brownsberger 51, of Toronto, Ontario; and James Greiner 51, of Goshen, completed the team. This group drove to Manitoba in the college nine-passenger De Soto and gave twelve programs in seven days.

A second team visited congregations in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, and Illinois, giving programs between December 27 and January 2. Richard Burkholder 52, of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, was the speaker, and LeRoy Kennel 51, of Shickley, Nebraska; Wayne North 52 of Nappanee; Don Driver 51, of Hesston, Kansas; and Clyde Landes 53, of Lansdale, Pennsylvania, the quartet.

Another team, a religious survey group, Naomi Kauffman 54, of Goshen; Mary Jo Bontrager 54, of Shipshewana; David Mann 53, of Elkhart; and Raymond Troyer 53, of Kinross, Iowa, worked during the Christmas season in the Mennonite Mission on Jefferson Street in Lima, Ohio.

COLLEGE CONGREGATION DISCUSSES CHURCH BUILDING

On Monday evening, December 11, the Goshen College congregation held a meeting to hear the report of the committee planning for a church building for the congregation. The committee presented several possible plans for location and ownership of the building. The meeting decided on further study of the various problems connected with the building. The congregation does not contemplate actual construction within the next few years but is trying to decide on a satisfactory solution to certain problems connected with the location, construction, and ownership of a church building.

ANNUAL RENDITION OF THE MESSIAH

Professor Walter E. Yoder 33, head of the Music Department, directed a 150-voice chorus in the fifteenth annual rendition of Handel's "The Messiah" in the auditorium of the College Union on Sunday, December 17.

The choir and soloists all were Goshen College students. Soloists, students in the music curriculum, included Esther Musselman, soprano, of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania; Carol Hostetler, alto, of West Liberty, Ohio; Lowell Byler, tenor, of Goshen; and Paul Marvin Yoder, bass, of Harper, Kansas. All the soloists are seniors except Miss Hostetler who is a junior. The piano accompaniment was provided by Miriam (Kauffman) Byler 51, of Goshen; Kathryn Summers 54, of Laingsburg, Michigan; and John Weber 52, of West Liberty, Ohio, and Betty Ebersole 51 of La Junta, Colorado.

The choir and soloists sang the entire first section, the Christmas section, and several numbers from parts two and three of the oratorio.

In other years "The Messiah" has been presented to overflow crowds in the old gymnasium. This year the auditorium of the College Union scarcely provided seating space for the audience.

POPULAR MENNONITE HISTORY REVISED

One of the last requests of the late Dr. C. Henry Smith x95, early instructor in history at the Elkhart Institute and Goshen College, was that Dr Cornelius Krahn and the Historical Committee of the Mennonite Church should revise Smith's Story of the Mennonites, written in 1941, and reprinted in 1945. Demand had been so great that the supply of both editions was exhausted.

The selection of Dr. Krahn to perform this necessary task was a particularly happy one because of his firsthand knowledge of Mennonites in Russia and his experiences as a student in Holland and Germany. Although Dr. Smith had traveled widely in Europe, he was more at home with the streams of Mennonite culture in America stemming from Swiss-South German sources. The 1950 revision, therefore, is the product of two outstanding scholars each intimately familiar with his own area.

The new edition completed by Dr. Krahn in 1950 is not a reprint, but a scholarly revision of the original text with the inclusion of much new material. Dr. Krahn has added the story of the Mennonites in Europe during World War II and new chapters on the Mennonite settlements in South America and Canada.

Another valuable feature of the revision is Dr. Krahn's addition of a summary of C.P.S. activities and the relief work of the Mennonite Central Committee. The sixteen chapter headings and subtitles within the chapters are convenient for ready reference.

Dr. Krahn has performed another service for the student of Mennonite history. Dr. Smith was an excellent narrator capable of bringing together vast amounts of historical detail into a swift-moving, well-balanced story; but meticulous application to proofreading and close attention to the mechanics of scholarship irked him. The revised edition corrects many errors of the earlier printings, enlarges the index, and includes an extensive bibliography.

Anyone wishing accurate reliable information on Mennonite history, thought, and life can find it in Dr. Krahn's excellent revision of Smith's Story of the Mennonites. It is carried in stock by the Gospel Book Store at 119 East Lincoln and by the Goshen College Book Store. It may be ordered also from the Mennonite Book Stores at Berne, Indiana; Newton, Kansas; and Rosthern, Saskatchewan.

SMOKER RECOVERING

Stricken with polio last August and spending most of his time in an iron lung since then, William Smoker 53 is now growing stronger daily and is able to breathe for thirteen minutes at a time outside the lung. The physician feels that a miracle is taking place in William's body and that recovery may be sudden. For several hours a day he is now placed in a portable lung, an apparatus that covers only the chest and enables him to lie on a bed.

On December 28, he was moved to the Northern Indiana Children's Hospital at South Bend in a private ambulance with police escort.

SERVICE OUTREACH

Teachers looking for new and needy areas of service may be interested in a recent experience of Miss Ruth Bender, sister of Dr. Paul Bender of the science faculty of the college.

Miss Bender is engaged in the education of deaf preschool children but one of her major concerns is the training of teachers in the newer techniques for teaching very young deaf children to speak before self-conscious inhibitions interfere with learning. She also is a classroom teacher in the East Cleveland School which has a strong program for teaching deaf children.

She was called to Caracas, Venezuela, during the past summer in the interests of the education of the deaf in that country. Venezuela with thousands of deaf persons has educational facilities for only thirty children.

The Venezuelan government arranged for plane transportation to Caracas so that she could spend as much time as possible in setting up the new system in that country. Her work, sponsored by the Venezuelan Council for Children, the Ministry of Education, and the Ministry of Public Health, brought her into contact with many of the leading people in that country. She assisted these agencies in drawing up a set of articles establishing a school for deaf children and outlining in detail the purpose and techniques of the school.

As a result of her visit two of the teachers already have spent several weeks in Cleveland and more are to come for future training. The Cleveland Hearing and Speech Center of Western Reserve University also had the privilege of entertaining the only otologist (ear doctor, to you) of Venezuela who is concerning himself particularly with the problems of children. He spent some time touring the States and visiting different ear clinics and schools.

What started this train of events? A request to associates in Cleveland from certain private individuals in Caracas who were concerned about a certain little deaf girl in that city. From that little incident has developed what may prove to become one of the best programs and schools for the deaf in any South American country.

MENNONITE PUBLICATIONS

Less than a quarter of a century ago the Mennonite Church had not found a "voice." It is true that there were periodicals, but they had chiefly news value and were rather largely unread by the members of the constituency.

Within recent years the picture has changed in a very remarkable fashion not only in the number but also in the character and quality of the publications. This is true of practically every branch of the Mennonite Church.

The Gospel Herald and The Mennonite, organs of the largest two Mennonite conferences, the Mennonite General Conference and the General Conference of Mennonites of North America, contain articles and editorials not only of ephemeral news value but also of permanent literary and doctrinal value. The number of other Mennonite publications of literary and historical interest is increasing and their quality constantly improving.

Alumni would do well to add to their magazine list such publications as The Mennonite Community, edited by Grant M. Stoltzfus 41 and published monthly by the Mennonite Publishing House at Scottdale, Pennsylvania; Mennonite Life, edited by Dr. Cornelius Krahn and published by Bethel College at North Newton, Kansas (two of the eight associate editors are Harold S. Bender 18, dean of the Goshen College Biblical Seminary, and Melvin Gingerich 26, professor of history); and the Mennonite Historical Bulletin, edited by Melvin Gingerich and Grant Stoltzfus and published quarterly by the Historical Committee of the Mennonite General Conference.

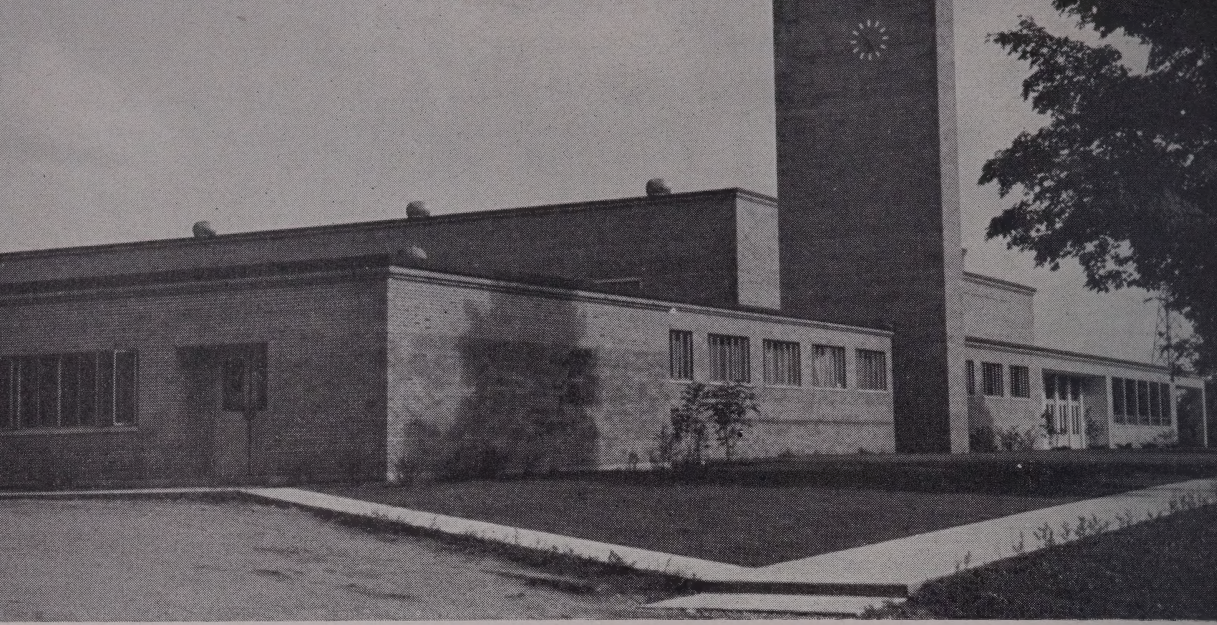
To these should be added The Mennonite Quarterly Review, now in its twenty-fifth year, edited by Harold S. Bender and a corps of associate editors chosen from among the outstanding Mennonite students and scholars in the United States, Canada, and Europe.

One can scarcely say that the Mennonite Church has found a "voice" to present her ideology, her theology, and her sociology in all the literary forms. One may safely venture the assertion, however, that she is finding such a "voice." Books are few, but periodicals are increasing.

Among the publications of the Mennonite General Conference no other publication has made quite the strides or is making quite the contribution that the Gospel Herald is making under the able editorship of Paul Erb, former professor of English at Hesston College and more recently at Goshen College. The Herald makes no attempt to serve readers beyond its special constituency but what it sets out to do it does well. The expanded and well-illustrated "Missions Section," now a regular weekly feature edited by Ford Berg, increases the value of the Herald.

Within the past few years the Mennonite Weekly Review, published at Newton, Kansas, has gained a wide reading public among both Mennonites and non-Mennonites, in Canada and the United States, east and west, north and south. Everywhere one goes among Mennonites, he finds readers of the excellent news columns and special features of this family newspaper.

Alumni who are unfamiliar with all of these publications are missing an opportunity to keep abreast of one of the most amazing developments in this period of American history—the unprecedented outreach and expansion of the Mennonite Church. Send for a few sample copies or purchase a few numbers; then subscribe for the ones that most nearly meet your needs.



NEW PICTURE OF THE COLLEGE UNION FROM THE NORTHWEST CORNER

The above excellent picture of the College Union appeared in the January issue of College and University Business with an article entitled, "Three Purposes Served by This New College Union Building at Goshen." The article, covering a two-page spread of the magazine, included also a drawing to scale of the main floor area of the College Union and the Basement plan of the stage section containing the music classrooms and the men's locker and shower rooms.

The building is serving many uses in the expanding program of Christian education at Goshen College and has already served the Church and the local community for a number of religious and educational programs. The Elkhart County Soil Conservation District has rented the Auditorium for a lecture on February 6 by Dr. Preston Bradley on the subject, "From Oxcart to Atom Bomb."

BIBLE LECTURES 1951

Dr. William W. Adams, President of the Central Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City and Professor of New Testament Interpretation, is to deliver the annual Bible lectures at the College on March 1-4. He will use the Book of Galatians as the Scripture foundation for his messages.

Dr. Adams was born in Chelsea, Alabama, on September 16, 1892, and received the A.B. degree at Howard College, Birmingham, in 1919, the Th.M. at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville in 1922, and the Th.D. from the same institution in 1925. He has served as student pastor of various churches.

His teaching experience includes twenty-one years as professor of New Testament Interpretation and Greek Exegesis at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia and four years as President and Professor of New Testament Interpretation at Central Baptist. He is an author of some note and a regular contributor to a number of religious periodicals.

Faculty members and students usually look forward to this annual series of Bible Lectures with pleasant anticipation. They find it delightful to listen to a profound scholar presenting the truths of Scripture in a fresh vivid manner but with strong emphasis on the soundly evangelical interpretation with which they are familiar through hearing it presented by their own ministers and scholars. Two years ago Dean Greer McKee presented studies in Matthew under the title, "A Gospel to Live By," and last year Dr. Merrill Chapin Tenny, of Wheaton College, presented a series of lectures on "The Message of the Fourth Gospel."

Alumni who happen to be in the vicinity of Goshen from March 1 to 4 are invited to enjoy President Adams' lectures on the Book of Galatians.

MALAGAR WEDS IN INDIA

By Mrs. E. E. Miller (Ruth Blosser 17)

The biggest social event of the season in the Dhamtari district occurred on November 10 when Pyarelal Malagar 49 was married to Satayawatti Das, a teacher in Garjan Memorial Middle School, Balodgahan, M.P.

The atmosphere was full of excitement and happiness as guests arrived by lorry, cars, oxcarts, bicycles, and on foot. Many Indian friends and most of the missionaries came to attend the wedding. The relatives and special friends of the groom met at his home, which had been decorated with leaves and branches of trees, to accompany him to the church, while the friends of the bride met in front of the Girls' Hostel to accompany her to the church.

The congregation arose as the ministers, the groom and his attendants entered the right wing of the church. Dressed in white Indian costume, the groom looked very happy as he stood before the altar of palms and ferns, awaiting the bride, who, with her attendants, entered the left wing of the church dressed in a beautiful white sari with white embossed border, carrying a bouquet of dainty flowers. Composed and poised she gracefully took her place beside the groom before the altar.

The wedding ceremony was performed in Hindi by President Ernest E. Miller 17; Bishop Edwin I. Weaver 30 preached a short sermon, and other friends took part in the service. The mixture of Oriental and Western Christian culture made it an interesting occasion The wedding certificate was signed in the presence of the congregation by the bride and groom, and by President Miller, Rev. M. Sukhlal, pastor of the Balodgahan Church, R. N. K. Biswas, Christian Malguzar of Maradeo, and Samuel Banwer, a Christian in government employ at Nagpur.

Mr. and Mrs. Malagar then stood before the altar and received the congratulations of their friends, who garlanded them with flowers. The garlands, piled high about their

WALLS OF DORMITORY RISING

Workmen are making slow progress on the new dormitory during the present cold weather. The bricklayers were at work on December 22, but near zero temperatures kept them off the job from then until December 29. By heating the bricks, using hot water to mix the mortar, and then keeping fires going through the fore part of the night and covering the newly laid brick with paper and tarpaulin, they are able to make satisfactory and economical progress when the weather is not too severe.

Meanwhile, the Building Committee is stock piling all the materials needed by buying various products while they are available. In this way the committee is using all contributions as fast as the money comes.

So far as government restrictions are concerned the dormitory can be completed because the project is already well under way and some of the scarcer materials have been purchased or contracted.

Alumni who intend to contribute to the building program and are able to do so at the present time should send their contributions as soon as possible so that the committee has funds on hand when materials can be purchased advantageously and when those already contracted become available. As soon as the weather becomes favorable, the committee will need considerable money to pay for labor as well as materials.

In these days of urgent appeals, legitimate appeals too, to meet immediate needs for food and clothing in distressed areas, a temptation arises in some minds to neglect support of long-range plans and building projects necessary to provide and train personnel to continue and expand the evangelical program of the church. Alumni are less likely to take this shortsighted view because they realize the importance of a Christian training. Upon them falls more directly the responsibility for promoting the program of Christian education promoted by such an institution as Goshen College.

Later—The bricklayers were able to work every day during the week of January 8-12 and in spite of the rather heavy snow on Sunday, January 14, they were back on the job on the morning of January 15. On January 9 the three bricklayers laid between twenty-five and twenty-six hundred bricks. Eight hundred bricks a day is considered a good day's work for a union bricklayer.

If the present favorable weather continues to January 19, the first floor exterior walls will be practically completed. In fact, on January 12 the wall shown in the picture at the left above extended a foot above the second story floor—a little higher than the head of the bricklayer.

Remarks at the Ceremony of Laying the Cornerstone of the New Alumni Memorial

By

Dr. H. Clair Amstutz, M.D.

"Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage." This is a way of saying that the real importance of a building does not consist of structural materials, but of something intangible that goes into a building.

Similarly, a school does not consist of its classrooms, libraries and dormitories, but of students and faculty, the flesh and blood of a school, together with the spirit which they express.

While it is true that "Clothes do not make the man," clothes do show him up. Likewise, the buildings on a campus speak of its spirit. If you should visit a campus and find its dormitories a fire trap, its halls dimly lighted and an invitation to accident, the study halls not conducive to study, you would justifiably draw certain conclusions about the spirit of the place.

The building under construction here is an expression of our teaching. It is our way of saying that we accept the responsibility placed on our shoulders when students come to this, their Alma Mater, their foster mother. The building is fireproof as an expression of our concern for their safety. Much time and thought has been given to the arrangement of the rooms, the halls, as an expression of our wish for the comfort of those who make this their home. It is an expression of our love for them. Much thought has been given to the choosing of the bricks. They were chosen with a soft beautiful texture and a color that will blend harmoniously with the other buildings on the campus. The buildings, in harmony with our spirit and teaching, must be safe, commodious, efficient, enduring, beautiful, but in no sense ornate. It must be an expression of the spirit of the College.

Indeed, in what other ways can we convey to the students the spirit we profess? If we say to them, we love you, but give no tangible form to that expression, the net effect is to have them doubt our teaching. The only real medium the spirit has of expressing itself is through material means. Any freshman boy has learned by this time that he cannot win that girl by a repetition of the phrase, "I love you, I love you." but that he must give that same expression at the snack shop, the corner drug store or the flower shop. The test of our spirit is in its material expression.

Thus the important work before us here is not the construction of a building of brick and steel for its own sake, but as a means of teaching those who will come to this campus in years to come, by our example, our labor, and our sacrifice, those deep things that pertain to the kingdom of God. We then build not on a foundation of stone, but on a spiritual base. "For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid." The true foundation is a Christian base, and the motive is spiritual. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it."

In the real and larger sense, then, we are not building a structure of stone and steel. We are merely needing it in the larger task of building lives and forming character. This labyrinth of steel is not our monument. We are building pillars and stones for the kingdom of God. We are not building for a century but for an eternity.

May God grant his blessing as we are engaged together in this larger task.

necks, showed significantly the high esteem in which the couple is held. Our hostel girl succeeded in placing one long garland of flowers over the heads of both the bride and groom. Goshen College students and faculty no doubt would also have been happy to participate in this part of the service.

After a congregational hymn and benediction the bridal couple and relatives passed down the center aisle of the church, over to the Garjan Memorial School compound where the reception was held. Here they found awaiting them two special chairs covered in white, surrounded by gifts. The bride and groom, however, too shy to take the exalted places, draped their garlands upon the chairs and mingled among their friends.

Pyarelal made arrangements for pictures which he hopes later to have shown to Goshen College students.

We bespeak for this talented and consecrated couple a happy life of service together.

The award also included appearance on the broadcast during which Professor Sudermann read the letter he had written, a cruise around the Island of Manhattan, free tickets to the various attractions in Radio City, a hotel suite in the Statler, and gifts including a kitchen freezer, an electric roaster, a bountiful supply of Gold Medal products, and all tips and taxi fares.

Robert Byler of the Brethren Church, held a number of series of evangelistic meetings during the months of November and December. Their tour included Villa Constitucion, Salto, Pehuajo, Tres Lomas and America. We are happy that Bro. Litwiller could get away from pressing administrative duties for this evangelistic work." ## Alumni Rally to Support of Building Program

This issue of the NEWS-LETTER follows the usual custom of printing the names of alumni contributors at the end of the first six-month period of the fiscal year. Below are the names of alumni, staff, and faculty members who have contributed to the building fund or to other College funds during the period from September 1, 1950, to February 28, 1951.

The administrative officials of the College and the officers of your Alumni Association are very grateful for these freewill offerings that are an evidence of continuing alumni interest in the program of the institution. Alumni contributions for the first half of the current fiscal year are not quite up to the contributions in the same period during the last few years. This is due, no doubt, to the urgent demand for funds to carry on various types of relief and construction programs both in local areas and in the world-wide program of the church.

Perhaps it is not out of place to point out that if the home base of the church is to be strengthened so as to provide personnel for the many areas of service now opening to the church, it is imperative that the educational program of the church receive sufficient support so that the young people can be attracted to our church schools. Our church schools must be in a position to give them the type of training that will prepare them for worthy participation in the church program.

Church-related educational institutions must depend on the support of their natural constituencies and especially on their alumni. Unlike the state-supported schools, they can not depend on state and federal grants for the necessary expansion of their building programs and their instructional facilities. The privately endowed educational institution is fortunate if, like Goshen, it can depend on the loyalty and confidence of its church constituency and its alumni for support.

The next list of alumni contributors will appear in the September NEWS-LETTER.

SECOND SEMESTER ENROLLMENT

The total enrollment at Goshen College for the second semester is 630, 516 full-time students and 114 part-time. Of the 516 full-time students, 147 are Freshmen, 121 Sophomores, 114 Juniors, 102 Seniors, 24 Advanced Theology (beyond the B.A.), and 8 Postgraduates.

One hundred first semester students failed to register for the second semester, 42 regular full-time students and 58 part-time; and 52 new or returning students registered for the second semester, 27 full-time and 31 part-time. The net decrease of full-time students this semester is 17. Some students discontinued temporarily to earn money so that they can return next September. Several first semester full-time students are registered part-time now because they need less than twelve hours to graduate.

Of the students who did not return for the second semester, seven completed the work for the bachelor's degree on January 26, 1951: Fern Byers, of La Porte; Pete Classen, of Meade, Kansas; Edna Good, missionary on furlough from Argentina; Evan Oswald, of Hesston, Kansas; Harvey Toews, of Steinbach, Manitoba; Corinne Wilcox, of La Porte; Mrs. Marilyn (Priest) Wolber, of Elkhart.

Fern Byers has been offered a teaching position in the public schools but has not yet accepted. Pete Classen has applied for admission to medical school. Edna Good returned to her home in Canada after completing her course and expects to sail for Argentina about April 1. Evan Oswald, son of Walter Oswald, instructor at Hesston College, has enrolled in graduate school in the University of Illinois preparatory to accepting a position as instructor in physical education at Hesston College next September. Harvey Toews is employed in Toronto and expects to take up teaching in Manitoba in September. Mrs. Corinne Wilcox returned to her home city as teacher in the public schools. Mrs. Marilyn (Priest) Wolber plans to teach in the public schools.

Two postgraduate students, Lee Kanagy 49 and Ada Schrock 46, are accepting regular positions, Kanagy as chaplain at the La Junta Mennonite Hospital and Miss Schrock as instructor in Iowa Mennonite School. Two Advanced Theology students, Mary Ann Hostetler 48 and Emma Sommers 49, are registered at Eastern Mennonite College this semester.

MELVIN GINGERICH'S BOOK ON MENNONITE CIVILIAN PUBLIC SERVICE

The editor has just had an opportunity to look over sixteen book notices and book reviews of Melvin Gingerich's Service for Peace. These are unanimous in pronouncing it a factual, objective, and valuable account of the experiences of young Mennonites in the Civilian Public Service camps during and following World War II. Such statements as "full of facts, fair in interpretation, and humble in tone and spirit" occur frequently. Paul I. Miller says, "Professor Gingerich writes objectively and is not unwilling to criticize and occasionally to praise the Mennonites."

Another reviewer writes, "This carefully written account of Mennonite activity provides many illustrations of both courage and patriotism, but its purpose is evidently not to give glory to the C.O.'s in general or to the Mennonites in particular. Rather it is to record the successes and failures in a difficult experiment so that the experience gained from 1940 to 1945 may be used in dealing with any similar problem in the future."

Several reviewers mention the evidences of scholarship that the book manifests. The following is a typical example: "This 500-page study, complete with bibliography, appendices, statistical tables, and a minute index, is comprehensive and inclusive. It is entirely factual, contains no special pleading, and altogether is a satisfactory, interesting, and worth-while addition to the history of America's war years." Saturday Review of Literature.

Another reviewer calls Gingerich's study "a factual account . . . material straight from the shoulder with no pleading." Still another, "factual and evenly balanced presentation of the Mennonite experience in alternative service during World War II."

The reviewer in The Progressive senses another aspect of the work. "Gingerich provides new and frequently intriguing insights into the origin of the concept of C.P.S. and its acceptance by Congress."

The reviewer in Rural Sociology insists "whether or not you agree with the conscientious objector's position, you should read this book because by doing so you will receive a new point of view concerning the positive and constructive work that those who held this position have done for the welfare of America. Before war comes again to America, the church person should acquaint himself with this program so that there will be more intelligence used in dealing with this matter in the future than. . . in the past."

The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science prints a review and summary of Gingerich's book. The review states that "although rather laborious in spots, the book is a faithful and useful record of a significant experiment in church-state relationships . . . the evidence is all here . . . ."

With readers and reviewers of all classes accepting the book wholeheartedly, it becomes a "must" for all those interested in the problem of conscientious objection to war. Those agreeing with the author's viewpoint will wish to read it to clarify their own thinking and those who disagree, in order to gain a sympathetic and intelligent view of the C.O. position.

WINTER BIBLE TERM

The enrollment for the 1951 Winter Bible Term at Goshen College was 33, seven part-time and twenty-six full-time students from seven different states—Indiana 15, Illinois 6, Ohio 5, Iowa 3, Michigan 2, Minnesota and Virginia each one.

Three students have completed the three-year course this year and received diplomas at the end of the term. They are Simon Good, Valparaiso; Reuben Liechty, Spencerville; and Lucille Schmucker, Louisville, Ohio.

PRESIDENT MILLER HARD AT WORK

President Miller continues his strenuous program in the interests of the Mennonite Central Committee and mission work in the Far East. Between November 23 and January 14 he was in India—part of the time waiting for a visa to Hong Kong.

During his days of waiting he visited Serampore where William Carey and his associates Ward and Marshman did their mission work and founded a church college and seminary. He also visited the Consul of the Republic of Free China, who had recently set up office in Calcutta. He wished to see the latter in regard to the release of certain frozen American dollars to enable the M.C.C. worker in Shanghai to continue operations.

En route to Hong Kong he stopped at Rangoon and also at Bangkok. In Hong Kong he met the M.C.C. workers, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stoltzfus 49 (Rosalie Garber x48), Miss Conrad, and Miss Neva White 44. Miss White is secretary to the Far Eastern Office. Miss Conrad looks after the educational and social needs of the children. Mr. and Mrs. Stoltzfus arrange for food and home.

In his letter to the faculty written from Hong Kong on February 8, he told about attending a monthly missionary prayer meeting where 75 persons—missionaries and Chinese Christian leaders—met to pray for the missionaries and the mission work in China. He delayed his departure from Hong Kong until February 19 so as to be there to help entertain Mr. and Mrs. Ross Martin, of Elkhart, who are on a world tour on the S.S. "President Polk."

His revised tour calls for a visit to Formosa in the latter part of February, Japan in March, a return to Hong Kong on April 1, and to Java, Indonesia, on April 15. He expects to return to Calcutta for a meeting with the Indian Missions on April 20.

He and Mrs. Miller plan to begin their return trip to the States early in June and to spend June 8-15 with the Myron Ebersoles 49 (Geraldine Hartman x48) at the Mennonite Relief Unit in Palestine. After a stop in Basel, Switzerland, they will go on to Goettingen, Germany, to visit Dr. and Mrs. Crous and to participate in a student conference. Final stops on the return trip will be at M.C.C. headquarters in Amsterdam, Holland, and at the home of Professor and Mrs. Howard Charles 41 (Miriam Stalter 41) at Edinburgh, Scotland.

PROGRESS ON THE NEW DORMITORY

During the latter part of January and much of February the weather was unfavorable for continuing construction on the new dormitory. The Building Committee has been stock piling materials.

During the last few days of February and beginning of March workmen finished the cement floor in the kitchen and cafeteria and another crew laid asphalt roofing on the kitchen and on the third floor of the main part of the building. Certain concrete block walls also were erected in the basement of the cafeteria. A giant steel crane lifted the steel boiler into the basement of the kitchen. A few days later the large steel storage tank arrived on the grounds. Whenever the weather has been favorable during the past week or more a South Bend firm has been delivering cement blocks for the inside walls of the dormitory.

Mr. J. Gordon Jackson recently made the statement that if the money were available, the building would be ready for occupancy by September of this year. This is too much to expect, however. The necessary funds probably will not be available to keep construction rolling along at top speed. The urgent need continues to be—money. The Building Committee has confidence that, given a little time, the constituency will supply the funds to complete the project.

FATHER OF FORMER STUDENT SENDS VALUABLE GIFT

Dr. W. van Delden, of Westfalen, Germany, father of Julia van Delden x51, has presented to the Goshen College Library Der Grosse Brockhaus: Handbuch des Wissens, in Zwanzig Baenden, a German encyclopedia, the most outstanding work of its kind. The encyclopedia is well illustrated and contains many colored plates.

He also presented to the Goshen College Mennonite Historical Library a number of books on Mennonite history valued at 300 marks. These books had been selected by Dr. Harold S. Bender 18, dean of the Goshen College Biblical Seminary.

Dr. van Delden is a wealthy German textile manufacturer with a doctor's degree in mechanical engineering.

COMING ALUMNI REUNIONS

The Northeastern Ohio Annual Goshen College Alumni reunion is planning a meeting at the Y.M.C.A. in Canton on Friday evening, April 6. The Alumni Office has supplied the officers with a list of alumni residing in Northeastern Ohio and the N.E. Ohio committee already is planning for speakers and other features of the program. They have sent a request for the Goshen College 35 mm. Kodachrome Slides which were used at the Arizona-California Reunion. Ralph Beechy 32, of Apple Creek, is chairman and Irene Eschliman 33, of Wooster, secretary.

The Eastern Pennsylvania Annual Alumni Reunion, usually held in Lancaster, is to be held this year on Saturday evening, May 5, at the General Sutter Hotel in Lititz. Dr. Sanford C. Yoder has consented to give the principal address. Acting President Carl Kreider will write a brief account of the progress of the College. Other features are being arranged by the committee in charge, under the leadership of Quintus Leatherman 27.

THE PASSING OF A LANDMARK

Alumni who helped to construct the "Old Gym" in 1921 will be interested in the accompanying views. The first picture shows the building dismantled and a rope attached to the upper rafters to pull the structure down. The second picture shows the framework ready to collapse after workmen had made several unsuccessful attempts to pull it down. Number three, taken a few seconds after number two, shows the framework lying flat on the ground. Number four is another view taken from the east window of Science Hall a few minutes later.

Practically all of the lumber still is in good condition. Some of it has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Aden Horst x51 (Mary Edith Troyer 50), who are building a cottage in the Gunden Addition on a lot adjoining that on which Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hostetler 23 (Ida Miller 45) erected a house last summer.

The Old Gym rendered fine service in its day. Much of the maple flooring can be used again. The building served as gymnasium and in more recent years as an auditorium for renditions of "The Messiah" and for Commencement exercises. In recent years the loosening frame timbers permitted a strong breeze to sway the structure in such a manner that the roof could no longer be kept in repair.

BUCKWALTERS REACH BUENOS AIRES

The Christmas letter of the Albert Buckwalters (47) (Lois Litwiller 44) and nine-month-old Rachel arrived a little late but contained much interesting news—and philosophy. Here are a few extracts.

"In my youthful days at Goshen College, I never appreciated the value of those Thursday night dinners for which we were required to polish up the old man, and to uncover those hidden manners. Eating in this ship's dining room for cabin class passengers was like having a Thursday night dinner three times a day . . . .

"Our arrival in Buenos Aires was a home-coming for Lois, and a big new step for me in the great Adventure. Lois had told me much about the country in which she spent a majority of her years; so it did not all seem strangely unfamiliar. Buenos Aires is a modern city, which boasts an extensive subway system, many beautiful and modern buildings, and the widest street in the world. The people on the streets do not look as much different from us North Americans as you would expect. In fact many of them wouldn't be suspected of being foreigners if they were seen on the streets of our own cities . . . .

"Our present home is on the Mission Headquarters, where Lois' parents have been located for the past year and a half . . . .

"Immediately upon our arrival here, a teacher was hired for me, and I began taking Spanish lessons one hour a day. My teacher is a Baptist minister, a native of Spain, a Bible student, a linguist (Spanish, English, French, Italian, Latin, Hebrew, and Greek), and an amiable, patient, elderly gentleman. He has had North American pupils before; so he tells me about the special difficulties he has had in teaching that particular variety to speak Spanish . . . .

"The plan is that we will remain here in Buenos Aires until March or April, when the authorities want me to have a good grasp of the language, and then we will move to the Chaco."

The Buckwalters had a little difficulty getting all of their property into Argentina, especially a refrigerator and washing machine, the gifts of the young people of the Hesston and Pennsylvania congregations in Kansas.

FIRST ARIZONA-CALIFORNIA ALUMNI REUNION

Twenty-one guests were present at the Goshen College alumni dinner held at the Rosslyn Hotel in Los Angeles on the evening of January 27. After a dinner (including baked ham and strawberry shortcake), each one present gave a short autobiography and, although many present had not been acquainted before, they soon learned of others who like them at some time or other in their lives had attended chapel at Goshen College or walked along the Elkhart River and now found themselves in sunny California.

Leonard Henard 42, instructor in English in a junior college in Santa Ana, California, contributed some "light" verse and Dr. W. Delmar Hershberger 27, professor in the Engineering Department of the University of Southern California, a bit of philosophy under the heading, "Beyond the Spot in Indiana." Rev. Calvin F. Snyder 47, a retired missionary to China now residing in Glendale, California, led the devotional period. John David Zehr 48, pastor of the Calvary Mennonite Church in Los Angeles, acted as chairman for the evening.

The atmosphere of the College was accentuated as colored slides were shown of the campus, the buildings, and the "Dam." And memories mellowed upon hearing the strains of chapel music, college choruses, and quartets from the Goshen College Recordings. The group enjoyed a letter written for the occasion by Dr. Carl Kreider, acting president. The letter included current developments at the College and items of interest to alumni.

Those attending the dinner felt that annual alumni gatherings should be continued in this area. The occasion marked a step forward in the alumni relations in the California area and those present hoped that many others would join with them next year for another evening of mutual fellowship brought about by the ties of Alma Mater. Among those present were the following alumni: Mrs. Lester Reeser, 5701 West Blvd., Los Angeles 43 (Elma A. Shoup x44); Professor and Mrs. W. D. Hershberger, 427 Denslow Avenue, Los Angeles 49 (Mary Martin, B.A. 29); Rev. Calvin F. Snyder, 335 Mission Road, Glendale 5 (B.D. 47); Mrs. Hugo Erikson, 16258 Runnymede, Van Nuys 19 (Elizabeth Christner w40); M. Irene Zook, 31 S. Parkwood Blvd., Pasadena 10 (B.A. 29); Arnold J. Lueders, c-o South California Bible College, 450 Avenue 64, Pasadena (50); John David Zehr, 151½ West 73rd Street, Los Angeles 3 (B.A. 48); David A. Sommer, 1231 West 40 Place, Los Angeles 37 (x37); Leonard Henard, 1109 South Ross, Santa Ana (B.A. 42); Lois Hauder, 8504 Zamorra Avenue, Los Angeles (49); Mrs. Alice Classen, 736 Pleasant Street, Coalinga (Alice Liechty 47); Ellen Jost, 2753 C. Street, Selma (50); Mary Wenger, 1176 N. Westmoreland Avenue, Los Angeles 27 (pt 48); Arlene Sitler, P. O. Box 168, Reedley (B.A. 44).

The editor is indebted to Miss Sitler for the excellent report of the event. Mr. Zehr and Miss Sitler have demonstrated what probably could be done in a number of other areas where a considerable number of alumni reside. The Alumni Office is willing to cooperate in promoting such alumni reunions by furnishing names and addresses of alumni residing in a given area.

Officers elected for next year's meeting were John David Zehr 48, chairman, and Ellen Jost 50, secretary-treasurer.

ONE OF THE INDIA WEDDING PICTURES

BUILDING IN SOUTH GOSHEN

Seventeen new homes have been started or completed in Shoup's Woods and contiguous territory during the year 1950. Both Roy Shoup and Willard Shoup have laid out their share of the woods into lots and only one lot remains to be sold, a small lot not far from the dam. Faculty members own most of the building lots on which construction has not yet begun.

Mr. and Mrs. John Byer 48 built a home on High Park Avenue this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hershberger 23 (Dula Roth 29) built at the corner of Marilyn Avenue and Mayflower Place.

Professor and Mrs. Paul Bender purchased a preconstructed, six-room dwelling of Joseph Garber, of West Liberty, Ohio, and are now living on Mayflower Place at the end of Marilyn Avenue. C. L. Graber has purchased the cottage built some years ago at what is now the northeast corner of Marilyn Avenue and Mayflower Place. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lehman 44 (Areta Graber 44) and family live in this cottage.

C. J. Gunden and a Goshen real estate dealer have laid out in lots the field south of the road running to the dam at the south edge of the Goshen city limits. Nine of the thirteen lots in the Gunden addition already have been sold. Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hostetler 23 (Ida Miller x25 45) are just finishing a two-story dwelling in this addition.

Mrs. Bertha Gingrich, widow of the late Norman S. Gingrich, onetime instructor in the Elkhart Institute and later an executive in the Ball Band Company in Mishawaka, has built a beautiful stone front cottage at the corner of Gra-Roy Drive and Woodward Place. Professor Gingrich is gratefully remembered as a generous benefactor of Goshen College.

Arthur Lehman has built a basement home on a lot less than a block from the Elkhart river dam. It is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lehman 41.

Mr. and Mrs. Aden Horst are building a dwelling house on the lot adjoining S. J. Hostetler's lot on the south. Mr. Horst completed the garage last fall and has put up the frame of the house this winter.

EASTER CHORUS TOURS

Two of the Goshen College choruses are planning extended tours during the Easter vacation. The Motet Singers, a group of twenty-one picked singers, under the direction of Professor Mary Oyer 45, will give five programs of sacred choral music in Ohio and nine in Pennsylvania. Professor Samuel A. Yoder will travel with the Chorus as a faculty representative.

The A Cappella Chorus, of fifty-one voices under the direction of Professor Dwight Weldy 40, will give one program of sacred choral music and a high-school assembly program in Michigan, five in Ontario, one in New York, one in Pennsylvania, and six in Ohio. The group will be accompanied by Professor Lois Gunden as faculty representative.

The editor regrets that no electrotype of the Motet Singers is available. He feels fortunate to be able to use, at no cost to the NEWS-LETTER, the picture above of the A Cappella Chorus, used by that organization in printing their posters for advertising their tour.

BILL SMOKER RECOVERING

Since his mile-a-minute move to a South Bend hospital two months ago, former G.C. student Bill Smoker has shown marked improvement in his fight against polio.

Now able to breathe ten hours without the aid of an iron lung, Bill spends two hours a day in the hospital swimming pool for physical therapy.

According to latest reports Bill is eating well and his spirit is "great."—The Goshen College Record.

FIRST CANDLELIGHTING SERVICE

On February 15 the Goshen College School of Nursing honored the student nurses in the sophomore class with a beautiful ceremony in Assembly Hall. Dr. Carl Kreider, acting president of the College, served as chairman. Professor Paul Mininger, religious counselor, had charge of the devotional exercises. Esther Musselman 51 led the Nurses Chorus in three appropriate selections and Dr. H. Clair Amstutz, College physician, gave the principal address of the evening on the subject, "Keeping Faith." Mrs. H. E. Weigner, chaplain of the Indiana Gideon Auxiliary, presented each member of the class with a white New Testament with gold edges.

Miss Orpah B. Mosemann, acting director of the School of Nursing, conducted the Candlelighting Service. As Miss Mosemann held a Grecian lamp with a lighted candle, each student presented herself holding a smaller lamp with a smaller candle and lighted her candle from that held by Miss Mosemann. The class then repeated the Nurses Pledge. The exercise was a beautiful and impressive one.

After the ceremony the School of Nursing served refreshments to the parents and friends of the student nurses, the members of the Elkhart General Hospital staff, and the College teaching staff.

MCC OFFICER IN SOUTH AMERICA

In the latter part of February Mr. and Mrs. Orie O. Miller 15 (Elta Wolf 12), of Akron, Pennsylvania, returned from a ten weeks trip to South and Central America where Mr. Miller, executive secretary-treasurer of the MCC and treasurer of the Eastern Mensonite Board of Missions and Charities, transacted business for these two organizations. In Uruguay where 750 Mennonite refugees from Danzig, Germany, established the first Mennonite colony in 1949 he sought permission from the government for the immigration of 750 more people. He was favorably impressed with the Uruguayan government and with general conditions in that country.

In Paraguay he petitioned the government to sell more land to the large and growing Mennonite settlement in that republic.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller also visited their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Miller 45 (Eunice Litwiller 47) Mennonite missionaries stationed 200 miles west of Buenos Aires.

They visited the new mission field of the Eastern Board at Trujillo, Honduras.

STATE PEACE SPEECH CONTESTS

Four students representing Goshen College in the Indiana contests of the National Peace Speech Association held at Earlham College on March 8, Edgar Metzler 52, of Scottdale, Pennsylvania, and Lois Meyer 51, of Sterling, Ohio, speaking on "Breaking the Cycle" and "Your Brother and Mine," respectively, who took first place in the Goshen contests last fall, participated in the Oratorical Division. Beth Centz 52, of Berne, and Robert Hershberger 53, of Washington, D.C., spoke in the Extemporaneous Contests for women and men on subjects drawn an hour before presentation.

Geigley 13, of Iron Springs, Pennsylvania, again donated the two hundred dollars in prizes awarded to contestants placing first, second, or third in the four events.

FORMER PRESIDENT PASSES AWAY

On January 25, the Reverend George J. Lapp 02, B.A. 13, B.D. 47, died at his residence at 1803 South Main Street, Goshen, during a heart attack. He was born near Juniata, Nebraska, on May 26, 1879, a son of Samuel W. and Sarah (Gross) Lapp. On June 25, 1905, he was married to Esther Ebersole, of Sterling, Illinois, who died May 8, 1917. They were the parents of three daughters: Lois 30 (Mrs. Ezra J. Camp), of St. Paul, Minnesota; Harriet 37 (Mrs. Lawrence Burkholder), of Goshen; and Pauline Georgia, who died in 1913 at the age of four. On April 14, 1920, he was married to Fanny Hershey, of Manheim, Pennsylvania, who survives him.

Bishop Lapp matriculated at the Elkhart Institute on March 8, 1901. After attending Northwestern University Seminary and Medical School from 1902 to 1904 he served as home missionary and evangelist during the winter of 1904-05. He then was appointed missionary to India where he served until 1946 except during brief furlough periods.

On his first furlough he completed the requirements for the B.A. degree at Goshen College in 1913. During his second furlough he was elected president of Goshen College on February 23, 1918, and served until the fall of 1919 when he retired to resume his work on the India mission field. On a subsequent furlough he completed the requirements for the degree, Master of Religious Education, at Bethany Theological Seminary in 1930. After his retirement from the India mission field in 1946 he and his wife built a residence at 1803 South Main Street, Goshen, where they resided until his death.

In 1946 he re-entered Goshen College as a student and was a member of the first class to receive the B.D. degree in 1947. In 1946 he was appointed Director of the Bible Correspondence Department of Goshen College.

Although popular as a minister, evangelist, and teacher during his furloughs in the homeland his chief contribution was made on the mission field. During more than 40 years' (1905-46) service as a missionary in India, he was minister, administrator, translator, and writer. He was the author of Bible Doctrine (in Hindi), Menno Simons and Mennonite Church, Confession of Faith and Minister's Manual, History of Mennonite Church in India, Our Mission in India, and a research report, The Christian Church and Rural India.

His genial disposition, his optimistic spirit, his soundness in the Christian faith as interpreted by the Mennonite Church, and his vigorous Biblical exposition in the pulpit made him a popular speaker and leader since his retirement from the foreign field. He was in almost constant demand. In 1949 he was chosen bishop of the Holdeman Mennonite Church west of Goshen, and ordained his successor in the ministry in that church a few months ago.

He has lived a rich full life, died greatly loved, honored, and respected, and has been a blessing to countless thousands.

When funeral services were held in the Auditorium of the College Union on January 28 more than fifteen hundred of his relatives and friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect. In addition to his wife and two daughters, he is survived by seven grandchildren, one of whom, Evelyn Camp, of St. Paul, Minnesota, is a sophomore in Goshen College. He is survived also by a brother, Bishop Daniel G. Lapp, of Sterling, Illinois. Interment was made in the Alwine Cemetery southeast of Goshen.

Wooster, Ohio, residents were excited in late January by a report that the Leon Glick family, operators of the Willow Pool Tourist Home on U.S. Route 30 just east of Wooster, had been involved in an accident at Cincinnati, Ohio, when "their trailer took fire and several members of the family were treated at the Cincinnati Hospital for burns." A broken radiator, filling the family trailer with steam, gave rise to the report of the "near tragedy." Damage was slight, injuries practically nonexistent.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Ebersole 49 (Geraldine Hartman x48), who have established a Mennonite relief unit at Jericho in Hashemite Kingdom in ancient Palestine, have opened a small trade school for refugee boys. They are using two refugee shoemakers to do the teaching and hire refugee interpreters and helpers. They also expect to do some clothing distribution and possibly some feeding. The United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees undertakes to do the major job of caring for the 850,000 refugees. Mr. Ebersole reports conditions in the tent camps as "deplorable." Refugees are beginning to realize that they never can return to their homes. They have nothing. Their money is spent, they are weak from poor and inadequate food, and their clothing is very poor. They look upon Americans with suspicion and even contempt because of America's part in forming the Jewish state.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wenger x50 (Rhoda Campbell, R.N. 49) have been appointed by the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities to succeed Mr. and Mrs. John Detwiler (Mary Alice Wenger, R.N. 36) in the clinic at Culp, Arkansas. The school is looking for a teacher for the 24 pupils in the four upper grades because the present teacher would like to return to Eastern Mennonite College to complete his degree next year. The school has moved into its own building, a brick veneer, cement block, one-floor plan with radiant heat, plumbing and electric light, and an oil furnace. The two classrooms are quite well finished, but the play room, auditorium, and kitchen are not nearly ready for use.

Pray for me in this task of spiritual leader for these girls and pray for them that they may be saved."

David Castillo, husband of Elsa Shank 34 and pastor of the Spanish Mennonite Church at La Junta, Colorado, has been compelled to discontinue his radio program on account of a lack of money. ## CHANGES IN COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM

The faculty voted unanimously to change the senior class program from the traditional Friday date to Monday afternoon of Commencement day. This moves the seminary class program from Thursday to Friday evening. Most of the other events follow the traditional pattern.

Professor Walter E. Yoder will have charge of the informal musicale in Assembly Hall on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 and Professor Roman Gingerich will direct an athletic program at three. The Alumni Reunion on Saturday evening will be held in the auditorium of the College Union instead of the College Dining Hall and the program will be shortened by eliminating several toasts and abbreviating the address. Only the 1951 graduates and the ten, twenty-five, and fifty-year classes will be represented on the dinner program.

Another change in the order of events is the new hour for the Sunday morning worship service. For several months the College congregation has been meeting in the Union Auditorium at 9:45 for the sermon. Sunday school follows at 10:45.

Professor Walter E. Yoder will have charge of the program rendered in the Union Auditorium by the combined choruses at 2:30 on Sunday afternoon. Harold S. Bender, dean of the Goshen College Biblical Seminary, will preach the sermon in the Baccalaureate Service in the Union Auditorium at eight on Sunday evening.

The final chapel service in Assembly Hall at 10:45 on Monday will be followed by the College Luncheon at twelve. The senior class program, formerly held on Friday evening, will take place on the campus and in the Union Auditorium beginning at 2:30 on Monday afternoon.

The final event of the Fifty-Third Annual Commencement will be the commencement proper held in the Union Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on Monday evening. Bernhard Christensen, president of Augsburg College and Theological Seminary, will deliver the Commencement address.

ANNUAL ALUMNI REUNION

In order to leave more time for informal visiting the Board of Directors in planning this year's Annual Reunion decided to limit the number and time of the toasts and to abbreviate the usual long alumni address. Only four classes will be represented on the program.

Dr. Charles Ainlay, who was president of the class of 1941 for four successive years, has been chosen as toastmaster to represent the ten-year class. Jesse Martin, of Waterloo, Ontario, will toast for the class of 1926, celebrating their twenty-fifth reunion, and John Umble for the class of 1901, celebrating their fiftieth anniversary.

This will be the extent of the program except for the usual very brief business meeting, the introduction and induction of the graduating class, and the response by the class president, Delbert Erb, of Scottdale, Pennsylvania; two vocal solos, by Esther Musselman, of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and Lowell Byler, of Goshen; and the President's annual "review" and "preview" for alumni, delivered this year by Acting President Carl Kreider. It is particularly fitting that he should give the address this year since it is the fifteenth anniversary of his graduation. The program will close with the Alma Mater led by Professor Walter E. Yoder.

The Board of Directors considered the comfort and convenience of alumni in planning the 1951 Reunion. Alumni will meet for the annual dinner in the College Union instead of the College Dining Hall. This will contribute to the comfort of guests not only by providing more room but better ventilation. The Lounge, with its comfortable furniture and the spacious lobbies, will be conducive to informal conversation and reminiscence, always an important part of these annual get-togethers. Alumni who arrive early can gather in the Lounge instead of standing on the walks outside Kulp Hall.

The committee on arrangements anticipates a large attendance at the Annual Reunion. In the first place many alumni have not seen the College Union since it was completed a year ago and many alumni have not seen any part of the construction of the new dormitory for women since the ground-breaking ceremony last Commencement. The main part of the steel structure towers almost to the treetops.

Construction of the outside brick walls will be practically completed by Commencement. So also will be the various roof areas and the cement floors on the second and third stories. With favorable weather it is possible that some of the room partitions will be in position. The Building Committee promises that by Commencement visitors may get a rather complete idea of the external appearance of the new building.

Several years ago the Board of Directors discontinued the earlier practice of sending notices of the annual reunion to members of the Alumni Association. This is your invitation to be present at the Fiftieth Anniversary meeting of the Alumni Association of Goshen College. The first Alumni Banquet and Reunion was held at Elkhart Institute in June, 1901.

PRESIDENT MILLER CONTINUES BUSY SCHEDULE

When alumni receive this News-Letter, President Miller will be back in Hong Kong after spending part of April in Indonesia and Indo-China and most of May in India, first in Dhamtari, M.P., then in Bihar, then at Landour. Following about two weeks in Hong Kong (May 26—June 6), he and Mrs. Miller will begin their return journey with stops in Hashemite, Jordan; Basel, Switzerland; Goettingen, Germany; Amsterdam, Holland; and Edinburgh, Scotland. He expects to return to the states sometime in August.

SENIOR VOICE RECITAL

Esther Musselman 51, lyric soprano, of Gettysburg, Pennsylania, appeared in her senior recital in Assembly Hall on Saturday evening, April 21. She sang arias of Bach and Handel, a group of Shakespeare songs, and art songs by Schubert, Schumann, Brahms, Strauss, Hindemith, King, and Barber. She was accompanied on the piano by John Weber 52, of West Liberty, Ohio. Miss Musselman's clear rich soprano will be missed in the choral organizations and campus programs after her graduation.

ACCEPTED IN MEDICAL SCHOOL

Again this year several Goshen alumni have been accepted in medical school. Don Miller 50, son of President and Mrs. Ernest E. Miller 17 (Ruth Blosser 17), and Alvin Zeiset 47, of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, have been accepted in the fall class of Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia. Willard Krabill 49, of Louisville, Ohio, and Robert Ebersole 48, of La Junta, Colorado, are students at Jefferson at present.

Ben Kenagy 51, of Albany, Oregon, and William Pletcher 51, of Goshen, have been accepted by Northwestern. Roger Neumann 48 and Myrl Nafziger 50 are now in residence at N.U.

The Goshen College Bulletin is published monthly except for February and March when two issues are published each month by Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana.

Clayton Henry Diener 50 is a freshman in the University of Kansas Medical School. Mrs. Diener is the former Inez Snyder, R.N., 43. The Dieners have two children, Donald Clayton and Dwight Allen. Their address is 1321 Tennessee, Lawrence, Kansas.

Arthur Byler 50, of West Liberty, Ohio, whose application had been rejected earlier, was notified in April that he had been admitted to Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia. It seems that the Admissions Office yielded to a strong appeal by Dr. Galen Miller 43, who insisted that Byler had all the qualifications—scholastic, character, and health—to make him a good candidate for the medical profession.

VOLUNTEERS FOR M.C.C. SERVICE IN EUROPE

Calvin Redekop 49, assistant director for M.C.C. Voluntary Service in the European area, wrote an interesting article for the March 22 issue of the Mennonite Weekly Review. C. F. Klassen and C. L. Graber have arranged with several village governments to build homes for Mennonite refugees. American Mennonites are lending the money to M.C.C. to be used to construct houses and for other expenses. M.C.C. has secured the aid of several prominent architects and the necessary machinery to build according to specifications.

Mr. Redekop states that the unit now awaits young fellows with muscle to come from the States to make the Mennonite Resettlement Program tick! M.C.C. has helped more than 30,000 Mennonite refugees to find new homes since the first World War but many thousands of refugees of World War II will be obliged to remain in Western Germany.

The M.C.C. is calling for volunteers, each to serve for a period of one year. Each one will be expected to furnish nine hundred dollars to pay his own expenses. Three young men from Elkhart have left for one year's work with the first unit: Bill Gunden w49, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gunden; John E. Mann x53, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Mann sp29 (Helen Ebersole x32); and Herbert Roupp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roupp x29 (Bertha P. Shantz 26). Mr. Gunden is a member of the Belmont congregation in Elkhart. The other two are members of the Prairie Street Church.

ALUMNI IN M.C.C.

How many of you alumni are familiar with the M.C.C. Services Bulletin? It is printed monthly at committee headquarters at Akron, Pennsylvania, and is distributed without cost to anyone desiring information regarding the committee's work. The address is Publicity Office, Mennonite Central Committee, Akron, Pennsylvania.

The April issue contains an interesting article by John Howard Yoder 47 on the new project at Valdoie. The work there is sponsored in part by French Mennonites, serving as a French Mennonite center. Extremely interesting also are the two articles on Formosa, where June Straite, R.N., x52 is located. Another article explains the project at Offwielerhof in the Palatinate where Melvin Headrick w47 is a member of a work camp.

Especially well written is the account by Ella Mae Hooley 40, describing the work in the Children's Home at Bad Duerkheim, Germany. Here is a sample of her writing: "Seeing is believing; so go with me into a children's home. Tomorrow 25 children are coming and the following day 25 more. In the bedrooms are stacks of skirts, sweaters, trousers, shirts, slips, underwear, hose, and shoes. The pantry shelves are replenished with pork from Mountain Lake, beef from Goshen, tomatoes from Ephrata, carrots from Kitchener, jam from Orrville, and raisins from Fresno."

Page eight of the bulletin summarizes recent M.C.C. news with a word about the N.S.B.R.O., Kings View Homes, Wiltwyck Boys' School at Esopus, New York, relief for Java and Formosa, the resettlement of refugee families in the United States, and the health, education, and agricultural services for both Mennonite and Mexican people in Mexico. Alumni from Goshen as well as other Mennonite colleges are employed in these projects.

FOREIGN STUDENTS MEET ON THE GOSHEN CAMPUS

By Dean Atlee Beechy 35

The Fifth Annual Foreign Student Conference sponsored by Mennonite and Affiliated Colleges met at Goshen on April 21 and 22. Students were present from eight colleges—Bethel, Bluffton, Eastern Mennonite, Goshen, Hesston, Messiah, and Tabor and from Mennonite Biblical Seminary. In addition to the fourteen foreign students enrolled at Goshen twenty from other colleges participated in the conference. Thirteen different countries were represented—Argentina, Brazil, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, India, Java, Korea, Lebanon, Mexico, Paraguay, and Poland.

The purposes of the conference were to give opportunity for foreign students enrolled at Mennonite and affiliated colleges to learn to know each other and to evaluate their experiences. The theme of the conference was "Building Christian Understanding Through the Extension of the Christian Witness." The devotions on Friday evening, April 20, led by Carl Kreider, Acting President, officially opened the conference. The purposes of the foreign student program were discussed from the standpoint of the foreign student and the Mennonite and affiliated colleges.

Hans van den Berg, a Dutch student enrolled at Goshen College, introduced the theme of the conference on Saturday morning. Following this presentation the students divided into four groups to discuss the implications of the theme to the fields of Economics, Education, Politics and Sociology, and Christianity and the Church. An American student participated in each of the discussion groups.

The students agreed on the necessity, but not always on the method, of bringing the Christian witness into each of these areas. A panel discussion led by Paul Verghese, a student from India, and the leaders of the various discussion groups came to grips with some of the basic issues and problems of applying Christianity to these areas in the Saturday afternoon session. The role of the church, missions, the witness of the individual Christian, the emphasis of Christian love and peace in today's world were discussed with sincerity and conviction. The students agreed that real understanding comes only as people fully receive and practice the Christian message. They placed limited hope in world movements built on other foundations.

On Saturday evening representatives from seven different countries gave additional tangible evidence of the universality of the spirit of Christian fellowship. John R. Mumaw, President of Eastern Mennonite College, gave the final talk of the conference—"Christianity—The Basis for Understanding."

The foreign student program sponsored by the Mennonite and Affiliated Colleges is a small part of a large program of International Student Exchange. The United States government and many philanthropic and church agencies are participating in this program. A recent release published by the Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students indicates that during the 1950-51 school year approximately 29,000 students are enrolled in American colleges and universities. The same report listed 124 students from other countries attending Mennonite and affiliated colleges.

Our Mennonite and affiliated colleges, though comparatively small in size, rank high in several states in the number of foreign students enrolled. Tabor College, Hillsboro, Kansas, ranks third in that state and is followed by Bethel College ranking fourth. In the State of Virginia, Eastern Mennonite College, with 23 foreign students, ranks third. Goshen College with 36 (Canadian students included) is tied for fifth place in the State of Indiana.

Students participating in the conference learned to know and appreciate in an enlarged way the unique contribution various cultures and ethical groups can make to the common task of extending the Christian witness. In the years ahead these Christian young people will make a significant contribution in extending the kingdom of God in many areas of the world.

"There are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all" (I Corinthians 12:6).

GROFF TO TEACH BIBLE IN SEMINARY

The Mennonite Mission in India has agreed to contribute the service of Weyburn Groff 45 as an instructor in Bible to the Seminary at Yoetmal, M.P., India. The contribution is to be for one year and the Groffs are to move to Yoetmal on July 1 next.

This school was begun by the Free Methodist group. They are still supplying the buildings and the larger share of the staff. However, several other groups are now co-operating in trying to improve the usefulness of the school. Bishop Edwin I. Weaver 30 is the Mennonite Mission representative on the Yoetmal Board.

Indian Christian leaders and missionaries are agreed that an urgent requirement of these items is the training of a large number of young men and women in the Bible and in our Christian culture. It is anticipated that students of our own Mennonite Church in India, pursuing Bible training, will attend Yoetmal.

FISHER GRANTED HARRISON FELLOWSHIP

John J. Fisher 48, graduate student in English at the University of Pennsylvania, was informed on April 2 that he had been granted one of the Harrison Fellowships. This will enable him to write his doctoral dissertation while receiving a stipend that requires no duties such as the teaching he has been doing during the past few years under a fellowship.

Mr. Fisher's dissertation problem bears the present title, "Rhetorical Patterns in Swift's Prose." The research program tentatively calls for identifying certain recurring formal devices in the light of contemporaneous rhetorical theory and then attempting more surely to arrive at the meaning of some of Swift's famous satires.

Mrs. Fisher (Pauline Clemens 48) is continuing her teaching and thoroughly enjoys it. The Fishers reside at 511 Derstine Avenue, Lansdale, Pennsylvania.

MEMORY TEASER

Someone recently brought to the Alumni Office a certificate that no doubt would arouse pleasant memories in the mind of a number of alumni. It certifies that the "Four Square Class of the Mennonite Sunday School of Goshen has fulfilled the requirements as to organization and is recognized as an organized Sunday-school class." It was granted by the International Sunday School Association.

The number of the certificate is 3000 and the date, November 7, 1919. It bears the signature of two International officers, including Marion Laurance, International General Secretary, and a state officer.

The certificate lists the following charter members: Teacher, A. R. Eschliman 20; President, Roy M. Weaver a20; Secretary, N. W. Snider a20; Treasurer, Noah Roeschley a22, and the following (addresses are the former home address and did not appear on the certificate):

Silas Albrecht (23), Tiskilwa, Illinois
Oliver Bauman (21), Kitchener, Ontario
Walter Bender (22), Denver, Pennsylvania
Ernest Bohn (20), Souderton, Pennsylvania
Edward Smith (22), Eureka, Illinois
Edward Bontrager (x22), Goshen
Wilmer Eigsti (22), Matteson, Illinois
Samuel Eshliman (x22), Canfield, Ohio
Cletus Hooley (x25), Goshen
Elmer Landis (x23), Gary
Maurice Long (23), Nappanee
Raymond Long (x23), Nappanee
Wilbur Smucker (21), Goshen
Warren Long (23), Peoria, Illinois
Harold Mast (x22), Charm, Ohio
Alvin Shantz (x19), Cullom, Illinois
Fred Snider (x23) (Snyder?), Waterloo, Ontario
Henry Sommer (a22) (Sommers?), Dewey, Illinois
Merl Yoder (x17), Wakarusa
Alvin Yordy (x22), Hesston, Kansas

The certificate has been placed in the Mennonite Historical Library. Other similar materials no doubt clutter attics and shelves in the homes of alumni and are a source of annoyance at house-cleaning time. The librarian of the M.H.L. would be happy to relieve alumni of such "encumbrances" and would guarantee to accord them a hearty welcome to the safe storage facilities of the library where their value will increase with the passing of the years.

HAZEL SCHROCK HOSTETLER MEMORIAL FUND

By Adella (Brunk) Kanagy, R.N., 44

At the recent passing of Mrs. John A. Hostetler (Hazel Schrock x45), her husband requested that any expression of sympathy be given toward a fund to help student nurses who are preparing for Christian service. The Memorial Fund is a tribute from Hazel's many friends who believe Jesus' words, "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit."

This Memorial will establish a scholarship for the La Junta Mennonite School of Nursing, from which Hazel graduated in 1947. The L.M.S.N. class of 1947 has undertaken to raise approximately $2500.00 to invest with the Mennonite Board of Education, so that from the interest on the investment two scholarships of $50.00 each may be awarded annually. This would enable two seniors each year to take the elective course in Rural Public Health Nursing, a type of experience especially fitting them for work on any mission field.

Many friends have already contributed toward the memorial scholarship fund. The support of other Goshen College alumni and friends is solicited. Your contribution should be sent to:

HAZEL SCHROCK HOSTETLER MEMORIAL FUND
La Junta Mennonite School of Nursing
La Junta, Colorado

May our united effort be a lasting witness to our Christian faith.

GROWING INTEREST IN CHILD WELFARE

Several alumni participated in the Child Welfare Conference sponsored by the Child Welfare Committee of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities at the Bethel Mennonite Church in West Liberty, Ohio on April 13 and 14. Grant M. Stoltzfus 41, editor of The Mennonite Community, Scottdale, Pennsylvania, was chairman of the Friday morning session and J. D. Graber 25, secretary of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, of the Saturday afternoon session.

In the Friday morning session Paul Sieber x51, superintendent of the West Liberty Home, and L. Glen Yoder 44, superintendent of the Kansas City Home, spoke on the subject, "What Has the Church Been Doing in Child Welfare Through Institutions?"

On Friday afternoon under the general subject, "Summer Camps for Children—An Evangelizing Agency," Tillie Yoder 49, of Scottdale, described the work at Camp Ebenezer; Ellis Gerber 48, of Dillonvale, Ohio, at Camp Kidron, and Harold L. Weaver

52, of Elkhart, at Mennonite Youth Village near White Pigeon, Michigan. Professor Mary Royer 30, of Goshen, spoke on "Summer Bible Schools for Children" and Joseph C. Fretz 30, of Kitchener, Ontario, on "The Child Welfare Program of Ontario Conference."

One of the speakers on the Friday evening program was Professor Everett Shimp, of the School of Social Administration of Ohio State University, discussing the State's point of view in the child welfare program.

In the Saturday morning program Orval Shoemaker 41, of Hopedale, Illinois discussed "Some Current Needs in Child Welfare," Mrs. Paul Erb (Alta Mae Eby 12), of Scottdale, "Building Christian Homes Today," and Dr. C. Richard Yoder, M.D., 37, pediatrician, of Elkhart, "The Emotional Needs of the Growing Child."

In the afternoon session Lester Glick 49, of Plain City, Ohio, spoke on "Recent Trends in Child Welfare as They Affect the Program of the Church," and Robert Ekeland 48, case specialist, West Liberty, Ohio, "Evangelizing Through Our Child Welfare Program." Carl Smucker, Bluffton, Ohio, son of Mary Ebersole Smucker a06 and the late Boyd D. Smucker a05, spoke on "Child Welfare Work as a Christian Vocation."

Professor Smucker is a state welfare worker and also a teacher at Bluffton College. His address delivered at the Child Welfare Conference appeared as an article in the April 24 issue of The Mennonite.

A Conference on Child Welfare marks another milestone in the forwardlooking program of the Mennonite Church. Young Mennonites developed interest in this area during the period when many of them were serving in C.P.S.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR —

With the passing of the years certain historical facts are forgotten or overlooked and this is true with regard to the beginning of the Elkhart Institute. The real founder of the school that opened in 1894 as the "Elkhart Institute of Science, Literature, and the Fine Arts" was Dr. H. A. Mumaw. The following paragraphs, written by A. C. Kolb on December 15, 1936, cast some light on this question.

"In the Mennonite Quarterly Review of January 1936, you will find particulars covering origin and development of the Elkhart Institute, and also the reasons for removal to Goshen. However, when the Elkhart Institute association was organized, and the control of the school passed from the hands of Dr. H. A. Mumaw as a personal enterprise to a Board, Dr. Mumaw was elected the first president, and A. C. Kolb was elected first secretary. Obviously, this was before the Institute building was erected. These offices were held until the following annual meeting which was held in the new Institute building. At that meeting A. C. Kolb, as secretary, held a large majority of votes, by proxy, and could have controlled the entire election. Because it was insisted that J. S. Coffman should be president, so that in his evangelistic tours he might advertise the new 'Church School,' Secretary Kolb was twice waited upon by several of the stockholders, including M. S. Steiner, Noah Hoover, and John C. Martin, who entreated him to make room for a re-alignment of officers in order that Coffman might be chosen president, and Dr. Mumaw, who had founded the school, might continue the work of developing it in the capacity of secretary.

"Such heavy pressure was brought upon Kolb that he finally agreed to cast his votes for the proposed change while he personally quietly slipped out of the personal [personnel] entirely rather than stand in the way of the others who seemed determined to carry their point. It became quite obvious that many of those present were inclined to relegate the founder, Dr. Mumaw, to a secondary position in order that others might be more prominently identified, which assumption is verified by the announcements in subsequent catalogues which give the erroneous impression that J. S. Coffman was founder. The incorrectness of this impression which gained considerable credence after Coffman's death, is substantiated by Coffman's own statement in Dr. Mumaw's office, in the presence of secretary Kolb, when Coffman said to the doctor before he became president, "If it had not been for your indomitable energy, this school would not have been brought into existence."

The editor is indebted to Mrs. Phoebe Mumaw Kolb, daughter of Dr. Mumaw and widow of the late A. C. Kolb, for permission to use this note written by her late husband.

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF AMISH MATERIALS

John A. Hostetler 49, of State College, Pennsylvania, is the author of Annotated Bibliography on the Amish, published this year by the Herald Press at Scottdale, Pennsylvania, with the sub-title, "An Annotated Bibliography of Source Materials Pertaining to the Old Order Amish Mennonites."

The material first was compiled as a class assignment in a course in Mennonite History taught at Goshen College by Dean Harold S. Bender 18. The book is printed by the offset process with an introduction by Dr. Bender and a useful preface by the author.

Following a table giving the location and number of Amish church districts by counties and states and a foreword by the author, the bibliography presents Amish materials under four headings: part A—"Published Books and Pamphlets"; Part B—"Unpublished Graduate Theses"; Part C—"Published Articles"; Part D—"Unpublished Sources."

The scholarly annotations summarizing or explaining each item give the book value out of all proportion to its size. A single example is sufficient for illustration. The following note describes the importance of Dr. Melvin Gingerich's The Mennonites of Iowa for a study of the Amish: "This inclusive history of all Mennonite conferences in Iowa includes several excellent chapters on the Amish. An account of the Amish settlements in Lee, Davis, Henry, and Johnson counties. There are excellent discussions of Amish church government, worship service, farming, mutual aid, schools, literature, and folklore."

Section D consists of titles of unpublished Amish historical material in the Archives of the Mennonite Church at Goshen College.

Adding considerably to the value of the book is an analytical subject index in ten sections—(1) "General Works"; (2) "Settlement History"; (3) "Church Doctrines and Practices"; (4) "Amish Admonitory and Miscellaneous Writings"; (5) "Literature, Language, and Art"; (6) "Hymnology"; (7) "Biographies"; (8) "Genealogy"; (9) "Feature Articles and Pamphlets of a More or Less Popular Nature"; (10) "Modern Scientific Studies." The volume closes with two pages of "addresses of periodicals, newspapers, and other sources cited."

This bibliography, long overdue, is an indispensable tool for the increasing number of research students interested in Amish lore and culture. The book of one hundred pages may be purchased from the Herald Press, Scottdale, Pennsylvania, for $1.50.

ALUMNI INTERESTED IN NEW DORMITORY

One of the younger alumni writes: "I am so glad that the College will be able now to handle the students once more in the manner that is more appropriate to the needs of the school. It has been more than a little bit irksome to some of us alumni to see Coffman Hall possessed by the women for this long when actually it should be used to house the men, who are called upon to live in conditions unfair to them or to the school itself. I hope that this contribution will make up for the times when I would have liked to contribute but found it impossible to do so. C.P.S. and relief work are not generally considered places where one can make much progress financially."

An alumna in sending in her contribution for the building fund of the College expresses her appreciation as follows: "We as former students of Goshen College will never be able to repay her for what she has done for us, for the most important things she has given us are not payable in dollars and cents. The appreciation of the beautiful, a broadened vision and an increased sense of responsibility to the unsaved, a desire to serve, an increased faith in God—these are the blessings received from Goshen College which far outweigh the book knowledge received. It is true that only by lives fully consecrated to the cause of Christ and the church can we in a measure show our appreciation for the blessings Goshen College has given us. It is also true that such a consecration includes a consecration of our material blessings to the work of Christ and the church. I am happy, therefore, to give this small gift as a token of my appreciation to the College for the many ways in which she has enriched my life."

An alumna, busy and happy in the Lord's vineyard on the African field, recently wrote her appreciation for the training received at Goshen College. "I do appreciate getting the NEWS-LETTER. I can hardly wait until it comes. May God bless you and the students. I trust much shall be accomplished in this year for God at Goshen College. The training that I received has been a great blessing to me and God's work in this land. My desire is that God may use my life in a greater way to win these precious souls to Jesus before it is too late."

An alumna now in nurse's training in sending her contribution for the building program expressed her satisfaction at being a member of the alumni family. "I am enclosing a money order for . . . the building program at my Alma Mater. Of course, it only partly expresses my appreciation to Goshen College for all that she has meant to me.

"My visit on the campus at Christmas time was very enjoyable as usual, but I think each time I come back my appreciation of my beloved Goshen College increases."

The coming of warm weather and the decision of the Mennonite Board of Education to borrow $75,000 for construction purposes several months earlier than originally planned have given new impetus to building operations on the new dormitory for women. The original plan of the Board was to borrow $75,000 to purchase materials, then wait until the constituency had contributed $75,000, then borrow a second $75,000 and depend on the constituency to raise the remainder by freewill offerings.

In March a large amount of building materials were on the ground ready for use but the constituency had contributed not quite $48,000 for the building program. In order to put the stock-piled materials to immediate use and to get the building ready for partial occupancy by September, the Board borrowed the second $75,000.

The $150,000 that the Board has borrowed with the $48,000 contributed by the constituency will not be sufficient to prepare the building "in the rough" for partial occupancy in September but if the constituency contributes an additional $32,550 during the summer forty rooms can be made ready for temporary occupancy by the opening of school in September. The walls of the rooms will not be plastered and the floors will not receive the final covering of asphalt blocks. But the electrical, heating, and plumbing installations can be completed.

On May 1 the outside walls of the kitchen were complete as well as the cafeteria and floor above. The first floor of the main part of the building was enclosed with brick, except on the south end. The roof, consisting of a double layer of insulating material and five coats of roofing felt, laid in asphalt and covered with gravel, had been placed in position over the kitchen and the main part of the building. Cement floors have been laid on all but one of the residence floors. The floor of the Dining Room will be laid later.

The only part of the roof not yet completed is that above the second floor over the cafeteria. Present plans call for a heavy coat of cement and a tar felt-asphalt roof over this part of the building. The roof on this area will be made of concrete because the plans call for a possible second story of residence rooms above the cafeteria at some future date.

Doors, windows, and window screens are on hand and most of the electrical conduits are in place on those floors that are to be completed by September 1. The three bricklayers now employed on the building can complete the remainder of the brickwork by Commencement if the weather continues favorable.

A Voluntary Service Unit of four strong willing workers are employed as bricklayers' helpers, keeping them supplied with bricks and mortar and building scaffolding as needed. The Building Committee has rented a steel scaffold from the Bil-Jax Company of Archbold, Ohio. This iron scaffold not only reduces the cost of erecting the scaffold but also is more convenient for the workmen than the old-fashioned wooden scaffold.

By way of summary, one might say that what still remains to be done is (1) the pouring of the cement floor on one story of the main part of the building and on the roof of the story above the Cafeteria, (2) bricklaying above the first story of the main part of the building, (3) installing the pipes for heating and plumbing and wiring for electricity, (4) laying the cement block walls for the rooms and corridors, (5) pouring the floor for the Dining Room, (6) and connecting the new dormitory with Kulp Hall. The floor of the Dining Room and even the connection with Kulp Hall will not be completed until a later date.

Sound financing will not permit the Board to borrow more than the $150,000 already borrowed. The remaining $175,000, of which only about $48,000 has been contributed, must be in the hands of the Building Committee before construction can be completed.

The $32,550 that the committee still needs to make the residence rooms on the two floors of the main part of the building ready for occupancy by September 1 is an immediate and pressing need. The Board hopes that alumni will contribute $15,000 before Commencement so that construction may go on unhindered.

JOIN THE BUILDERS' UNIT

Three young men joined the Voluntary Service Builders' Unit at Goshen College in March: Jacob Birkey, Manson, Iowa; Claire Hostetler, Smithville, Ohio; and Carl Eberly, Dalton, Ohio. They are doing excellent work as brickmason helpers. For their services they receive ten dollars a month and maintenance.

On April 1, Einer Stoltzfus, of Wellman, Iowa, joined the unit. Construction engineer, J. Gordon Jackson, says that he could use several more young men of this type.

MENNONITE YEARBOOK AND DIRECTORY 1951

Ellrose D. Zook 33, of Scottdale, Pennsylvania, is editor of the 1951 Mennonite Yearbook and Directory, just off the press. It is a booklet of 129 pages containing vast amounts of interesting and useful statistical material on personnel and organizations of the Mennonite Church.

Pages 3-16 describe the organization of the major boards and committees of the Mennonite Church and their activities during the past year. Pages 27-53 list the personnel of the various organizations—educational, publication, missionary, hospital, and relief. The Directory also lists twenty-five periodicals published by Mennonite district conferences and organizations.

The "Statistical Section" includes not only statistics for the past year but in many cases complete tables of considerable historical value. Table 1, for instance, gives the place, moderator, number of delegates, and preacher of the conference sermon of all General Conference sessions from 1897 to 1949. Another table presents the membership of the Mennonite Church from 1904 to the present time. During that time, according to these figures, the membership grew from 25,207 to 67,399.

Other tables in this section present such items as ministerial changes for 1950 (deaths and new ordinations), winter Bible school enrollment, Sunday-school statistics, Christian day school statistics, and contributions received by the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities.

Pages 62-83 present the "Church Directory" with the names of the various conferences, the names of congregations in each conference, number of members and ordained men (bishop, minister, and deacon) in each congregation. The "Ministerial Directory," pages 94-129, lists the names and addresses of all

Dormitory from the east taken with Infra-Red

Mennonite ministers in the world of all branches of the church. The names of the ministers of different branches of the church are listed separately by conferences and by countries.

This valuable handbook of information increases in usefulness from year to year as the editor's experience discovers new ways and means for making the volume more complete. No church worker or editor can afford to be without it. In fact every Mennonite family should own one. It can be purchased from the Herald Press, Scottdale, Pennsylvania, for fifty cents with a liberal discount for quantity orders.

In March the Mennonite Publishing House sent sample copies to each Mennonite and Brethren in Christ pastor. The cost of the book, thirty cents per copy, is a small amount considering the large amount of research that has gone into the making of the book.

The experience of Dr. Paul G. Brenneman 44, formerly of Tofield, Alberta, in obtaining U.S. citizenship may be interesting to a number of alumni. Dr. Brenneman writes his experience in an article appearing in the April number of "Mennonite Medical Messenger." Following his preliminary hearing on January 18, 1949, Dr. Brenneman waited for thirteen months before he received a reply. The letter stated, "petition denied because you have failed to establish attachment to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and favorable disposition to the good order and happiness of the United States for the period required by law." Through the assistance of William T. Snyder, of the M.C.C. office at Akron, Pennsylvania, he learned from officials at Philadelphia and Washington that his petition was denied because of his position in refusing noncombatant service in the army. About that time the Supreme Court rendered a decision five to three in favor of a Quaker, who also had been denied his petition for citizenship because he had refused noncombatant service. On the basis of this decision Dr. Brenneman's case was reconsidered. He was ordered to appear in U.S. District Court in Philadelphia, May 11, 1950, for a granting of citizenship papers. Unlike the eighty others who appeared at the same time he was given a private hearing. After reading the evidence Judge Welsch, a Quaker, immediately passed judgment in Dr. Brenneman's favor. When the group received the oath of allegiance, he was permitted to affirm.

A letter is enclosed with each shipment, giving the name of the donor and asking the recipient school or institution to write a letter of acknowledgment. He said special committees to handle the program have been established in Detroit, Chicago, Boston, and Baltimore and that it is hoped such committees will be formed in other cities."

Irma Ebersole 50 is teaching grade three at the Wallace school in Sterling, Illinois. Miss Ebersole's address is 708 Locust Street, Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Detwiler (Mary Alice Wenger 36), of Culp, Arkansas, have moved to Nampa, Idaho. During the four years that they lived at Culp Mr. Detwiler assisted in the building program of the Mennonite mission at that place and also conducted Sunday services at Optimus, a mission outpost. A modern brick school building was erected at the mission at Culp and a medical clinic.

Edna Brenneman 49 is employed in the Dietary Department of St. Luke's Methodist Hospital at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Her address is 1632 Second Avenue, S.E., Cedar Rapids.

Harold Buzzard 35, of Elkhart, blind salesman, takes magazine subscriptions for his support. He would appreciate receiving alumni orders for various magazines and subscription combinations. In spite of his blindness he enjoys playing chess. At present he and Ivan Brunk 35, of Chicago, are playing a game of chess by mail and Brunk reports that Buzzard is playing a fine game.

William E. Pletcher adj20, principal of Parkside school, will retire from the teaching profession at the end of this school year after a teaching career of forty-nine years. He was registered at Goshen College in 1919-20 and in 1920-21. He also attended Angola Normal School and Manchester College and has had special training at Michigan State Normal School at Ypsilanti, Butler University, and Chicago University. He has been connected with Field Enterprises, Inc., of Chicago, for the past three years and plans to devote his full time in the educational department of that company. Mr. and Mrs. Pletcher (Ethel Ingleright s15) live near Parkside school. Their son, Bill, is a senior in the College and will enter Northwestern University Medical School in September.

William H. Yoder 43, assistant cashier of the Citizens' Savings Bank of Columbiana, Ohio, made a pleasant call at the College on May 5. Mr. Yoder and his wife, the former Miss Snyder, R.N., from Kitchener, Ontario, have purchased a residence with an acre of land near Columbiana.

ALUMNI ASSEMBLE IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Three innovations marked the 1951 commencement season. The senior class presented their program on Monday afternoon of commencement day instead of the preceding Friday evening as has been the custom for many years. This opened the Friday evening hour for the Seminary class program previously held on Thursday evening. The alumni banquet was held in the Union Auditorium for the first time. Previously this event had been crowded into the College dining hall where lack of space and insufficient ventilating facilities had made the diners uncomfortable, especially on warm June evenings.

Other than these three changes the commencement activities proceeded as usual except for the absence of the president of the College. President Miller's extended period of service in the Far East naturally prevented his attendance at the commencement festivities.

Large Seminary Class

As shown by the class roll printed on another page, this was the largest Seminary class in the history of the Goshen College Biblical Seminary. The class motto printed on the programs in Greek was the equivalent of I John 4:17, "As He Is, So Are We in This World." Class officers were C. Norman Kraus 46, president; Clyde Mosemann 50, vice-president; and J. Alton Horst 50, secretary-treasurer.

The class presented the following program in Assembly Hall on Friday evening, June 1:

|---|---|
| Invocation | Orland Gingerich |
| "O Bless the Lord, My Soul" | Congregation |
| Scripture Reading | Roy Bucher |
| Prayer | Clyde Mosemann |
| Introduction of the Class | Robert HarnishMurray Krabill |

| "Wake, Awake" | Seminary Octet |
| "As He Is, So Are We in This World" | C. Norman Kraus |
| "How Brightly Shines the Morning Star" | |
| "Soldiers of Christ, Arise" | Seminary Octet |
| "Whither Bound?" | Orley Swartzentruber |
| Presentation of Class Gift | Alton Horst |
| Response | Carl Kreider |
| "Go, Labor On" | Congregation |
| Closing Prayer | H. S. Bender |

Chairman—John Driver
Chorister—Elno Steiner

Norman Kraus, speaking on the Seminary motto, "As He Is, So Are We in This World," first discussed certain non-Christian religions and pointed out that they lacked a vital connection with life and had little to offer the believer. Then he went on to show that the Christian religion is based on divine revelation but even more on the reincarnation of God Himself in the person of Jesus Christ and as Jesus Christ revealed the deity as a loving heavenly Father, so Christians are to be the disciples of Jesus manifesting to the world by their lives this same love and interest in the lives of men.

Orley Swartzentruber, speaking on "Whither Bound," used the same concepts at the beginning of his address and then insisted that Christianity must reach mankind everywhere, not only in a geographical sense but in the sense that it enters all areas of human experience—economics, sociology, psychology, in fact every level of human life and experience.

The gift of the Seminary class was a newspaper and magazine rack for the Mennonite Historical Library.

Friday of commencement week end, observed traditionally as College Class Day, gave an opportunity for the final class outings of the year. The seniors picnicked at McNaughton Park in Elkhart, the juniors at Lake Webster, the sophomores at Dunes State Park, and the freshmen at Pokagon State Park, near Angola.

Alumni Day

Saturday, Alumni Day, brought more than the usual number of alumni to the campus. The class of 1901 celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation from the Elkhart Institute with an informal tea and talk fest at the home of Professor and Mrs. John Umble at 401 College Avenue, the residence known to many of the older alumni as the "Brunk house." Eight of the graduates and one of the nongraduates of this class were present. Out-of-town guests included Professor and Mrs. J. M. Kurtz, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony C. Moyer, of Elkhart, and Rev. Jacob B. Brunk, of Plymouth. Of the nineteen members of this class, nine have served a total of seventy-eight years as members of the faculty of Goshen College.

The class of 1941 mustered 33 members counting children for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of their graduation from Goshen College held at the cabin they built on the banks of the Elkhart River as their class gift to the College in 1941. The group spent the morning boating and reminiscing. They also had an address by Roman Gingerich who gave the class a bird's-eye view of school activities since their graduation from Goshen College. As lunch time approached, the group discovered that they had made no provisions for the noon meal. They appointed Robert Hartzler, Roman Gingerich, and John Jennings, foods committee. Hamburgers, milk, and potato chips furnished a picnic lunch on the cabin grounds. The group discussed plans for re-establishing a class letter and appointed Ralph Hernley, of Scottdale, Pennsylvania, to assume responsibility for the letter. Joseph H. Garber, of West Liberty, Ohio, received the award for bringing the most people into the world. Mr. and Mrs. Garber (Thelma M. Hostetler 40) are the parents of eight children.

The Class of 1946 met for their first five-year reunion in the College Cabin located at the corner of the athletic field in the east part of the campus. Dr. Glen R. Miller 39, class sponsor, gave a brief address of welcome to the visiting alumni. Other speakers in a campaign of reminiscences were Harold Bauman and James Gurley. Phyllis Roose, College dietitian and a member of the Class of 1946, had arranged a lunch at noon. Those present wrote a combined letter to the members of the class serving in foreign countries. Including children the group numbered 38. Ruby Hostetler, of Elkhart, class secretary, was in charge of the local arrangements.

The annual informal musicale was held in Assembly Hall at 1:30 p.m. in charge of Professor Walter E. Yoder 33 with the following program:

1. "McNamara's Band"
2. (Spiritual) "Climbin' Up De Mountain"

Professor Roman Gingerich 41 was in charge of athletic events at 3:00 p.m. In the softball game between the college and the alumni plus the seniors the youngsters again showed that they were too much for the old grads. Stan Stryker 53, the winning pitcher, had his opposition bewildered much of the time and brought his team through with a 6-2 victory. William Paul Swartzendruber 50 and Claude Swartzendruber x52 played the mound position for the alumni.

Approximately 400 alumni and friends met in the auditorium of the College Union at 6:00 Saturday evening for the annual reunion. Charles Ainlay, representing the Class of 1941 celebrating the tenth anniversary of their graduation from Goshen College, gave a highly satisfactory performance as toastmaster. His ready wit, clean humor, and genial personality kept the program moving along in a delightful manner. His experience in debating and oratory at the College during his undergraduate years and his experience in public work since that time have fitted him ideally for this important place on the program. After a bountiful meal which Miss Phyllis Roose 46, College dietitian, modestly called "supper," Dr. Carl M. Hostetler 33 presided over the brief business meeting which included the following items:

a. Report of the Secretary—Leland Bachman 38
b. Introduction of Class of 1951—John C. Wenger 34, Sponsor
c. Induction of Class of 1951
d. Response—Delbert Erb 51

The following were elected to membership on the Board of Directors for the period June 1, 1951, to May 31, 1954:

Ivan Brunk 35 Chicago, Illinois
Dr. J. Glenn Widmer x42, Wayland, Iowa
Dwight Yoder 37, Akron, Pennsylvania
C. P. Martin 27, Elkhart, Indiana
Lulu Smith 27, Eureka, Illinois
John Stanley Oyer 51, Goshen

The secretary announced that the Board of Directors had elected the following officers to serve for the year 1951-52:

President: Dr. Carl M. Hostetler 33, Goshen
Vice-President: Levi C. Hartzler 35, Elkhart
Secretary: L. A. Bachman 38, Goshen
Treasurer: Olive G. Wyse 26, Goshen
Fifth Member: Dr. C. Richard Yoder 37, Elkhart
Editor of the Alumni News-Letter: John Umble 01, Goshen
Alumni Representative on the Board of Education:

Immediately after the introduction of Charles Ainlay 41 as toastmaster, exercises continued with the following program:

|---|---|
| Solo | Esther Musselman 51 |
| Toast—Class of 1926 | Jesse B. Martin 26 |
| "My Ideal Goshen College Alumnus" | John Umble 01 |
| Solo | Lowell Byler 51 |
| "Past, Present, and Future" Acting President | Carl Kreider 36 |
| Alma Mater | Walter E. Yoder 33 |

Professor Melvin Gingerich 26, of the College staff, substituted for Jesse B. Martin 26, of Waterloo, Ontario, who was unable to be present.

The principal address of the evening delivered by the representative of the Class of 1901 is printed in full elsewhere in this issue. Before beginning his address, he toasted briefly to the Class of 1901 and introduced several of the graduates present including Professor J. M. Kurtz, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Ebersole (Lavonna Berkey), and A. C. Gerig who was an instructor in the Elkhart Institute at the time that the class was graduated.

Acting President Carl Kreider, who happens to be a member of the class celebrating its fifteenth anniversary, gave the address, traditionally delivered by the president of the College to the alumni on Alumni Night. He said in part:

"In the brief time which I have to speak to you this evening I want to say just three things. In the first place I would like to tell you of some of the planning we have been doing concerning the possible future needs at Goshen College; in the second place I would like to discuss the service of Goshen College to the church, and in the third place the services which Goshen College can render to the world.

"Most of you no doubt have heard about the slight decrease in enrollment which Goshen College has experienced during the last two years. This decrease was caused in part by the fact that many of the students whose education had been interrupted by the draft during World War II have now completed their college course. It has been caused also by the fact that the high-school graduating classes in most of our communities have been somewhat smaller in the last several years than they had been earlier or than we think they are likely to be in the years which lie ahead. Young people who graduated from high school in 1950 and in 1951 were born in 1932 and 1933. This was the most serious period of the depression when the birth rate all over the United States was considerably lower than it has been since.

"Between 1933 and 1943 the birth rate very nearly doubled. If the same proportion of young people in our constituency enter college in 1960 as did in 1950 it is easily possible that the enrollment at Goshen College will be anywhere from 750 to 900 in the decade of the 1960's.

"Is it not reasonable to suppose that actually the proportion of young people in our constituency going to college will increase rather than remain the same? By the 1960's many more of our young people will be children of parents who themselves were former students and graduates of Goshen College. This makes it seem probable that under the guidance of God Goshen College enrollment may well reach 900 ten years from now.

"In view of this fact the new dormitory which is currently under construction is only one of a number of additional facilities which will be needed. We shall need more housing for men, more classroom space, and a new and larger chapel. We should build new facilities for the Seminary and for the Nursing School, and this should help to release some of our present facilities for increased needs for general classroom space.

"All of this planning would be in vain were it not for the continued high purposes of Goshen College in serving the church and the world. There is evidence to show that Goshen is rendering a far more effective service in the church today than it has in times past. This is not meant to depreciate the efforts of those who have gone before or to exalt the work of those who are in positions of leadership now. The broader service is rather a natural development which has always been the hope and the prayer of those connected with our Alma Mater. Will you continue to pray for us that we may constantly be sensitive of the needs at Goshen College as she attempts to serve the church?

"Goshen College should be concerned also with making an impact upon the world as a whole. I am still haunted by some words spoken by E. A. Meyer at an alumni banquet here five or six years ago. At that time he reminded us that we had an obligation not only to serve our immediate family and friends but to make our impact upon the world whether it be in government contacts in Washington, in relief service in Europe, or in mission service to the ends of the world. It is easy to be so close to a task as to lose sight of some of these wider responsibilities and opportunities. May the Goshen College of the future be ever more alert to them."

In the Sunday morning service C. Warren Long 29, of Tiskilwa, Illinois, father of Thelma Long of the Class of 1951, preached the sermon.

In the afternoon at 2:30 the combined choruses presented the following program of sacred music:

Professor Walter E. Yoder 33 directed the Collegiate Chorus and Professor Dwight Weldy 40 the A Cappella Chorus, as well as the combined choruses.

One of the delightful commencement activities is the "President's Tea for Seniors and Their Parents." This event took place in the College Union under the sponsorship of Acting President and Mrs. Carl Kreider 36 (Evelyn Burkholder 36). Mrs. Atlee Beechy (Winifred Nelson 38) poured. The tea provided an admirable opportunity for parents from many different sections to become acquainted and to exchange greetings.

EDITORIAL CHAT

The editor's face is red. And there is a reason. The editor, as well as his readers, knows that the ethics of the journalistic profession do not permit an editor to mention his own affairs or those of his family in the magazine which he edits.

There is an explanation. The Board of Directors of the Alumni Association chose the editor to give the main address at the annual alumni reunion. This in spite of the editor's insistence that former Professor Jonathan M. Kurtz, also of the Class of 1901, should be asked to give the address. The Board also appointed Dr. Melvin Gingerich 26 to write a biography of the alumni speaker to be printed in the NEWS-LETTER in connection with the alumni address.

Having offered this explanation for the violation of professional ethics, the editor feels somewhat relieved, but his face is still red.

Here is a note from an old-timer who still looks back to his days at Goshen College with a large degree of nostalgic pleasure: "I have recently received my copy of the Goshen College Directory, which I appreciate very much, as there are a number of names listed which I had lost trace of. It is a very valuable acquisition to those of us whose connection with Goshen goes back to 'way back when.' "

In editing a News-Letter with its hundreds of items, a few errors seem inevitable. Consciousness of such errors tends to develop in an editor an inferiority complex. Hence, a letter like the following from an "old" alumnus and a very dear friend with many years' experience in schoolwork gives an editor the feeling that perhaps his work after all may not be quite in vain:

"One day last week we received the NEWS-LETTER for May and we are enjoying it a great deal. I think that perhaps I should tell you that it means much to alumni who cannot often return to G.C. to receive this 'letter' with its news, ideas, and pictures dealing with the College and its people.

"And ever since the Directory came out we have meant to send you a word of sincere and hearty appreciation. I am on principle, perhaps on Mennonite principles, opposed to the use of big words where smaller ones will do the work, but here I believe a big one is needed. The labor of preparing the Directory must have been tremendous. Makers of dictionaries and directories are not always given due credit for their work, so I have heard. We want to say that for both of us the work on the Directory has been useful labor."

Such an expression of appreciation encourages one to continue.

That the NEWS-LETTER serves its twofold purpose of impressing alumni with growth of their Alma Mater and with the loyalty of Mennonite alumni to their church, the following note from a pair of old-time alumni friends seems to attest:

"Two things amaze us as we learn about the college. One is its rapid growth, and I do not mean in size, buildings, and numbers alone, especially in the more recent years; and the other is its far-reaching influence and activity in all kinds of welfare work. When I recall the condition of the Mennonite Church as it was in my boyhood, I conclude that it had changed little since my father's boyhood, and he was born in 1834.

"When one compares those conditions—no Sunday school or young people's work, or missionary or benevolent work or contributions, Pennsylvania-German sermons by farmer-preachers who were drafted, and some, I know, considered it a calamity when they were selected by lot—with the present activities of the church there comes into view a change that the most hopeful of Goshen's early founders could not have believed possible. Much, very much of this change is, of course, due to Goshen College and her sister schools."

COMMENCEMENT (Continued)

The fifty-third annual commencement program was held in the Union Auditorium at 8:00 p.m., June 4, with the following program:

I. Invocation ........ Anson Horner
Moderator, Indiana-Michigan Mennonite Conference
II. Hymn

III. Chorus Numbers .... Goshen College A Cappella Chorus

VI. Conferring of Degrees ........ Acting President Carl Kreider

VII. Hymn
"Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life"
VIII. Benediction

Dr. Christensen asserted that "the Christian college, while preparing the student to make a living, also provides the cultural background for the enjoyment of the arts and appreciation for the church." "The Christian Church," he said, "maintains and provides the essential values of wholesome Christian living."

He admonished the graduates to devote themselves in addition to their vocational interests to planting in the "Gardens of God" as he called the congregations of the Christian Church throughout the world. By casting their influence and investing their efforts in a Christian congregation, they provide for themselves and for the community the best atmosphere for the rearing of children and for the promotion of the highest values of society. He closed with a masterful summary of the achievements of the Christian Church.

Seven graduates received the Associate in Arts degree, and nine will receive it on August 3. Six received the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree, three having completed their course prior to January and three in June. Twenty-six received the Bachelor of Science in Education degree, and twenty-three will receive it in August. Seventy-six received the Bachelor of Arts degree, and fifteen others will receive it on August 3, at the end of the Summer Session. One will receive the B.S. degree upon completion of her nurse's training course.

Graduates from the Seminary included the following: One Associate in Arts in Bible, three Bachelor of Religious Education, one more to receive the degree in August. An unusually large class of fifteen received the Bachelor of Theology degree. One more will receive it in August. Two will receive the degree, Bachelor of Divinity, in August for successful completion of three years of graduate work in Bible beyond the B.A. degree.

A complete list of graduates with their addresses and major subjects is given on another page of this issue.

DELIVERS ADDRESS AT ALUMNI BANQUET

By Melvin Gingerich 26

John Umble, representing the Class of 1901, delivered the main address at the Alumni Banquet, which was held Saturday evening, June 2, in the Union Auditorium. Speaking with a background of many years of experience in the Alumni Association, he pictured the ideal alumnus of Goshen College. His address is given below.

Commencement season of 1951 marked two important milestones in the life of Mr. Umble. Having graduated from the Elkhart Institute in 1901, he was honored on the golden anniversary of his class by being chosen to represent them on the Alumni Banquet program. June, 1951, also marked for him the end of a quarter century of service on the faculty of Goshen College. Born in 1881, Professor Umble reached the retirement age this year, and consequently the Executive Committee of the Mennonite Board of Education conferred upon him the title Professor Emeritus of English and Speech. Acting President Carl Kreider in behalf of the Board of Education, with well-chosen words of appreciation for Mr. Umble's faithful service to Goshen College, publicly conferred the title upon him following the granting of degrees on commencement day. Professor Umble has, however, been asked to continue next year as Director of Alumni Relations.

Born at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, he accompanied his Amish Mennonite parents to Lyon County, Kansas, in 1885. After six disappointing summers in that state, the Umble family moved back to Champaign County, Ohio, in the fall of 1890. The first Mennonite boy of his community to attend high school, he graduated from the three-year course in the local school in 1899 and then spent two years in the Elkhart Institute, graduating from its academic course in 1901. After attending the University of Wooster for one semester, he taught rural schools for two years. Taking one year at Goshen College and one at Northwestern University, he received his B.A. degree at the latter institution in 1906.

Mr. Umble then began his high-school teaching career, which was to last seven years. At Mt. Vernon, Indiana, where he taught German for three years, his reputation as a German instructor and football coach won him a promotion to the faculty of South High, in Akron, Ohio. There he worked from 1909 to 1913, until he decided that his family should be raised in a Mennonite community. He had been married to Alice Landis in 1906, and two sons were born to them, Frank in 1907 and Roy in 1913.

John Umble

After having taken his family back to the farm in Champaign County, Ohio, Mr. Umble spent the next eleven years in this Ohio Mennonite community, where he soon became active in the work of the church. In 1916 he became a member of the executive committee of the Ohio Sunday School Conference, a position which he held many years. As historian of this conference, he gathered the material for his book Ohio Mennonite Sunday Schools, published in 1941. His Mennonite Pioneers had been published in the previous year.

After having accepted a call to join the Goshen College faculty, Mr. Umble again enrolled in Northwestern University, where he was granted the M.A. degree in 1928. Since that time he has attended summer sessions at Northwestern, Chicago, Colorado, and Minnesota universities. His academic training has been supplemented by extensive travel, including a summer in Europe, 1910, a period of time in Mexico, brief visits to Ontario, and tours into all but seven states of the Union.

Mr. Umble's services to Goshen College have been many and varied. For many years he taught courses in English. Later he also taught in the field of Speech. This led him into the area of extracurricular forensic activities, where he trained outstanding orators and debaters. It was largely because of his leadership in this field that Goshen College has had an unusually active forensic program in which large numbers of both men and women students participate year after year.

Other activities that have engaged the time of Professor Umble include the sponsorship of the College Record, membership on the board of directors of the Peace Society, and membership on the Lecture-Music Series Committee. One of his chief contributions has been made through the Mennonite Historical Society. As one of the associate editors of The Mennonite Quarterly Review from its first issue in January, 1927, to the present, he has helped build this journal into one of the foremost church history magazines in America. Through the years he has contributed learned articles to this periodical, primarily on the history and culture of the Amish. Writing from a sympathetic point of view, he has contributed substantially to the American interest in and understanding of this religious group. His research has also resulted in a remarkable series of articles on extinct Mennonite churches, in which he has not only presented a large amount of previously forgotten historical data but also has given a valuable interpretation of the meaning of this information.

For many years Mr. Umble has participated in the student solicitation program, generally in Elkhart County and the surrounding area. Many students testify that it was the friendly approach and the individual encouragement of John Umble that not only brought them to Goshen College but also kept them in school when discouraging situations arose. Always a sympathetic friend of young people and one who understands their point of view, he has not only retained a youthful spirit but has also been able to establish an excellent rapport with them. Generous in his recognition of their good points and free with praise fully deserved, he has inspired many young people to persevere in their attempts to achieve their ideals.

Not the least of Mr. Umble's services have been those given in behalf of the Alumni Association of Goshen College. As the third president of the organization, he served in that office during 1902-03. He again held the office from 1942 to 1947. In 1931 he was appointed editor of the Alumni News-Letter, which position he has now held for twenty years. Under his editorship the News-Letter has grown in size and news coverage so that it reports its alumni activities much more completely than the average college publication of its type.

More recently Professor Umble has served as Director of Alumni Relations, a position which he has filled admirably, in part because of his acquaintanceship with Goshen College graduates during the entire period of its half century of history. One of the major contributions of Mr. Umble to the Alumni Association has been the production of the Golden Anniversary Alumni Directory, which was authorized in 1944 and published in 1950. Although recognizing that fifty years of time and changing conditions of life in the church could thwart the growth of unity in the association, he has labored constantly to tie all groups of alumni together in their common loyalty to the College and to ideals for which it stands.

Although Mr. Umble is now Professor Emeritus, his services to Goshen College will not end. Maintaining a vigorous interest in Goshen College, a deep loyalty to and love for the Mennonite Church, and a deep sympathy for and understanding of young people, he will continue to inspire Goshen College students.

"MY IDEAL GOSHEN COLLEGE ALUMNUS"

By John Umble 01

(Note: This article was prepared and printed by order of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association at the last annual meeting.)

I learned in debating that in speaking or writing on any topic I must define my terms. And in teaching English Composition I have insisted that a definition must include not only what a term means but also what it does not mean. Every word in the title of this brief address needs to be defined. By the time I have defined each term, I shall have reached the end of my address.

I prefer to use the pronoun "My" because I frankly admit that my concept of my ideal Goshen College alumnus has evolved out of my own experience. I admit, too, that my ideal Goshen College Alumnus may not agree with what you or anyone else thinks an ideal Goshen College Alumnus may be. My definition has grown out of more than fifty years as a high-school and college graduate.

Fifty years ago when I became a member of this alumni association, membership was open to everyone who had graduated from any course that required a year's residence. As the number of two-, three-, and four-year graduates increased, they became snooty and shut out the one-year graduates. The two-year graduates went next and then the three-year. For the next thirty years membership in the association demanded graduation from academy or college and payment of annual dues.

Then came a change in the policy of many leading alumni associations all over America. I discovered that my one semester's residence at Wooster College in 1901 had made me eligible for membership in that alumni association and my one summer at the University of Chicago made me an alumnus of that institution. In fact, in order to receive the excellent magazines published by those Alumni Associations, I pay dues in those associations as well as at Northwestern University where I received my degrees.

Then about 1930 the Alumni Association of Goshen College adopted an amendment to the constitution granting membership at the time of the graduation of his class to any student who had been in residence at Goshen College for one year. Since then the family idea of alumni membership has swept the country. Just as a child becomes a member of a family by being born into it, so a student becomes an alumnus of his college by virtue of his registration in the college.

I am using the term alumnus of Goshen College in this sense. My Goshen College alumnus is a person who has completed registration and attended Goshen College. I am trying to make this definition perfectly clear because no matter what I shall say later about my ideal alumnus I include in my concept of alumni of Goshen College everyone who has attended Goshen College, whether graduate or nongraduate, College or Seminary, full-time or part-time, Winter Bible Term or Summer Session, resident or extension.

Now to continue with our definition of terms we come to the term of Goshen. What is Goshen College? Who makes up Goshen College? President Ernest E. Miller in his definition of Goshen College begins by asserting, "Goshen College is a child of the Mennonite Church." Any definition of Goshen College must be built on that premise.

In the eighties and early nineties John S. Coffman saw that the Mennonite Church stood at the dawn of a new era. Young people from Mennonite families were becoming interested in education beyond the country school. Many wished to prepare for teaching. But when they attended denominational academies and normal schools, they usually united with the denomination operating such a school.

Even before Coffman began preaching, some of his friends ridiculed him for wasting his talents in a small denomination gradually declining in numbers and influence. But he was convinced that the principles of the Mennonite Church—simplicity, wholehearted devotion to Christ, and love to all men—properly interpreted and consistently practiced were the basic elements of Christianity. He helped to found the Elkhart Institute to establish a school for higher education where young Mennonites could pursue an educational program in the atmosphere of their own religious heritage.

The founders of Goshen College were Mennonites. They founded the institution to serve the Mennonite Church and the young people of the Mennonite Church. From the beginning the Mennonite Church has owned, controlled, and operated the school. And by far the larger part of the financial support of the institution has come from the farmers, laborers, business and professional men and women of the Mennonite Church. For many years it was the only recognized educational institution operated by this branch of the Mennonite Church, and it remains today the only fully accredited Liberal Arts College with a complete three-year Biblical Seminary, and a Collegiate School of Nursing.

These facilities the Mennonite Church has provided at Goshen for her young people. Nowhere else on earth can they receive training in all these areas in a single institution owned, operated, and controlled by the Mennonite Church. Goshen College, therefore, is not just another good college. It is an instrument of the Mennonite Church to implement certain fundamental aspects of its program of religious life and teaching. It is now and must remain the agency of the Mennonite Church for studying, observing, and promulgating the principles and practices, the way of life of the Mennonite Church.

At the risk of seeming a bit narrow, dogmatic, and pedantic I must here assert that the Mennonite Church is not just another Protestant denomination. Its founders by a study of the Word of God came to the conclusion that being a follower of Christ means separation from the world. It means the individual believer's commitment to Jesus Christ. It means acceptance of Him as personal Saviour. It means a willingness to follow Him as a disciple. Being a Mennonite does not mean mere assent to a creed but a spiritual union with Christ. This union is both the impelling and the enabling force to Christian living. Being a Christian means to obey Christ's teachings as if He were present in body here on earth. This was the basic essential in the religious faith, life, and practice of the Swiss Brethren, the forerunners of the Mennonite Church. This remains a vital element in twentieth-century Mennonitism. As a child of the Mennonite Church Goshen College holds to this fundamental concept of Christian life and faith.

Perhaps for the sake of clarity we should consider one other fact at this point: neither the Mennonite Church nor its schools are the same as in 1894 when the Elkhart Institute was founded. At that time the constituency was still largely German or bilingual. Many of the church leaders and most of the laity were not clear on the true implications of the Mennonite faith. External forms received disproportionate emphasis to the inner spirit of Christian life and faith. The church fathers, however, deserve commendation for the tenacity with which they clung to forms and principles whose basic meaning they little understood but whose practice helped to preserve the content of their faith.

As time went on, both the church and the College taught and developed a richer concept of spiritual life and experience. The church, however, clung tenaciously to some of the older forms while the College may have tended to overstress the concept of the individual's primary relation to Jesus Christ without due regard to the unique place of the church in the redemption plan. That concept, overemphasized, led to a loosening of the bond between the College and the church. Hence few Goshen College graduates between 1903 and 1920 retained their loyalty to the church.

The few graduates who did retain their membership in the church helped to reinterpret Mennonite principles in the light of the early Anabaptist vision. This reinterpretation or rediscovery of the Anabaptist vision has affected both the church and the College. It has given the church an appreciation for the College, a clearer concept of the meaning of the "Go ye" command of our Lord, and a realization of the place of active service in the spiritual training of youth. On the other hand, it has heightened the college student's respect for the church as the preserver and conserver of the faith and as the provider of the atmosphere for spiritual nurture.

Now to bring together our definitions of alumnus and of Goshen College. An alumnus of Goshen College is a student who has attended this college. Through the daily chapel services and through his association with faculty members and students he has learned that this institution is founded on the idea that the primary business of a human being is to be a disciple, a learner, an obedient follower of Jesus Christ not merely in certain external forms and ceremonies but as the result of a supernaturally changed heart attitude toward life and all its relationships.

Now perhaps before I go on to speak of my "ideal" Goshen College alumnus, I should clear up one more point. As I stated before, Goshen College is a Mennonite institution. It was founded by Mennonites to educate young Mennonites. Someone may ask, "What about the non-Mennonite student? Is he tolerated because good public relations demand it or because he helps to pay the bills?" This is an important question. It deserves an unmistakable answer. For more than fifty years I have been connected off and on with the Elkhart Institute and Goshen College. Throughout these fifty years non-Mennonite students seriously interested in securing an education in a Christian environment have received a warm welcome at Goshen College. Many have received scholarships, many have won prizes in our contests, many have held office in our student organizations. Many of them have in return rendered the College valuable service.

Our toastmaster furnishes a bright and shining example of what I mean. [Here the speaker placed his hand on the auburn hair of the toastmaster.] He received a freshman scholarship. He received other financial grants. But he repaid the College in many ways for all the benefits that he received. He was so popular with the students that his class elected him president in the freshman year and re-elected him for the sophomore, junior, and senior years. He organized the student rally that met President Miller at the city limits when he returned from Chicago with the news that Goshen College had been admitted to the North Central Association. His class built the College Cabin, and he did some of the construction work with his own hands. He was the first Goshen College student ever to win first place in the Indiana State Peace Oratorical Contest. He also won the National. He and his teammate, a brother of Acting President Kreider, won more debates than any other two debaters in the history of Goshen College. After they won all their debates in the Manchester tournament and again at the National Delta Sigma Rho tournament at Madison, Wisconsin, debate coaches who never before had given me a second glance greeted me respectfully as "Professor" Umble of "Goshen College."

This man also made his contribution in the religious life of the College. In recognition of his sterling Christian character the student body elected him secretary of the Y.M.C.A. I am not saying these things about Charles Ainlay merely to embarrass or to flatter him. I am trying to show that Goshen College not only welcomes non-Mennonite students but appreciates their ability and accords them opportunity for recognition and development of their talents and abilities. Mr. Ainlay is one example. There are others. The class of 1949 elected as their senior president a member of the Christian Apostolic Church.

It would be possible to point out scores of similar examples. In a recent Thursday morning devotional program by the Y.P.C.A. a young Presbyterian took part in the program by reciting from memory an entire chapter of Ephesians. He has won several of our speech contests. He and many others like him not only are profiting from their residence on the campus, but are making a valuable contribution to its cultural, social, and religious life. When we speak of an alumnus of Goshen College, we must keep young people of this type in mind.

And perhaps in this connection I should clarify an additional point. Although Goshen College welcomes these students from other communions, she is not interested primarily in proselyting them. Some of them have in the past and still do choose of their own volition to unite with the Mennonite Church and have made a significant contribution to the church.

Since, then, the Goshen College student body is made up of both non-Mennonites and Mennonites, it is evident that the ideal Goshen College alumnus may belong in either group. But the interests, activities and general purposes of the ideal alumnus in both groups are identical in many respects—in the support of their Alma Mater, in primary emphasis on the extension of the kingdom of God, in being a true disciple of Jesus Christ. Each seeks to be a worth-while representative of the cultural, educational, and social ideals of Goshen College. The ideal alumnus, non-Mennonite or Mennonite, will be vitally interested in the work of his church—in its service program, in its young people's activities, and in all phases of its religious program.

But the Goshen College alumni, who have been reared in a Mennonite community, who have been baptized into the Mennonite Church, and who have come to Goshen College largely through their own denominational loyalty or that of their parents, must discharge special obligations to the College and the church to deserve the title of "ideal Goshen College alumnus." It is, after all, this group of Goshen College alumni upon whom rests the responsibility not only for building the Mennonite Church but for building its church institutions. If a student in this group is to be an ideal Goshen College alumnus, he should meet certain specific requirements in his after-college years.

In the first place he should sense as no one else is able to do, the value of Goshen College for interpreting, promoting, and disseminating the principles and practices, social, cultural, economic, and religious, of the Mennonite Church. The College should have his wholehearted support in all her endeavors. He is in a better position than anyone else to forestall criticism, to interpret the College to the constituency, to encourage student enrollment, and to support the financial program of the institution. Many colleges now have as their ideal a contribution, however small, from every alumnus every year. This works no hardship on any alumnus and is an unequaled source of financial strength to the college.

But the obligation of the ideal Goshen College alumnus in this classification goes beyond the support of his Alma Mater. He is interested in and informs himself about the general activities of the Mennonite Church, its foreign and home mission program, its relief activities, its social service functions through hospitals, youth programs, homes for the orphans and the aged. He is an active member of his local Mennonite congregation and takes an active part in its entire program, church services, Sunday school, youth program, local mission outreach.

He never forgets that he is a servant and disciple of Jesus Christ, that his primary business in life is to live in the spirit of Christ and to observe the "all things" committed to the disciples when their Master ascended to heaven. When he accepts a position to earn a living for himself and his family, his first question is, "Will this position in this particular location give me an opportunity to spend my free time and my Sundays in religious activities related to the Mennonite Church? Can I attend services regularly? Will my living in this environment enable me to bring my family up in the atmosphere that has given my own life its rich religious heritage?"

What is likely to happen if these questions do not receive primary consideration? What has happened in scores of instances is that the second generation loses all contact with the basic principles taught, cherished, and perpetuated by their Mennonite ancestors. They adopt the mores of their environment. In some cases they preserve some of the moral values of their Anabaptist heritage. In others even these are lost amid the pagan elements of drifting American culture.

This, then, is "My Ideal Goshen College Alumnus" —a humble servant of God. A true disciple of Jesus Christ, a faithful active member of the church, a supporter of her institutions including Goshen College.

It is a great pleasure to be here this evening especially to see these many promising faces in the Class of 1951. How different this is from the tiny beginnings at our first alumni banquet in 1901 when we met at the home of Principal N. E. Byers in Elkhart! I shall not be present when the Class of 1951 celebrates its fiftieth anniversary in the year 2001. But what a pleasure it is to look down the years with them and to envision the lives of consecrated usefulness that many of them will experience in line with their present commitment for service in the Master's kingdom. If our Lord tarries and the same proportion of the Class of 1951 return from the four corners of the earth for their fiftieth anniversary as the Class of 1901 was able to muster this evening, approximately fifty of them will gather here. What a reunion that will be! May they all return as "Ideal Goshen College Alumni" with a record of many Christian victories in many lands. And may they transmit by word and example to their children and children's children the true spirit of Christian discipleship.

GRADUATES OF 1951

Following is a list of the students who have completed or will complete their work for the various degrees during 1951. Degrees are granted only at commencement but are dated either at the end of the first semester, the second semester, or the summer session. All students who complete their work during the year participate in the commencement exercises, but only those who complete their work in January and June pass across the platform to receive their diplomas on commencement night. It is customary for those who complete their work in August to rise when their names are called on commencement night, but they receive their diplomas in August at the end of the summer session.

The following list gives the names and addresses of graduates and in case of those who graduated with the degree, Bachelor of Arts, also the major. The major course for students graduating with the degree, Bachelor of Science in Education, is either elementary or secondary education:

JAPANESE STUDENTS TO STUDY IN UNITED STATES

The following paragraph from a report by President Ernest E. Miller 17 was printed in the May issue of the M.C.C. Services Bulletin, published monthly at Akron, Pennsylvania:

"The Association of Mennonite and Affiliated Colleges has undertaken a program of bringing Japanese students for study in our colleges in the United States. The Association appointed a committee to make selection of students for the coming year. This selection was made on the basis of maturity, knowledge of English, clearness and seriousness of purpose, and in consideration of the recommendations received by persons familiar with the students and with the general situation in Japan. It has not been possible to secure free transportation from the United States government, but it is hoped that there will be private supporters for this year, and that in the future, mission boards can aid in the transportation costs of the students with the work of the mission in mind."

Two students selected and admitted for residence at Goshen College during the year 1951-52 are Shunzo Kodera, of Tokyo, and Nobuyuki Nakajima, of Osaka. The administration has granted them full scholarships and guarantees their expenses during the period of their stay in the United States.

REGIER HEADS BEREAN ACADEMY

The Reverend Alvin J. Regier 47, formerly principal of the Meno, Oklahoma, Mennonite Academy, has accepted a position as superintendent of Berean Academy at Elbing, Kansas. During the past year he has been engaged in graduate work at Oklahoma University. He and Mrs. Regier and their family of five boys will move to Elbing about August 1.

Dorothy Hershey 51, of La Junta, Colorado, also has accepted an appointment as instructor in home economics and English at Berean Academy. New equipment is being planned for the home economics laboratory.

DON KREIDER ELECTED MEMBER OF MENNONITE BOARD OF EDUCATION

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association of Goshen College Don Kreider 38, of Wadsworth, Ohio, was elected Alumni Representative on the Mennonite Board of Education for a four-year term. The constitution of the Mennonite Board of Education provides for two alumni representatives on the Board from each of the schools owned, controlled, and operated by the Board. The other Goshen representative on the Board is J. Forrest Kanagy 30, of Biglerville, Pennsylvania, now serving his first term as Secretary of the Board and a member of the Executive Committee.

The new alumni representative is assistant treasurer of the Ohio Match Company in Wadsworth. In 1938 Mr. Kreider accepted a position as assistant cashier in the Citizens Bank of Wadsworth where his father was treasurer.

After serving in this position for three years, he resigned to become an assistant examiner with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and then as assistant bank examiner in the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. He received the commission of examiner while employed in that organization and continued to be the youngest member of the staff in charge of bank examinations. Six years ago he left the banking field when he accepted his present position with the Ohio Match Company.

Whereas previous employment required considerable traveling, Mr. Kreider now enjoys more activities in his home circle, church community, and the larger sphere of the church-at-large. In the Bethel Mennonite congregation near Wadsworth he has served as superintendent of the Sunday school for six years; he has been engaged in the work of the library, prayer meetings, Bible Study, and youth guidance; and two years ago he was elected to serve as church treasurer, when he relieved his father from this work after the latter had been serving in this capacity for thirty years.

In the larger church program, he has served complete terms as auditor for the Mennonite Publication Board and for the Mennonite Board of Education. He indicates that a broader perspective is now his after viewing the accounting records of our church work at Scottdale, Goshen, and Hesston, and he has appreciated the contacts thus made.

In his undergraduate years Mr. Kreider was an outstanding student leader. He was a keen debater and a good executive, serving at various times throughout his college course as president of one or more organizations—his literary society, his class, the French Club, and the Peace Society. He served as cabinet member of the "Y" during both the junior and senior years. His undergraduate majors were economics and commerce and his minor, history. The editor of the Maple Leaf characterizes him as follows: "Friendly and impartial . . . diligent in his studies . . . keen intellect . . . culture and poise . . . wide field of knowledge."

Mrs. Kreider, the former Elda Hostetler, of Harper, Kansas, graduated from Goshen College in 1937 with the degree, Bachelor of Science in Education. She prepared for her duties of homemaking by majoring in home economics and teaching that subject for several years before her marriage to Mr. Kreider. During her undergraduate years she was a member of a number of organizations and served in several executive positions—member of the Y.W. cabinet, Christian Workers' Band, Peace Society, French Club, Audubon Society, Maple Leaf staff, A Cappella Chorus, Ladies' Chorus, and president of the Home Ec. Club during her senior year.

Mr. and Mrs. Kreider are the parents of four children—two boys and two girls.

URGENT

At the beginning of the present fiscal year, September 1, 1950, the Alumni Association adopted a slogan, "EVERY ALUMNUS a CONTRIBUTOR THIS YEAR." The officers of the Association, the administration of the College, and the Building Committee trust that EVERY ALUMNUS will take this slogan seriously and make a contribution This Year, no matter how small. We are certain that many more of you expect to make a contribution before August 31, but the Building Committee needs the money now. The fiscal year ends August 31, 1951, but the Committee needs the money right now.

The present situation presents a real need. This need furnishes a fine opportunity for alumni who have not sent their contribution this year to show their loyalty by providing badly needed housing for students. The new dormitory will provide room for nearly 100 young women. Let's let the men move back into Coffman Hall!

EVERY ALUMNUS A CONTRIBUTOR THIS YEAR

Picture at left presents an airview of the campus and the area beyond. The white lines in right foreground indicate the location and approximate size of the new dormitory for women.

PROGRESS ON NEW DORMITORY

It is fascinating to watch the workmen employed on the new dormitory—placing electrical conduits and stringing the wires through them, installing window frames, setting doors, running heat lines, roughing in plumbing, putting up lathing, building scaffolding, mixing mortar, and performing the hundred and one necessary operations to keep the work moving along.

By June 27 bricklaying had been completed to the top of the windows on the top floor. Before this News-Letter reaches you, bricklaying will be finished. Brickmasons have been working inside on the room partitions whenever rainy weather interfered with the bricklaying on the outside. The walls in approximately half of the rooms on the second floor are started and the room layouts taking shape. All of the conduits for the electric wires are now in position on the second floor and the wires have been drawn through them.

Room partitions on the second floor will be completed first so as to bear the weight of the partitions on the third. After the blocks for the room partitions have been laid on both floors, plastering will begin on the third floor. Only the ceilings will be plastered at present. Walls will be left rough for the first year that the building is in use.

The plumbers, L. B. Frey & Sons, of Pettisville, Ohio, are doing a superb job of installation. Ernest Frey x32 is foreman. One of the workmen is Glen Miller w51, son of Mrs. Charles Miller (Bessie Luella Frey x28), of Wauseon, Ohio. Plumbing that threatened to hold up the plastering will be roughed in by the first week of July. The heat lines are completed on the second and third floors. Two bathtubs have been delivered.

Some of the window frames are now installed and half of the doors set on the second floor. Lathing on the second floor has been completed, and work is beginning on the third.

Three men in an M.R C. Voluntary Service Building Unit are doing excellent work building scaffolds, mixing mortar, and serving as tenders for the brickmasons. The unit at the end of June consisted of Jake Birky, of Manson, Iowa; Joseph Graber, of rural route four, Kokomo; and Clair Hostetler, of Smithville, Ohio.

One of the urgent needs continues to be skilled workmen to rush the building to completion. Another primary need is money. The Building Committee and the administration of the College are very grateful to the class presidents who have helped to get under the load of raising money by sending out letters to their classmates soliciting funds for the new building. They are also deeply grateful to the large number of alumni who have responded to the appeal of their presidents. But the Building Committee still needs $15,000 and must have it soon. The Building Committee would be worried about that $15,000 if they did not have confidence that alumni again will rise to this emergency and supply the necessary funds within the next month or six weeks.

An Ohio alumna in sending in a money order to help in the construction of the new dormitory for women stated: "I feel that my being able to live in a dorm at Goshen played a big part in making my college days so worth while and enjoyable. Although I will still be paying off my college debt for quite some time yet, I do want to have a part in the building program of the college. I know I will be well repaid as other students receive the benefits of dorm life at Goshen in future years."

M.C.C. FAR EASTERN OFFICE

The following contains extracts from a statement by President Ernest E. Miller 17 printed in an M.C.C. publication. It summarizes the results of one of President Miller's particular assignments in the Far East.

"The vision for a Far Eastern Office came to the executive secretary of the M.C.C. [Orie O. Miller 15] when he visited in these countries in the winter of 1949-50. He saw the necessity of a better integration of the relief efforts in these parts and the wisdom of doing so at a shorter range than through the Akron office. Efforts to realize this vision have resulted in the Hong Kong Center.

"Our Center is eight miles out from Kowloon, where we have taken from the Government on lease and repaired what was at one time a police station. . . . It serves, in the first instance, as a T.B. Contact Home for children. These children do not have T.B. but come from homes where some member of the family is afflicted. They remain here for a six-week period to make sure that they have not contracted tuberculosis, and are then inoculated by a government doctor with the new 'BCG' serum. . . .

"The Center is also the home of our Far Eastern Office. The M.C.C. now has workers in Formosa, Shanghai, Japan, Indonesia, India, and Hong Kong. It is expected that we may also open units in Indo-China and Korea. It is these units that the Far Eastern Office seeks to serve. . . .

"Neva White is the secretary of the Far Eastern Office. She distributes materials, edits newsletter, keeps files of correspondence, and attempts in many other ways to be useful to the workers in the area.

"This unit also serves as an agency to missionaries and relief workers by supplying them with medicines and food, and arranging for their passage and housing as they pass through. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stoltzfus [49] [Rosalie Garber x49] have charge of the missionary home, and he is the business agent for the unit."

DEAN BENDER IN EUROPE

Dr. Harold S. Bender 18, dean of the Goshen College Biblical Seminary, left Goshen by plane for New York City on June 14 to board a plane for Luxembourg the next day. He plans to remain abroad for six weeks in the interest of the Mennonite Central Committee and also to attend a program committee meeting to arrange for the Fifth Mennonite World Conference to be held at Basel, Switzerland, in 1952.

ELECTED MEMBER OF ASHA

In June of this year Roy Umble 35, Professor of Speech, received notice from the American Speech and Hearing Association that he is now a full member in that organization. This makes him a recognized clinician. Since 1947 he had been listed as an associate. Membership is based on professional training and clinical experience.

This summer Professor Umble is offering a course in Speech Correction for classroom teachers. The course will be offered also during the second semester, 1951-52.

SUMMER EUROPEAN TOUR

Eighteen North American students were selected for the 1951 tour sponsored by the Council of American and Affiliated Colleges. The group flew from New York on June 8 to Paris, France. They are spending six weeks traveling on the continent and in England and will follow with four weeks in a voluntary work camp in Germany or Belgium. Goshen College student members of the group are Roger Haines 54, of Elkhart, and David Yoder 54, of Shipshewana.

GINGERICH REVIEWS DIRECTORY

The following review, written by Professor Melvin Gingerich 26, appeared in a recent issue of the Mennonite Weekly Review:

"Another new Mennonite production is the GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY ALUMNI DIRECTORY of Goshen College, edited by John Umble of the College faculty. Professor Umble graduated from Goshen College in 1901 and for these fifty years has kept close contact with the Alumni Association, serving several terms as the president of the organization and in recent years serving as its secretary and as the editor of the Alumni Bulletin.

"In this 265-page bulletin are listed all faculty members who ever taught in Goshen College and all students who ever attended the institution. Someone went to the trouble to determine which name heads the list in the number of former Goshen students bearing it. More than 600 Yoders have attended Goshen College. Second to them are the Millers with 480. Ranking third are the Hostetlers with 150.

"The book is divided into two major sections. The first is the Elkhart Institute and Goshen College class lists, giving not only those who graduated but also the names of those who entered with the class and later dropped out. The second major section is an alphabetical list of all graduates and former students.

"The present addresses and occupations of Goshen's graduates and former students are also given. Several pages of campus pictures appear in the front of the book. Portraits of the thirteen men who have served as presidents of the Alumni Association begin with I. W. Royer, who was president in 1901. The present president of the Association is Dr. Carl M. Hostetler.

"This book will be used often by Goshen alumni. But others will be interested in it too. It can well serve as a model for other colleges which are considering a similar publication. Professor Umble is to be congratulated for completing successfully this painstaking project."

M.Y.F. MEETS ON CAMPUS

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Indiana-Michigan Mennonite Youth Fellowship, formerly the Indiana Literary Convention, was held in the College Union on June 16 and 17. Sessions were held Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday afternoon and evening.

The theme carried out through group singing, talks, and a debate in the Saturday afternoon sessions was "The Turn of the Century." On Saturday evening the group enjoyed the film, "Lo, I Am with Thee."

The Sunday afternoon session was devoted to a program by the M.Y.F. Chorus directed by Dr. Karl Massanari 36. The chorus program was built around the theme, "The Trinity," and was divided into four parts entitled, "The Father," "The Son," "The Holy Ghost," and "The Trinity." The chorus sang hymns and sheet music celebrating these aspects of the subject.

The Sunday evening program was as follows: Congregational Singing led by a representative of the Trefoil Youth Fellowship; Meditations in charge of C. Norman Kraus 46, of Topeka; Trio by the Emma Youth Fellowship; and an address by Stanley C. Shenk 44, of West Liberty, Ohio.

The officers for the past year were: president, Roscoe Miller 51, of Shipshewana; vice-president, Wayne North 52, of Nappanee; treasurer, John Mark Yoder w47, of Wakarusa; and secretary, Mervin Miller 51, of Goshen. Under the bylaws the vice-president becomes president for next year and the secretary becomes treasurer. Newly elected officers are Ronald Graber 52, of Elkhart, vice-president, and Mildred Graber 53, of Goshen, secretary.

Above are the members of the M.C.C. Executive Committee. The photograph was taken at their meeting held April 28 in Chicago. This was the first meeting in two years in which it was possible for all members to be present. Standing, left to right: H. A. Fast, C. F. Klassen, Harold S. Bender 18, C. N. Hostetter, Jr., president of Messiah Bible College. Seated: Orie O. Miller 15, P. C. Hiebert, J. J. Thiessen.

COLLEGE UNION SERVES SEWING CIRCLE

On Saturday, May 12, 1,000 members of Indiana-Michigan Missionary and Sewing Circles met on the campus for their annual meeting. The day was spent in inspirational addresses, reports of relief needs in various parts of the world, and a challenge to further service in the mission field. Joseph D. Graber 25, secretary of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, gave one of the leading addresses on the question, "Shall We Not Go in Answer to His Bidding?"

The following foreign missionaries and relief workers were present: Mrs. Clifford Snyder (Doris Swartzentruber x44, 52), on furlough from Argentina; Marta Quiroga AA 51, representative of Evangelical Federation of Central Argentina; Mrs. Paul Conrad (Nancy Hernley 41), former worker in Egypt, Palestine, and Ethiopia, now appointed to the India mission; Anna Lois Rohrer 52, of the India mission; Mrs. Dana Troyer (Verna Burkholder 43), recently returned from India; and Mrs. Eugene Blosser (Louella Gingerich 47), recently returned from China.

ALUMNI SERVE UNDER M.B.M.C.

The following officers were elected or re-elected at the annual meeting of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities early in June: John H. ### TO SPEND SUMMER IN CHICAGO HOSPITAL

Dr. and Mrs. Richard J. Yoder 45 (Rosalie Hooley 46) plan to move to Chicago in August where Dr. Yoder will spend a year of service in the Chicago Lying-In Hospital. Dr. Yoder is in the midst of a four-year training program at the City Hospital of Akron, Ohio, specializing in the field of obstetrics and gynecology. He has completed his first year of residency following his internship. After spending a year in Chicago, he will have two additional years in the hospital at Akron. His daughter, Gretchen, is now fifteeen months old. Their summer address will be: 732 South Walnut Street, Orrville, Ohio.

CHURCH EDITOR CRITICIZES BOOK

The following book review written by Paul Erb, former professor of English at Goshen College and now editor of the Gospel Herald at Scottdale, Pennsylvania, appeared in the Gospel Herald and also in the Mennonite Weekly Review. Joseph W. Yoder taught at the Elkhart Institute in 1900-01.

Amish Traditions, by Joseph W. Yoder; Yoder Publishing Company, Huntingdon, Pa.; 1950; 215 pp.; $2.25.

In two previous books—Rosanna of the Amish and Rosanna's Boys—we saw J. W. Yoder as one who was sympathetically explaining and describing the Amish way of life. There were some who felt that in his desire to show what good people the Amish are the author was blind to their faults, so that his books were somewhat unreal in their idealism. But since the Amish are so often caricatured and misrepresented in popular treatments, the defense was probably in order.

In Amish Traditions, however, the defending attorney has gone over to the prosecution. Here the author is addressing, not a misunderstanding public, but what he thinks are his greatly mistaken brethren. It is a severe and amazing lecture to home folks for the purpose of correcting their faults. The author, who all along claims that he is still an Amishman, berates his brethren for their division into eight strata because of "man-made rules." He would have them change their methods of ordination, their distinctive dress, their condemnation of modern inventions, the social habits of the young folks, the use of the ban, the language of their worship, their proscribing of higher education, modern hymnology, Sunday schools, and missions.

This reviewer felt an embarrassment in reading the book, such as he would have felt in listening to a family quarrel. Granted that there are some faults to be corrected, the method used here will hardly accomplish that end. One does not change people for the better by scolding them and telling them how ignorant they are. The mutual understanding for which the author pleads will not come about through the spirit of criticism which prevails in the book.

Particularly to be regretted is the sally into Biblical exposition which tries to explain away the prayer veil. Denying that I Cor. 11 is written by inspiration, this exposition maintains that Paul held woman in low esteem. Worse yet, it makes the great apostle set up an argument and then turn around and say he doesn't mean a word of it. To the serious Bible student the doctrine of the devotional covering looks none the worse for this word-twisting. The expositor must know that the church in which he says he holds his membership cannot and will not follow him in his strange interpretation. Nor does any exegete of recognized ability.

The Amish will not buy this book. It is not recommended to Mennonites. And we can only hope that it will not mislead the general public who are trying to understand the underlying spirit of the Amish-Mennonite tradition.—Paul Erb.

NEW BOOK ON MENNONITES IN WARTIME

Willard D. Hunsberger 50, formerly of Blooming Glen, Pennsylvania, is the author of a book, The Franconia Mennonites and War, just off the Herald Press at Scottdale, Pennsylvania. This 140-page volume, approved and sponsored by the Peace and Industrial Relations Committee of the Franconia Mennonite Conference, tells the story of the successes and failures of members of the conference in witnessing to their nonresistant faith in peacetime and wartime since the founding of the first congregation at Germantown in 1683.

Part I considers "The Franconia Mennonites in Early American Wars." Part II, the last six sevenths of the book, presents "The Franconia Mennonites in World War II." A small portion of the material is a well-documented compilation from secondary sources but a major portion is based on records, minutes, and similar original documents. The book is dedicated to Bishop "John E. Lapp, who first conceived the idea of this volume, and who has performed many generous and unrecorded acts for the cause of the conscientious objector." An appreciative "Introduction" by the Peace and Industrial Relations Committee of Franconia Conference, follows the author's "Preface."

Part I contains a brief impartial sketch and a critical examination of the peace witness of the Franconia Mennonites to the end of World War I. Sixteen drafted men took the C.O. position in W.W.I.; five accepted military service. Upon confession two of the latter were reinstated into church fellowship. The conference was active in relief work following the war. In memory of Clayton Kratz who gave his life in Russia, the conference has established a Clayton Kratz Fellowship "to assist young people financially in preparing for Christian service."

Part II, the more interesting and valuable portion of the book, is a well-illustrated, well-documented account of conference activities during World War II as well as of "Postwar Activities" and of the "Continuing Witness." This detailed account could serve as a model for similar studies in other conference districts.

The style of the book is informal and not always free from rhetorical errors. The frequent instances of author's comment stand out awkwardly in a historical account. In a few cases the word choice could be improved. One example of a rhetorically faulty sentence and of unfortunate word choice occurs at the top of page 35. A similar example stands out in the middle of page 30. There are others.

The author is to be commended for complete, accurate coverage of all phases of his subject, even "C.P.S. Romances." Illustrations, maps, charts, tables, a bibliography, and an appendix enhance the value of the book. Some readers will miss a more complete table of contents. An index would be desirable for ready reference. All in all, however, the volume is a valuable addition to the growing body of American Mennonite literature.

PEACE SOCIETY DEPUTATIONS

LeRoy Kennel 51, chairman of the Peace Teams of the Goshen College Peace Society for the past year, submitted an interesting report at the end of the year. During the year, between December 10 and May 27, teams organized, trained, and routed by Mr. Kennel traveled a total of 4,077 miles. They held 37 meetings and spoke to audiences totaling 3,830 people. He organized 27 teams with a total personnel of 95 people. The entire expenses were paid by freewill offerings ranging from $5.00 to $52.50. At five of the programs no offerings were lifted. The teams gave programs in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan. Everywhere the teams met with a hearty reception and on nearly every occasion received a cordial invitation to return next year.

DEPUTATION TEAMS IN DEMAND

During the past season three male quartets and a large number of speakers have been in demand for programs in the local community. One of the leaders was the Excelsior Quartet composed of Leonard Hurst 52, of Goshen; Robert Smith 52, of Eureka, Illinois; James Brownsberger 51, of Toronto, Ontario; and James Greiner 51, of Goshen.

Another was the newly organized Sophomore Quartet which spent the early part of the year preparing a repertoire and then began its service in January with a program at the brick church west of New Paris. This group, Russell Liechty, of Archbold, Ohio; Joseph Kauffman, of West Liberty, Ohio; Verlin Eash, of Archbold, Ohio, and Dale Weldy, of Elkhart, served on a number of programs during the remainder of the year and were highly complimented not only for their singing but also for the spiritual tone of their service.

The accompanying picture shows a third quartet which saw considerable service during the year, especially in Peace Deputation work. Members of the quartet, left to right, are Clyde Landes 53, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Landes, of Lansdale, Pennsylvania; Wayne North 52, son of Rev. and Mrs. Homer North w13, of Nappanee; Don Driver 51, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Driver, of Hesston, Kansas; and LeRoy Kennel 51, son of Bishop and Mrs. Peter Kennel, of Shickley, Nebraska. The men standing at the right and the left of the quartet are pastors of Methodist churches in Lagrange County for whom the group here pictured gave a series of programs morning, afternoon, and evening at four different churches. Seated are Wha Sook Suh 51, of Seoul, Korea; Johan van den Berg x54, of Baarn, the Netherlands; and Paul Verghese 53, of Tripunittura, India. All three of the latter gave many addresses throughout the year to church groups, youth groups, service clubs, and women's organizations.

BIRTH RATE AMONG COLLEGE GRADUATES INCREASING

For several years Goshen College has been participating in the population studies of the Population Reference Bureau at Washington, D.C. Each year the Bureau sends out questionnaires to 25-year and 10-year graduates. Returns of this year's study indicate that the women of the Goshen College Class of 1926 stand second among 121 colleges reporting. The number of children per graduate is 2.10, and the number of children per married graduate is 3.50.

For some undiscovered reason the men of the class of 1926 were omitted from the final tabulatious although they had been reported by the Alumni Office,

The average number of children reported for the men of the class of 1941 is 1.97. Part of the credit for this excellent record is due to the Joseph H. Garber family who reported eight children. The 24 women of the class of 1941 of whom only 67% are married reported 1.00 child per graduate. This places the women of class of 1941 in 101st place among 140 colleges reporting.

The Population Reference Bureau has conducted an annual survey of the birth rates of college graduates for the past six years. These studies now show that the birth rates of both men and women college graduates have steadily increased from the class of 1936 to the class of 1941.

1941 collegians have been carrying the baby banner with unusual zest. Reports just received from over 18,000 of them show they came to their tenth reunions this month boasting of 1.42 children per alumnus and -.19 per alumna. The '41 men's families are 39% larger than those of 1936 alumni, who averaged but 1.02 at their tenth reunion six years ago. The women of '41 have 25% more babies than the .95 average of the alumnae of 1936. This postwar collegiate family rise gives encouraging promise of future family-filled collegiate homes.

Six years of study of the birth rate among college graduates, with questionnaires sent to a total of over 190,000 graduates, show an average of 1.26 children per alumnus and 1.09 per alumna 10 years after graduation an average of 1.77 offspring per man and 1.28 per woman graduate.

The Population Reference Bureau considers it most desirable that the increase in the birth rate of intelligent people continue. Wide differences in size of families among the educated and the poorly educated still exist, and looking forward to an even more complex civilization in the future, the Bureau recommends a national economic, social, and educational program which will help to equalize birth rates among education groups in this and other countries.

In a recent article in the Mennonite Weekly Review, written by Mrs. Elva K. Leisy, wife of Dr. Ernest E. Leisy, Mennonite professor at Southern Methodist University and now a visiting professor of American Literature at the University of Vienna, occurs the following reference to the M. C. Lehmans: "It was with a real sense of home-coming that we visited the M.C.C. center here, far out where the trees grow tall and shady over the villa which it occupies. Since then the place has been given up because of the high rent and the Martin Wingerts have left for Salzburg to continue their kindly ministry there. . . . Mennonites will continue the work with refugee people and keep up especially the sewing room. The moving spirit of the group now will be Mrs. M. C. Lehman [05.] We enjoyed a cup of tea in their spacious apartment near Turkenschantz Park. As you know, the Lehmans are retired missionaries from India, acquainted with our workers there. Mr. Lehman [01] has been with the State department in Vienna since November, having been transferred from Berlin and Frankfurt where he spent several years. One room in their home is set apart for service to the needy. Friends in the States keep Mrs. Lehman well supplied with clothing and food, for which she finds abundant use. Strange people flow through her office, such as a wealthy girl reduced to filthy rags; an Austrian mother of two children helped back to Vienna by Mr. Lehman's office. How satisfying it must be to give succor to these exiles!"

PRESIDENT MILLER RETURNS

Faculty, students, and alumni are happy to welcome President and Mrs. Ernest E. Miller 17 back to the campus and to the city of Goshen. They left Goshen for Los Angeles on June 20, 1950, their thirty-second wedding anniversary, and returned to Goshen via New York on August 6, 1951.

President Miller served as commissioner-area supervisor for the Far East relief program of the Mennonite Central Committee. In this assignment he visited the various units now in progress, directed and co-ordinated their work, and gave encouragement as needed. In carrying out his assignments he visited Japan, the Philippines, Java, India, Hong Kong, Indo-China, Pakistan, Formosa, Burma, and Thailand, with stopovers in Singapore. En route home he and Mrs. Miller visited Lebanon, Jordan, Turkey, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Scotland, and England.

His years of service in India as missionary and school administrator had given him a wide acquaintance with missionaries and educators in many parts of the Far East. These connections gave him an entre into circles not only missionary and educational, but also political. Most of his contacts were with religious and educational leaders. By far the larger number of his contacts were with missionary and church personnel.

He spent considerable time in India where he visited the mission stations conducted by the various Mennonite groups and attended three meetings of the Mennonite Relief Committee of India.

On his visits to Java he assisted in organizing the local mission and relief work and served as a member of a committee appointed to conduct a survey of the needs of Dutch missionary societies and the Indonesian churches.

All of his contacts were related directly or indirectly to his major assignment as commissioner-area supervisor for the Far East relief program of the Mennonite Central Committee. This program spans a large geographic area from Tokyo to Delhi (5100 miles) and from Shanghai to Djakarta (3000 miles). During the past year the M.C.C. has maintained workers in India, Indonesia, the Philippines, Formosa, Japan, and in Shanghai and Hong Kong, China. The total population of this area is 1,085,000-000 or 53 per cent of the world's population.

The primary function of the Mennonite Central Committee is to help meet physical need "In the Name of Christ" in behalf of the churches in her supporting constituency. The M.C.C. also works in the area of rehabilitation. M.C.C. workers open classes and clinics where mothers may learn how to sew garments for their own children and how to bathe their babies and give them better care.

In Java M.C.C. is engaged in a program of church rehabilitation. Mennonite mission churches in Java were partly destroyed by the Japanese occupation, a holy Mohammedan war, and a period of revolution against the Dutch. M.C.C. has been giving regularly a monthly grant to the independent Bible school in Java.

The M.C.C. helps also in the integration of the separate Mennonite missions operating in the Far Eastern area. In India the M.R.C.I. (Mennonite Relief Committee for India) is bringing together foreign and national workers in the undertaking of certain common tasks. It serves as an advisory body to the M.C.C.

An organization similar to the M.R.C.I. has been set up in Japan where each of the three major Mennonite groups opened missions within the past year. President Miller was present at a meeting of representatives of these groups held in Tokyo last March.

President Miller states that the best contribution made by the Mennonite Central Committee to the needs of the Far East is in the excellent quality of her workers. He had hoped that a relief unit might be established in Korea and made repeated efforts to bring it about.

Mrs. Miller accompanied President Miller to Japan, the Philippines, and China and then spent a number of months in India with their daughter, Thelma 44 (Mrs. Weyburn Groff), and family. On June 7 of this year President and Mrs. Miller left India for the Near East and Europe. On this part of their journey they visited a considerable number of Goshen College alumni and attended several conferences in Europe.

ANNUAL FACULTY RETREAT

For several years the administrative officers and faculty members of Goshen College and their families have been spending the Labor Day week end at Little Eden Camp near Onekama, Michigan, for four days of Bible study, meditation, recreation, and fellowship.

This year, September 1-4, Lawrence Burkholder 39, Assistant Professor of Bible and Philosophy, conducted a series of studies in First Corinthians. Harold S. Bender 18, Dean of the Biblical Seminary and Professor of Church History, preached the sermon in the Sunday morning worship service.

The theme of the conference was "Christian Discipleship." Atlee Beechy 35, Dean of Men and Assistant Professor of Education, led the first session with a discussion of "Discipleship in Campus Community," and Melvin Gingerich 26, Director of Mennonite Research and Professor of History, the second on "Discipleship in Off Campus Community." President Ernest E. Miller closed the series, speaking on "Education for Making Disciples of All Nations."

A deep spirit of seriousness pervaded the discussions, and a warm feeling of fellowship prevailed throughout the conference. An expression heard frequently was, "This has been our best retreat."

Part of each afternoon was set aside for rest or recreation. The children enjoyed the lake. Professor Paul Mininger 34 and his family brought in the largest catch of perch. In the shuffleboard tournament finals Mary Oyer 45 and Mabel Brunk 47 lost to Professor and Mrs. Karl Massanari 36 (Christine Yoder x38) after eliminating successively the Miningers, the Burkharts, and the Hershbergers. The Administration, thanks to Beechy's pitching and President Miller's hitting and base running, defeated the Faculty in an exciting softball game.

EDUCATION FOR MAKING DISCIPLES OF ALL NATIONS

(An address delivered by President Ernest E. Miller on September 4, at the Faculty Retreat)

Foreign missions are only one part of the church's task, but they are a real part, and our program at this conference, as the committee well recognized, would not have been complete without this final step —discipleship in all the world.

At the Tambaram Meetings of the International Missionary Council held in India some years ago the phrase was coined, "The Resources of the Whole Church Are for the Whole World." While there is a distinction administratively between home and foreign missions, theologically there is no such distinction. There is only one church and that church fulfills its world mission according to a total strategy. There is only one church because there is only one Saviour.

Jesus, The Saviour of the World

The Gospel of John makes clear the claim of Jesus that He is the Saviour of the world. In the sixth chapter our Lord says, "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst." Here Jesus declares that He Himself is food sufficient to satisfy the driving urge of every hungering spiritual soul. He is the Bread of Life, able to satisfy the spiritual want of all races and of the peoples of all times.

Again in the eighth chapter of John, Jesus says, "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life." Here Jesus says that in the bleak darkness of this sinful world He is the source of a radiance which never will be extinguished but which will go on and on lighting up the dark corners of the earth.

So Christ is the basis for the church. It is He who calls the lost and saves them, and it is He who shepherds and cares for them amid trials and temptations and the turmoil of life. He alone is the basis of the Christian Church. "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid," namely, Jesus Christ. In the mind of Jesus, God was not alone His father but the father of all men. In that interpretation Jesus built on foundations deeply laid in the thought and life of the people of Israel.

He found in the Old Testament the beginning and the continuity of the expression of God's redeeming grace for everyone. It was in the Psalms. He found it in the prophets, Isaiah and Jeremiah. He could read in the words of Isaiah that it was God's ultimate purpose to establish the kingdom of righteousness among all nations. Jonah and Daniel were definitely missionary prophets. God had revealed Himself to the people of Israel through their history and through their wise men and through their prophets.

So in the mind of Jesus, Jehovah was a God of all times and for all people. God was constructing an everlasting kingdom in the midst of world empires which themselves might rise and fall but His kingdom went on under His providential care. "The eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to shew himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him."

No Boundary Lines Circumscribe the Gospel

This theme of the Old Testament was carried over in the New. "And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

There we have the preamble of the New Testament, and it runs as a golden thread through to the end. ALL of humanity was a part of God's purpose and a part of His work of creation and redemption. This creative and redemptive work of God runs through the Old Testament and through the New because, in the first place, it was in the heart of God Himself. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

When we proclaim the Gospel of Jesus we have no right then to narrow its application to any false boundary lines of our own. We can carry no race prejudice and no class prejudice. Jesus taught us that God had made of one blood all races and all tribes of people. They are all His sheep.

Today Jesus is at work everywhere in the world. I have found no place where He is not at work. He does not operate behind an "iron curtain." He is available to all men at all times.

Partners in a World-Wide Discipleship

And now in relation to all this and us, we are to be our Lord's followers. "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men." Jesus said this to His disciples and they followed Him wherever He went and in whatever He did. To follow Jesus is to obey Him.

But to obey Him is more than simply to carry out His commands. It means that we are to keep company with Him—we are to go with Him—and since HE went everywhere, it means going with Him whereever He is. "Follow me" is the call to discipleship which determines not only the nature of our task but also its scope.

No one has followed Jesus long without realizing that it is impossible to follow Him unless one is willing to follow Him both into big places and small —both into places near at hand and far away. Those who follow Him must be willing to stand for Him before kings and governors and before courts and councils, where big plans are being made and where often action is sought to silence our Christ.

But no less important is the willingness to follow Him in His concern for the obscure distress of those least of His brethren. When the Son of Man comes in His glory, He will be revealed as the one we ought to have followed and served, both when He was a stranger within our gates and a beggar at our door. Heroic service and humble kindness both belong to the disciple of Christ.

Educational Processes to Teach Discipleship

With the universalism of Christianity so established, the question before us then is what educational processes may be utilized which will help develop this concept in the minds of our students and produce in their hearts the conviction to become partners in this world-wide discipleship.

First and foremost in this process is the necessity for us to become acquainted with the life and teachings of our Lord and to experience forgiveness of sins in our own hearts. The real conviction to participate in any such world-wide program lies first in the fact that Jesus has forgiven our sins and that we are so grateful for this that we are not only ready but anxious in turn to have this joy shared with others who do not yet know Him.

"This have I done for thee. What hast thou done for me?" "The love of Christ constraineth us." Such an experience coupled with the recognition that what has happened to me can happen to anyone else anywhere in the world and can mean the same to him as it has to me is the real basis for any interest in any discipleship whether on the campus or in Goshen or in Obihiro in faraway Hokkaido or among the hill tribes of Formosa.

Bible Study

Next to the importance of this personal experience is the value of catching the spirit of the outreach of New Testament Christianity. This means Bible study. The expansion of Christianity was rapid and startling. Throughout the first century it was distinctly a new movement. It had all the vital power of a new movement. The sense of the immediacy of God in the Holy Spirit was vivid and thrilling and irresistible. The disciple must catch something of the spirit of this movement. To catch the spirit of this movement means an acquaintanceship with different facts of the Bible but especially with the Book of Acts.

In chapter one of this book is our Lord's geographic outline for the activities of His own followers. They were to begin in Jerusalem; they were to extend their efforts in Palestine and thence into the outer world unto the uttermost parts of the earth. The book indicates how by incidence the progress took place—in Jerusalem and witness-bearing in Judea, Samaria, and then in the work in Antioch and beyond. "Now there were in the church that was at Antioch certain prophets and teachers . . . . As they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the Holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them. And when they had fasted and prayed, and laid their hands on them, they sent them away. So they, being sent forth by the Holy Ghost, departed unto Seleucia; and from thence they sailed to Cyprus."

So the Gospel entered formally upon the third stage of the ascension program—going into the uttermost part of the earth. It is an acquaintanceship, firsthand, with the contents of the Book of Acts and other sections of the New Testament which will do much, very much, to bring about this conviction to carry our discipleship to all the world.

Contact with Christian Disciples

But there are still further things that may be done. Very helpful to bring about this conviction is bringing students into contact with Christian disciples of the whole world. Here one utilizes the principle which the late Professor Whitehead calls "developing the habitual vision of greatness." "Moral progress," he says, "is impossible apart from the habitual vision of greatness." We and our students need to be saved from triviality, but triviality is not really revealed until a vision of greatness makes the contrast clear.

Think what it means to put before young people, either through biography or in person, a towering figure like William Carey, David Livingstone, John Bunyan, John R. Mott, Dr. Kagawa, Djojodihardjo. If we provide our students with a steady stream of such experiences, we have done for them as fine a thing as we shall ever do. An isolated experience will not ordinarily suffice. Men are directed and lifted when the vision of greatness is habitual. This requires repeated opportunity for contact.

A more intimate contact and a more continuous fellowship with people of other races is also good education toward a world-wide discipleship. It would be helpful if all members of our faculty and students could visit foreign countries and live in fellowship with folks other than our own. If they could see the real physical and spiritual want of large sections of the peoples of the world, this misery, fear, hunger would be convincing. I have seen and heard.

Foreign service work had made this possible for some. But it is, of course, not possible for all. A more practical way although not so effective is to bring people of other races to our own campus and provide the opportunity for fellowship here.

Foreign Student Program

Our foreign student program is helping us to remain sensitive to the needs of other areas of the world. Through these students as symbols we have had the needs made real to us and as we have responded it has kept alive a compassion within our hearts that has extended across the sea in all directions. Our students have purchased magazines for fellow students in the universities of Germany. They have made contributions to hospitals in India and South America, and they have helped with money to rebuild Mennonite churches in Java.

Many of these students from other lands would have preferred to remain in America where everything is pleasant and comfortable, yet when they were confronted with the decision as to whether they might remain here or go back to help their people, they said, "Yes, we will go back." The fine work of Tina van der Laag in the center in Germany, Miss Kuitse, Walter Hodel, who manifested his witness against alcoholic beverages even if in no more of a magnificent way than saying, "Bring drei Glass Wasser." And the very fine example of Malagar in seeking not for a position in the high school but going out to do itinerant evangelism in the state of Kanker.

I rejoice in what our foreign student program has done for us, and I am happy in the prospect of the students we have on our campus now—the Japanese students who are here now, the students from Europe, Formosa, Indonesia, and India. This student program coupled with our students who enter the mission program is building an interracial Christian fellowship which projects Goshen College around the earth.

A Campus Witness

The final principle to which I would refer is that we and our students must be witnesses all along the line. A religious program to be healthy must have a continual outflow of energy from its campus. A campus religious organization which exists only for the profit of its own members is already dead. On the other hand, it can be a living, vital organization if it has an outlet in deputations, in service projects, in a variety of community and even world contacts.

We are to follow our Lord, and Jesus remained constantly active in His witness. A characteristic, descriptive phrase about Him is, "He went about doing good." Now the phrase characteristic of Him is not, "He went about," or "He went about doing," but "He went about doing good." He remained continually active in His Father's witness—up and down the roads and in cities, on mountains, by the sea, in the desert—sensitive always to the physical and spiritual needs of men and women and children, and ready always to bring to bear on their minds and hearts His and His Father's resources. That was our Master's work.

So let us, too, keep busy going about doing good, remaining sensitive to the needs of others, bringing to bear on their needs such talents God has entrusted to our care. This is an essential part of the whole process of learning.

Indeed, there are things we should be doing now with our hands—packing boxes, sewing garments, and shipping them to help meet the great needs of the world. And believe me, there is still much need in Palestine, in China, in Indo-China, in Korea, in India.

And there are still things we should be doing with our minds—writing books and sending letters of encouragement to friends hard pressed by strenuous or difficult circumstances on the frontiers of the work of the Christian Church. And there are still intercessory prayers to be offered for missionaries in Hokkaido, for crippled and wounded soldiers on the battlefield in Korea. And finally there are still things to be said.

So often we remain quiet when we do have a good opportunity to testify to the grace of our Lord and speak of His forgiving love or of His power. We miss the joy that comes from challenging men to goodness and repentance.

We have now the usual interesting year just ahead of us. The total freshmen are higher than we had anticipated—164. How soon, how very soon they will be on the campus. Their college venture will have begun. All these are somebody's son or daughter—may we find the strength and time to carry through for them the way we ought and the way we wish. One sees certain things creeping in.

Dr. Kagawa's good testimony was, "The Goshen students are different. Mennonite young people are different. I love Mennonite young people." It is that difference, that something that he felt that we have that we must retain. There are great pressures urging us to give up that difference and conform to the usual American pattern in social life, in dress, in athletics, in materialism, in secularization.

We must remain vigilant in an intelligent counterattack to these pressures and be fair to do for our students what is good Christian discipleship. This will not be easy. It will take work, thought, patience, and courage permeated through with sincere prayer. No one raises children without thought and prayer and discipline. We must understand that God has called us and that we are walking in His company. This alone will provide us with the necessary strength.

It is not an easy financial year. We have a dormitory unfinished which urgently needs to be completed. Our operational costs are up on account of increases of various kinds. The raising of donations to meet our operational costs will need to be a front line effort. This will mean less funds for capital improvements.

Again, we are in a sense in a desirable position. We have a superior teaching and administrative staff. This is not an occasion for boasting. This should make us all humble. For to whom much has been given, from him much is expected. Ours is a large stewardship.

ALUMNI CONTRIBUTIONS 1950-51

Well, alumni, our donations for the year 1950-51 are history, but the page we have written could be brighter. Alumni donations for this year as shown by the following table are the lowest in the four-year period beginning September 1, 1947, and ending August 31, 1951. One disturbing factor is the decrease in the number of alumni givers during 1951. The figure is the lowest since 1948. (See Table on page 9)

A few bright spots illuminate the page. Ten of the forty-eight classes represented in the comparative table summarizing Alumni gifts during these four years, contributed more in 1951 than they did in 1950, and three classes—1905, 1936, and 1951—reached a new high in their donations during the year just closed. The officers of your Alumni Association and the Administration of the College are profoundly grateful for every one of your gifts.

Now the 1950-51 year is past. The new fiscal year beginning on September 1, 1951, already is on the way. And your Alma Mater needs more contributions to complete the Alumni Memorial Dining Room as well as other areas of the building. We are confident that you will "keep up the good work" in 1951-52. The Building Committee badly needs eight or ten thousand dollars right now.

EBERSOLE REUNION AT COLLEGE CABIN

The descendants of the late Abram Ebersole, pioneer Mennonite minister of Sterling, Illinois, held a reunion at the Goshen College Cabin on the Elkhart River on Labor Day. Officers of the meeting were A. E. Kreider 15, president; and Mrs. Kenton Garman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Ebersole 01 (Lavonna Berkey 01), secretary. The group enjoyed a bountiful carry-in dinner and spent the afternoon in reminiscence and informal conversation. Abram A. Ebersole, of St. Louis, known to many of the older alumni, was the last surviving member of the older generation. He died at Hannibal, Missouri, during the past year.

The following officers were elected for the next three-year period: president, Ben Ebersole a10, of Elkhart; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Kenton Garman; additional members of the Planning Committee for the next reunion, Robert Kreider, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Kreider (Stella Shoemaker a16), Jeanette Landis x36, of Goshen, and Mrs. Howard C. Yoder (Ethel Good x24), of Wooster, Ohio. The reunion also elected a historian.

DR. SCHROCK IN RELIEF WORK

Dr. Alta Schrock, professor of biology, left on July 23 for Stuttgart, Germany. She will replace Miriam Bowers in the M.C.C.-I.R.O. team. Dr. Schrock has volunteered for a two-year period of Voluntary Service.

REV. SALZMAN RETURNS EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Salzman (Vinora Weaver 18) moved to Nappanee during the summer. They have been living at Upland, California, where Rev. Salzman has been pastor of the First Mennonite Church for the past ten years. Before moving to Upland, Rev. Salzman had been pastor of the Topeka, Indiana, Mennonite Church.

ADVANCED DEGREES

Mrs. Willard H. Smith (Verna Graber 28) was granted the degree, Master of Arts, in Spanish at the University of Wisconsin at the end of the Summer Session. Mrs. Smith has done about eighty-five hours of graduate and undergraduate work since she graduated and began her service as instructor at Goshen College more than twenty years ago. She has taught Latin, English, or Spanish during most of this period. Her new degree entitles her to the rank of Assistant Professor of Spanish.

Mrs. Smith has done graduate work in Latin at the State University of Iowa and graduate work in English at Indiana University. Her training in Spanish, besides private lessons in Asuncion, Paraguay, and a concentrated course in the Berlitz School of Languages in Buenos Aires, includes undergraduate work in the field at Goshen, Indiana University Extension in South Bend, and the University of Wisconsin. She also has done four summers of graduate work (the equivalent of a year) in Spanish at the latter university. Most of her teachers have been natives of Latin America or Spain.

John W. Miller 48, of Akron, Pennsylvania, received the M.A. degree in English at New York University in June. He also received the degree, Bachelor of Divinity, at Princeton Theological Seminary. In September Mr. and Mrs. Miller (Louise Heatwole 49) plan to leave for Basel, Switzerland, where Mr. Miller will continue his study of Old Testament at the University of Basel.

Lester J. Glick 49, formerly of Sugarcreek, Ohio, received the degree, Master of Arts, at Ohio State University on June 8. Mr. and Mrs. Glick (Doris Miller 46) are serving as superintendent and matron at Boys Village near Wooster, Ohio.

Paul S. Liechty 50 received the M.A. degree at Ball State Teachers College in June of this year. He was elected to membership in the honorary educational fraternity, Phi Delta Kappa, on May 26. Mr. Liechty is a member of the First Mennonite Church in Berne, Indiana, and is teaching grade six at Union City, Indiana. His address is rural route one, box 122, Berne, Indiana.

Ross Gerber 33, teacher in the Wooster, Ohio, city schools, received the Master's Degree in Education at Kent State University at the end of the summer.

Mary Kay Nafziger 47, instructor in the Division of Teacher Education at Goshen College, received the Master of Arts degree in the Summer Convocation, August 17, at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee. Miss Nafziger's adviser was Dr. Maycie K. Southall, a past president of the Association for Childhood Education International, now a member of the Advisory Board of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development of the NEA, and a member of the U.S. National Committee for UNESCO. Miss Nafziger's mother, Mrs. Anna Nafziger, head resident of Kulp Hall, also studied at Peabody this past summer in college personnel services and student counseling.

According to an announcement from the News Bureau of Kent State University, Dennis D. Miller, B.S. in Ed. 47, was granted the degree, Master of Education, with a major in Education-Administration at Kent State on August 31.

MOSEMANN, CHAPLAIN AT LA JUNTA

Clyde Mosemann 50, Th.B. 51, is serving as hospital chaplain at the La Junta, Colorado, Mennonite Hospital and Sanitarium. Mrs. Mosemann, the former Anna Martin Burkhart, R.N., is a graduate from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, General Hospital, class of 1941. Mr. and Mrs. Mosemann have a two-year-old son. During his period of study at Goshen College Mr. Mosemann had charge of the extension Sunday school at Lake Wawasee.

LA JUNTA AN EDUCATIONAL CENTER

A recent issue of the La Junta newspaper claims that the city is being overlooked as an educational center. Folks think of La Junta as a railroad center —as the home of the Koshare Indians—but La Junta claims to be a center of higher education. It has two substantial schools such as seldom are found outside of metropolitan centers—a school of nursing and a business college. In addition La Junta boasts a junior college. Every year, the article claims, 450 young people look to La Junta for their education. The following enrollments may surprise some of our friends who know La Junta only as the location of the Mennonite Hospital and the School of Nursing: La Junta Junior College—150; Junior College (on-the-farm-training)—200; Brown's Business College—50; and Mennonite School of Nursing—50.

Second and Third Floors and Main Part of Building Now Occupied. West Wing Rooms, Kitchen, Dining

PROGRESS ON THE NEW DORMITORY

When the freshmen arrived on September 6, a few rooms in the new dormitory were partially ready for occupancy. Miss Viola M. Good 39, Dean of Women, had the honor of being the first person to move into the building. She has occupied her apartment in the southeast corner of the second floor since Tuesday, September 4.

Plumbers connected a lavatory on the third floor rest room with the city water supply on Thursday evening, September 6, at 9:30. By Friday evening the hot water was running in one faucet. Carpenters had not finished the wardrobes, and the young women who kept moving into the third floor rooms during Freshman Days spent hours cleaning paint and putty from their windows.

Plastering, cementing, carpentering, and plumbing continued on the second floor all through Freshman Days and for days afterward. Everywhere, even as we go to press (September 10), on both floors temporary arrangements and expedients are in evidence, but the young women are happy at the prospect of living in that part of the "new dormitory" that is sufficiently completed so that it can be occupied.

Inside, on four areas of the building construction barely has begun: the eight living rooms on the second floor of the west wing, the kitchen and the dining room which occupy the entire first floor, and the wing that is to connect the new structure with Kulp Hall. At least $118,000 will be required to complete the building. This will not include furnishings and landscaping.

During the year ahead alumni will have further opportunity to demonstrate their loyalty to their Alma Mater and their interest in Christian education. The Building Committee has borrowed from Mennonite Buildings, Inc., all of the money that sound financing will permit. The entire amount, $118,000, needed to complete the building, must be raised by freewill contributions.

The officers of the Alumni Association have placed the 1951-52 alumni goal at $45,000. We can raise that amount if we will—if every alumnus contributes only ten dollars. Will we? Experience shows that only about one alumnus in three makes an annual contribution. That means that the group of loyal givers must average over thirty dollars. Is that too much to invest in Christian education in one year—less than a dime a day?

MENNONITE GENERAL CONFERENCE MEETS IN COLLEGE UNION

The Twenty-Seventh Biennial Session of the Mennonite General Conference met in the Union Auditorium August 21-24. The theme of the Conference was, "The Living Church in the World Today." Officers of the 1951 session were Oscar Burkholder, of Breslau, Ontario, moderator; Paul Mininger 34, of Goshen, assistant moderator; Amos O. Hostetler x25, of Topeka, Indiana, secretary; Charles B. Shoemaker a12, of Scottdale, Pennsylvania, treasurer; and Milo Kauffman, of Hesston, Kansas, fifth member of the Executive Committee.

Koch 45, of St. Jacobs, Ontario, "Building Christian Homes"; Ernest Bennett 47, of Elkhart, "A Systematic Plan for Financing the Program of the Church"; Dean Carl Kreider 36, "The Church and the Conflicting Ideologies of the World Today"; J. D. Graber 25, of Elkhart, "Making Nonresistance Live"; John C. Wenger 34, of Goshen, "Basic Issues in Nonconformity to the World"; and Allen H. Erb a x11, of La Junta, Colorado, "The Call to Discipleship." O. O. Miller 15, of Akron, Pennsylvania, gave the report of the Peace Problems Committee.

I. W. Royer 00, of Orrville, Ohio, and Clayton Beyler 43, of Hesston, Kansas, conducted two of the worship periods. Other prominent speakers were George R. Brunk, John L. Stauffer, and John R. Mumaw, of Harrisonburg, Virginia; C. F. Derstine, of Kitchener, Ontario; Milton G. Brackbill, of Paoli, Pennsylvania; and Nelson E. Kauffman, president of the Mennonite Board of Education, of Hannibal, Missouri.

Newly elected officers for the next biennium are Professor Paul Mininger, moderator; E. S. Garber, of Nampa, Idaho, assistant moderator; J. Robert Kreider 41, of Wadsworth, Ohio, treasurer; Amos O. Hostetler, secretary. Goshen alumni or faculty members elected to various committees are H. S. Bender 18, C. L. Graber x29, Guy F. Hershberger, Walter E. Yoder 33, John C. Wenger 34, and Melvin Gingerich 26.

The Conference featured John C. Wenger's new book, "Separated Unto God," published by the Herald Press of Scottdale, Pennsylvania, under the sponsorship of the General Problems Committee and the Publishing Committee of the Mennonite Publication Board.

The Conference decided to send representatives of the Mennonite Church to the Fifth Mennonite World Conference to be held at Basel, Switzerland, in August, 1952.

The 1951 General Conference was a delegates' meeting. The evening sessions were open to the entire brotherhood. On Wednesday and Thursday afternoons wives of ministers in attendance at the Conference met in a special session in Assembly Hall to discuss the duties and opportunities of the minister's wife in relation to his work and to the general program of the church.

WESTERN OHIO ALUMNI HOLD REUNION

By C. Kathryn Yoder 40

On Sunday, July 1, 1951, the Goshen College Alumni Association of the Western Ohio District held its annual meeting at the tenant farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Kauffman (Dorcas Yoder x30), five miles southwest of West Liberty.

The weather was perfect for the occasion. All picnic plans were unhampered and the group of fellow alumni, plus their families (if they be so fortunate or otherwise), partook of the bounteous basket dinner served under the boughs of the friendly oaks.

Seventy-eight adults and thirty-nine junior alumni were present, making a total of 117.

A short business session was held after dinner. Orrin J. Smucker x31, of Plain City, Ohio, was elected president, and Phyllis Yoder x42, of West Liberty, secretary-treasurer.

The following program was then given:

Group singing—led by D. Chauncey Kauffman 15

Talk—Karl Massanari 36, of Goshen College

In his talk, Karl gave us some information concerning present progress at Goshen College. It is most encouraging to know that Goshen College with her training program is turning out men and women who are serving the great and multiplied needs of the church in varied places throughout the world.

Remarks—John Umble 01, of Goshen College

(Note: The retiring officers who arranged for the large and highly successful reunion were Loren King 31 and C. Kathryn Yoder 40.—Ed.

ENTER MEDICAL SCHOOL

Ivan Miller 50, of Iowa City, Iowa, is attending the medical school of the State University of Iowa. After he was not accepted in the freshman class of 1950, he registered for graduate work at S.U.I. When he was admitted to medical school, he returned to Goshen to work at the Culp Funeral Home until school opened this fall.

William D. Pletcher 51, of Goshen, spent part of the summer at Little Eden Camp in northern Michigan. He is entering Northwestern University Medical School.

Ben Kenagy 51, of Albany, Oregon, also is entering Northwestern University Medical School. He spent the summer at his home on the farm.

E. Lavern Gerig 51, of Wayland, Iowa, after spending a summer harvesting wheat in the western states, has entered medical school at the State University of Iowa.

Merle Vogt 51, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Vogt 27, of Chandwa P.O., Palamau District, Bihar, India, is attending Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia after a summer spent in manual labor toughening up for the long grind ahead.

Donald Miller 50, son of President and Mrs. Ernest E. Miller 17 (Ruth Blosser 17), and Alvin Zeiset 47, of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, are entering Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia in September.

FRIESEN "PRACTICING MEDICINE"

Rev. John Friesen 38, minister-missionary stationed at the Mennonite Mission at Dondi, India, is in charge of the village dispensary. On account of the lack of a properly qualified physician to do the work, John is "learning the practice of medicine" in a very practical manner. In a recent letter he writes:

"I have been having twenty-five to thirty patients every day for some time, mostly people with bad ulcers that one has to take time out and wash and wash. For the past two weeks the wards were more than full. . . . Saturdays I generally have about sixty. . . .

"Last Saturday I was a bit flustered. Just as I was all nicely salted down for my nap, I heard someone walking around trying to get attention. . . . I went out to find out what was the matter. He said that his mother had been knocked over by a stampeding cow in the bazaar and her lip was all torn. She was surely a mess. Her two lower front teeth had to be pulled out. The upper ones had punctured her lower lip so that it drooped like a piece of overripe papaya.

"Since I had no cocaine and since they just couldn't see how they could go to Balodgahan or anywhere else, and since I had no front spring (in the car), I gave her a big shot of penicillin and taped her mouth up so she would not stretch her lower lip and sent her home. She just about scared me yesterday when she came and wanted more medicine. Her tape had been jerked off but even so she didn't look too bad.

"Also on Saturday I had to take care of a boy who had been kicked by a horse. Strike number one hit him in the thigh, number two caught him in the temple and knocked him out and made a big hole. We surely need someone who can do a better job than I."

FORMER COLLEGE SECRETARY TO ENTER VOLUNTARY SERVICE

Grace C. Miller 48 is receiving shots and making other preliminary preparation to leave in September for two years of service in material aid distribution out of Hamburg, Germany, under the Mennonite Central Committee. Miss Miller has taught school for several years and also served as secretary and bookkeeper in some of the College offices.

A WORD FROM PASTOR BRINGAS

One of the tasks successfully completed by President Miller during his period of service in the Far East last year was to transfer from M.C.C. direction, as a relief unit, the Bangued Christian Hospital to sponsorship by the Northwest Luzon Conference. Pastor Pablo Bringas, who spoke at Goshen College when he visited the United States, wrote recently:

"We are happy to report that during these six months the hospital has been going on ministering to the sick people who have come to seek help. Your turning over to us the Bangued Christian Hospital is one of the finest expressions of Christian love and witness of the Mennonite churches to their Filipino brethren. We cannot, we could not ever repay you for such Christian kindness."

OPENS OFFICE IN WAKARUSA

On July 2, Dr. Robert Abel x45 opened his office for the general practice of medicine in the Calvin Lienhart building in Wakarusa. Dr. Abel completed his medical preparation at Indiana University, interned in Indianapolis General Hospital, and took additional work at the hospital in Indianapolis. Dr. Abel is the son of Mrs. Ralph Abel, of near Wakarusa.

Dr. and Mrs. Abel and children, Nancy and Robert, are at home in their residence recently purchased from Mrs. Iva Eicher. Mrs. Abel, the former Betty Ann Hattery, R.N., completed a nurse's training course in Indianapolis General Hospital. She is assisting her husband in the office.

BEGINS PRACTICE IN GOSHEN

Frederick W. Bigler, M.D., x43 opened an office in Goshen for the general practice of medicine at his residence, 307 South Seventh Street, on August 10. His office hours Monday through Saturday are 10:00 to 12:00 a.m. and Tuesday through Saturday 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. His office is closed on Monday afternoon.

Dr. Bigler began his premedical work at Goshen College in the year 1940-41. He was graduated from Indiana University Medical School in 1950 and served his internship at Indianapolis General Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Bigler reside at 307 South Seventh Street. Mrs. Bigler is the former Donna Stoller of Goshen. They are the parents of two children, Michael and Nancy.

ADDITIONAL GRADUATES

During the summer the faculty voted to grant degrees on August 3 to the following students in addition to those printed in the July NEWS-LETTER: Ida Louise Sutter, of Portland, Oregon, Bachelor of Arts, Bible major; Wanda Shumaker, of West Liberty, Ohio, Bachelor of Science in Education; and Beulah E. Slaubaugh, of Wellman, Iowa, Bachelor of Science in Education.

They also voted to grant the Bachelor of Science in Education degree to Mrs. Nedra J. Dudley, of Rolling Prairie, Indiana, on January 25, 1952, on completion of all requirements.

PLAN FOR FIFTH WORLD CONFERENCE

Dr. H. S. Bender 18, dean of the Goshen College Biblical Seminary, met with the Planning and Program Committee for the Fifth Mennonite World Conference in June to complete program plans for the Conference to be held next year, August, 1952, at Basel, Switzerland. Each Mennonite group in North America is to select its own delegates, one for each one thousand members. The Mennonite General Conference in session at Goshen College August 21-24 arranged to send five delegates and authorized various conferences, boards, and committees of the church to send up to forty-five more.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY DIRECTORY

The Alumni Office continues to receive expressions of thanks and appreciation from alumni for the 1951 Directory. One alumnus writes:

"Thanks for the Alumni Directory. I have spent pleasant hours in it refreshing memories and gathering new information. You have done a fine job of editing. The innumerable details are, as far as my information goes, correct and the cross references clear and helpful in quickly getting the information sought."

Over 2500 copies of the Directory have been mailed. The few copies still on hand will be mailed to alumni who request them.

CORRECTIONS IN DIRECTORY

Mrs. W. B. Christophel (Alta Kurtz 02), of 527 Lincoln Way East, Mishawaka, Indiana, writes that she found the Anniversary Directory very interesting and that she especially enjoyed the Elkhart Institute section. The editor is indebted to Mrs. Christophel for pointing out several errors in the Directory.

Orvin Kurtz x00 (page 154) died in December, 1938. He lived near Fairview, Michigan, for thirty years prior to his death.

Hilda Louise Kurtz x33 (page 210) is Mrs. Elmer Troyer. The wife of Lee Roy Kauffman x31 (page 206) is Freda Kurtz. Both Hilda and Freda Kurtz were daughters of Orvin Kurtz.

Cora Kercher x99 (page 154) was a college teacher of language in Montgomery, Alabama, for twenty-five years or more. She retired a year ago and is now living in Goshen.

The Anna Christophel mentioned on page 22 is not Mrs. E. S. Mullet but a second or third cousin of Mrs. Mullet who was another Anna Christophel mentioned correctly as a Normal School graduate on page 19 of the Directory. Mrs. Mullet is a sister of the late Dr. W. B. Christophel.

The notation on page 15 regarding Mrs. Laura (Timmons) Helfrick 99, of 123 Riverside Drive, Elkhart, is incorrect. Mrs. Helfrick is living at this address and is the mother of Margaret J. Helfrick who received the B.A. degree at Goshen College last June.

The Directory does not give complete information on Mrs. Edna (Holderman) Fromm 05 (page 26). Edna Holderman married Mr. Fromm and lived in Germany. During World War II Mr. Fromm was shot by Russians who occupied his large bakery. Mrs. Fromm then came to America, but within the last year she returned to Germany in Russian-occupied territory because she had her property there. Several cousins have received letters from Mrs. Fromm since her return to Germany.

The editor is indebted to Rev. Paul E. Whitmer 05, of Bluffton, Ohio, for two corrections in the Directory.

Isaiah Rickert a15, listed as living, died four years ago. The Edwin Rickert listed as of Connersville, Indiana, never attended Goshen but graduated from Wooster fifteen years before the date given. The Edwin Rickert who is an alumnus of Goshen College came to Goshen from Youngstown, Ohio, and returned to the same city.

The editor would appreciate receiving other corrections which certainly need to be made.

PROFESSOR DANIEL S. GERIG RETIRES

Beginning in June with the close of the last school year at Goshen High School, Daniel S. Gerig, former professor of German at Goshen College for many years, retired as teacher of social studies in the High School.

Phillip D. Yoder 40, of Goshen, who has his master's degree in history and social science from the University of Arizona, has been chosen to succeed Professor Gerig.

For several years the committee has tried to engage Karl Robinson. He has traveled extensively in Japan and other points in the East. The recent establishment of a Mennonite mission in Japan has aroused considerable interest in that country.

For many years the committee has arranged an illustrated lecture for the entertainment of home-comers. Some of them will welcome this year's high-class home-coming musical number. The appearance of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in Goshen marks a new milestone in the musical history not only of the College but of the City of Goshen itself.

Sam Campbell, widely known, is always popular. No Goshen auditorium, not even the College Union, is large enough to accommodate those who will wish to hear him. The Apollo Boys' Choir was one of the most popular numbers presented on the Goshen College Series in recent years.

The members of the Lecture-Music Committee are Professors Willard Smith 28, chairman; Melvin Gingerich 26, Roy Umble 35, S. W. Witmer 14, John C. Wenger 34, Walter E. Yoder 33, and Leland Bachman 38.

WELDY SPENDS SUCCESSFUL SUMMER IN MUSIC INSTRUCTION

During the past summer five Ohio Mennonite churches enjoyed an eight-week course of music instruction under the direction of Dwight Weldy 40, Assistant Professor of Music. He conducted classes one evening a week at the Crown Hill, North Lima, Berlin, Louisville, and Orrville churches. On Sunday evening, August 19, he conducted a hymn sing at the Salem Mennonite Church near Dalton, and on the following Sunday afternoon a joint song fest in which the five churches participated. My recovery during the next days was very satisfactory until April 29. About 9:30 a.m. I began getting fainty, breathless, etc. Both became more prolonged plus unconscious spells for the next five hours. The doctors pronounced it 'embolism' in which a blood clot enters the blood stream and in my case was making its way to the heart. After that five-hour struggle it pleased the Lord to give me life. The clot had settled on my left lung. But in six days' time it was completely dissolved as revealed by an X ray.
> "Once again aided by blood transfusion, injection, etc., my progress was satisfactory when on May 7 my left leg became very painful and swollen. The doctor pronounced it phlebitis; so for over seven weeks I was again flat on my back, my leg on a pillow with wet towels around it. After the danger period was over the doctor slowly lowered it, also giving me at the same time exercises. Finally I was able to sit up, then get on the chair. Then on July 6, exactly eleven weeks after I had entered the clinic, I was able to come home. However, I'm in bed most of the time. I go to the table to eat meals but someone always helped me until yesterday. As a definite answer to prayer I am now able to go alone. My leg is still rather swollen and sore but I await His will as to its complete healing.

> "Our little daughter is just fine, growing and developing as any normal three-month-old baby will. She has dark blue eyes and black hair. Her three brothers are very proud of her. Ever since we've been home the boys are having their midwinter vacation; so they have been enjoying her all day long. . . .
> "Sam is as busy as ever endeavoring to attend as best he can the outstations as well as the services and work here at Nam Cum. He is eager to get started with the schools, both secular and Biblical. He with an Indian helper went 75 miles north to La Argentina today. At this colony as well as at least four others the Indians have asked him to come and hold services. We are glad that the Buckwalters plan to come the last of August so that more places can be reached. Truly now, as in Christ's day, the harvest is great but, oh, so few laborers. Several weeks ago there was a group of five baptized at League 17. Then a week later ten were baptized at League 15. On that Sunday also communion services were held and three couples were married."

Ford Berg 45 has been elected secretary of the Southwestern Pennsylvania Mission Board succeeding M. J. Livengood who held that office for twenty-two years.

The Mennonite Central Committee has approved a project to translate Sunday-school and summer Bible school materials into the French language. The work of translating and adapting the materials will be in charge of Mary Byler 45, worker at the Weiler Children's Home in France for four years, and Mrs. Pierre Widmer, wife of the French Mennonite minister. Miss Byler's former home was West Liberty, Ohio.

PROGRESS ON THE NEW DORMITORY

By mid-October ninety-seven young women were living on the second and third floors of the main part of the dormitory. Since only part of the forty rooms occupied by these young women were intended for three in a room, the dormitory is overcrowded. Miss Viola M. Good, dean of women, and Mrs. Laura Weaver, housekeeper, also occupy second-floor rooms.

Second- and third-story wardrobes still lack doors; in fact some rooms lack their full complement of wardrobes. Not all of the fixtures have been installed in the rest rooms and laundry. None of the floors have received their final coating of asphalt blocks.

Construction on other parts of the building is proceeding as rapidly as funds and materials become available. In mid-October the laying of the floor in the basement under the kitchen was being delayed on account of the shortage of cement.

During the excellent October weather, bricklayers were completing the area-way connecting the new dormitory and the Health Center. They also were laying the outside walls of the men's cloakroom east of the Health Center, and the vestibule of the main entrance to the dormitory from the Main Street side and from the campus.

Considerable work remains to be done. The window frames in the dining hall have been tied into place temporarily until the mason work fastens them securely. All of the interior work in this hall remains to be finished—floors, walls, ceilings, plastering, wiring, plumbing, heating.

The kitchen, the storage basement under the kitchen, the dormitory rooms on the second floor of the west wing, and the installation of the hot water boiler still are to be completed. The roofs over the men's waiting room and the vestibule also are unfinished. To complete the dormitory with the dining room will require nearly one hundred and ten thousand dollars. This does not include furniture and equipment.

President Miller and the Building Committee are proceeding with construction as rapidly as conditions warrant. They are confident that Alumni will come to the aid of their Alma Mater as they have been doing in the past few years. But construction could proceed more rapidly if an additional ten or fifteen thousand dollars were on hand right now.

Even in its present unfinished state the dormitory is the happy home of enough women students so that the men have been able to return to Coffman Hall. It is already evident, however, that housing now available does not afford enough room for the present student body. Nearly thirty men and an equal number of women are rooming off the campus. The increased interest in nurse's training and in the courses in elementary and secondary education already indicates that more housing will be needed.

It is possible that Selective Service will reduce the number of men students by the year 1952-53. Otherwise the need for more housing is immediate and will become more urgent as the years go by. The present attitude of Selective Service toward college work for young men seems to promise that the serious student will be permitted to continue his college course without interruption. If this is the case, more housing will become an imperative need on the Goshen campus.

FACULTY GRANTS TWO MORE 1951 DEGREES

At the regular faculty meeting on October 22, Dr. Paul Bender, registrar, announced that two delayed transcripts of members of the Class of 1951 had arrived in his office. The faculty granted the degree, Bachelor of Science in Nursing, as of August 3, 1951, to Lona Marie Deter x50, of rural route three, Sterling, Illinois, and to Mrs. Peter E. Grafton (Mary Lou Jessup x49). of St. Luke's Hospital, 1500 Indiana Avenue, Chicago 5, Illinois.

GOSHEN COLLEGE LENDS DEAN KREIDER TO I.C.U.

On October 15, Dr. Maurice E. Troyer, vice-president of the Japan International Christian University, Mitaka (Tokyo), Japan, gave the following release to the Associated Press.

"Dr. Carl Kreider, Dean of Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana, recently accepted appointment as Dean of the College of Liberal Arts in the International Christian University now being organized in Japan, according to announcements made jointly in Japan by President Hachiro Yusa, and in this country by Vice-President Maurice E. Troyer. As Dean, Dr. Kreider will have responsibility for staff selection and program development in the four-year undergraduate Liberal Arts school.

"Dr. Kreider received his Master's Degree in Economics in 1938 from Princeton University where he won a teaching fellowship and the Theo N. Sanxay Fellowship in Practical Ethics. He studied a year at the London School of Economics under the Mary Campbell Traveling Fellowship; was on the staff of the Brookings Institution from 1939-40 under a Field Research Fellowship; and completed his Ph.D. Degree in Economics at Princeton University in 1941.

"Since 1940, Dr. Kreider has been teaching at Goshen College and since 1944 he has been its Dean. Last year he served as Acting President. Aside from his regular duties at Goshen, he has been visiting lecturer at Indiana University and the University of Minnesota; Director of the Workshop in Higher Education at the University of Minnesota during the summer of 1949; and consultant at workshops in General Education at the Universities of Minnesota and Chicago. In addition, during the last two years he has conducted camps for businessmen in the study of Christian and democratic values in human relationships. Dr. Kreider was also Co-ordinator for the Committee on Liberal Arts Education of the North Central Association of Colleges during the years 1948-50.

"Dr. Kreider will continue as Dean of Goshen College during the fall semester and will give one fourth of his time to faculty selection for the new International Christian University. In February, 1952, he will move with his family to Japan where he has been loaned by Goshen College to give three years to the organization and development of the program of General Education and advance preparation in the lower and upper divisions of the College of Liberal Arts in the International Christian University at Mitaka (Tokyo), Japan."

On October 2-4 and again on October 20 Dean Kreider had a conference with Dr. Troyer in New York relative to the selection of a faculty and other matters.

Four colleges are planned for the International Christian University. In addition to the College of Liberal Arts (for which Dr. Kreider has been designated Dean) there will also be graduate Colleges of Education, Public Administration, and Social Work. The College of Liberal Arts will be designed to provide a model program of General Education both for the Japanese student who will be registered in it and for professors in other Japanese colleges who will observe its work.

Prior to the American occupation of Japan, American concepts such as liberal arts and general education were unknown terms in Japan. Higher education in Japan was patterned largely after the highly specialized programs which characterized the German universities. As a result of American suggestions, general education is now required by law in all Japanese colleges.

To make such a program operate effectively it is highly important that it be built around Christian ideals, and for that reason the developing program of the College of Liberal Arts of the I.C.U. is of crucial importance. Dr. Kreider's experience with general education in the United States and his mature Christian convictions make him the logical choice to direct their new program. It was the realization of this fact that caused Goshen College to be willing to lend him for this purpose.

"I am going to Japan to work myself out of a job," Dr. Kreider stated recently. "As soon as trained people can be developed in Japan, most of the key posts in the University should be turned over to qualified Japanese personnel. It is my firm conviction that my successor there can be found within the three-year period. I then plan to return to Goshen College to bring the maturing experiences of the work in Japan to assist me as I continue in the task of building a strong program of general education in Goshen College. At the same time, my experiences abroad should contribute to my effectiveness as a teacher at Goshen College."

Dean and Mrs. Kreider, the former Mary Evelyn Burkholder 36, daughter of the late Professor Henry Burkholder, of Shippensburg, Pennsylvania, are the parents of three children: Alan, ten; Rebecca, six; and Stephen, three.

WORKDAYS PAY OFF

About five hundred Goshen College students participated in the two-day Work Recess, September 27, 28, to earn money to help complete the new dormitory for women. Russel Liechty 53, of Archbold, Ohio, and Patricia Lerch 52, Wooster, Ohio, cochairmen of the service committee of the "Y," were in charge of the drive.

Employment consisted of all types of fall work, outdoor and indoor. Some Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois students secured employment in their home communities. On October 17 the business office reported that students had turned in more than $6500 as a result of their two-day earnings. This amount exceeds all previous records for Work Recess receipts. The highest previous figure was $6400.

NORTHWESTERN KEEPS WELDY BUSY

Dwight Weldy, M.A., 40, assistant professor of music, now continuing graduate work at Northwestern University School of Music, is enjoying a busy year at Evanston. He serves as one of five soloists at the Willmette Methodist Church and during the Jewish new year celebration participated in singing the music for High Holy Days in Rockefeller Memorial Chapel at the University of Chicago.

In addition to ten hours of regular classwork in the Graduate Department, Professor Weldy sings in the A Cappella Choir of which he is assistant director. He also directs the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs. The Choir rehearses three hours a week and the glee clubs one each.

On Wednesday nights the three organizations (about 275 voices) rehearse together for three hours in preparation for the Christmas Concert on December 1 and 2 when they are to sing with the University Orchestra. They also are preparing Verdi's "Requiem" to be sung with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in Orchestra Hall under the direction of Bruno Walter on February 14 and 15. Mr. Weldy is to have charge of these massed rehearsals.

Professor and Mrs. Weldy and their two children live in Apartment 306 at 722 Clark Street, just across the street from the Music Building.

ALUMNI AT TEACHERS CONVENTION

GOSHEN YOUNG PEOPLE ATTEND HESSTON

The pleasant relations existing between Goshen College and Hesston College and Bible School are attested by the attendance of eight young people of the college congregation at the academy of Hesston College.

THE CHRISTIAN'S WALK ON EARTH

John Christian Wenger 34, M.A., Th.B., professor of philosophy and theology at Goshen College, in his recent book, Separated Unto God, records the results of some years of thought and study of the question, What is the Christian's relation to the world in which he, of necessity, lives? The author's answer, a remarkable volume of 350 pages, gives evidence of an amazing amount of careful research and clear analysis.

Avoiding the negative approach with its emphasis on what the Christian may not do, the author points out the believer's proper relation to the world of sensory experience on which he must depend for the sustenance and health of his physical body from infancy to old age. No Anabaptist or Mennonite writer of this generation has succeeded so well in steering the difficult course between an un-Biblical asceticism and austerity on the one hand and an unscriptural hedonism on the other. The result is an entirely new, fresh approach on a high spiritual-intellectual, theological-philosophical level.

Following the recommendation of the 1944 Mennonite General Conference to the General Problems Committee and the Publishing Committee of the Publication Board, these committees appointed Professor Wenger to prepare "a comprehensive treatment and exposition of the doctrine of nonconformity to the world to indoctrinate and enlighten our people better on the Bible teaching on this subject." The selection of Dr. Wenger was the natural result of his earlier studies on Mennonite costume and certain aspects of Christian life and faith as practiced by the early Anabaptists.

EDITORIAL CHAT

An increasing number of Goshen College Alumni realize the contribution that attendance at Goshen College made to their own life. As their children grow to college age and attend Goshen this realization becomes stronger. A recent letter to the Alumni Office from two non-Mennonite Goshen Alumni whose daughter is attending Goshen College expresses this idea succinctly. It is one of many similar expressions that the Alumni Office receives. "Goshen College has been a great blessing to us in the past and at present we realize that we are reaping a large reward because of the faithfulness of our Alumni. We trust that every need of the College will be supplied."

The primary emphasis in the study, "an attempt to bring before the reader the main passages of Scripture dealing with the subject of nonconformity, together with an attempt to apply those principles to our contemporary world," leads to a rather peculiar structure of the book. There is much quotation of sources; in fact parts of the book might well serve as the basis for future study of the subject. Extensive quotation, however, serves the purpose of reinforcing a convincing discussion, and a bringing together of sources and interpretations in a way that makes the volume unique.

A second emphasis of the book is "to bring also to the reader something of the story of those Christians who have attempted to maintain through the centuries a witness to the spiritual separation between the Church of Christ and Satan's world." Hence, the book is a historical as well as a doctrinal study. These two aspects placed in close juxtaposition strengthen the convincing character of the volume.

For the sake of illustration several examples of extensive quotation might be pointed out: Mark 7:1-23; II Corinthians 6:14—7:1, a complete statement of the Anabaptist view regarding their relation to the state and nonresistance as found in the Schleitheim Confession of Faith (1527) and the discussion on swearing of oaths; quotation from the July, 1947, issue of Mennonite Life describing social life among Pennsylvania Mennonites in 1847; Dr. Adoniram Judson's letter to the Christian women of the United States in 1831; and one of the Masonic oaths as reported by John R. Rice, editor of The Sword of the Lord, at Wheaton, Illinois. These examples show the extent and type of quotations used by Dr. Wenger.

A list of the chapter headings in itself is an indication of the scope and thoroughness of the work: "Separation and Nonconformity in the Old Testament," "Separation in Christianity," "Christian Nonconformity in History," "The Christian and His Speech," "Recreation and Culture in the Life of the Christian," "Some Personal and Social Aspects of the Christian Life," "Christian Separation in Courtship and Marriage," "Maintaining Christian Simplicity in a World of Organization," "Christian Simplicity in Worship," "Stewardship and Mutual Aid in the Christian Brotherhood," "The Christian and the State," "The Life of Love in the Industrial World," "The God-Centered Life." Throughout the book the author draws a sharp distinction between the walk and conduct of the Christian disciple and the standards of the non-Christian or the sub-Christian world.

At the conclusion of each chapter, Dr. Wenger adds a long list of bibliographical references useful to the student in a further study of the subject. Documentation also is remarkably complete. Every major quotation and many minor ones are carefully footnoted.

The author's "Preface" is more than the usual list of acknowledgments. It is in itself an excellent preview of the book. The "Introduction" by Paul Erb suggests uses for the book. Thirty-nine pages of "Appendixes" present a number of interesting documents for the further information and orientation of the reader. An "Index" of sixteen pages lists not only subject material in the text but includes also references to the bibliographical items at the end of each chapter. The "Prayer" at the end of each chapter lends to the volume a certain acceptable devotional character.

The volume is more than a dry recital of Scripture texts and other sources. As already stated, much source material is included in the text. The author's constant emphasis is on the application of Scriptural principles to certain problems relating to the Christian's walk and conduct in this day. Perhaps the reviewer should add what Paul Erb points out in the introduction: that the author does not expect his position on ethical questions "to be taken as official decrees. He has spoken for himself and not for any conference or official body."

The treatment of the material, however, is so thorough, so well documented, so soundly Scriptural that many Christians will find themselves in agreement with his conclusions and deductions. The author's constant emphasis is on the thesis that, by the very nature of his calling, the Christian must be separated unto God and order his life according to the intent of the Scriptures, and that this inevitably means a radical cleavage with the thought and life of the non-Christian world.

Granted the D.D. degree by Oskaloosa College in Iowa and the B.D. degree by Temple University, he was one of the outstanding Hebrew and Greek scholars in the church. Nearly ready for publication at the time of his death were a commentary on the Book of Revelation and a New Testament concordance. He served as President of Eastern Mennonite School, 1917-22, and on a number of Mennonite General Conference boards. For twenty-two years he was a member of the Mennonite Board of Education. His wife and their six children survive. Three of their children were students at Goshen College: Beulah 23 (Mrs. Merle Fowler) and George B. a28, of Faith, South Dakota; and J. I have registered for fifteen hours which includes the thesis. I have a good professor in my major field. He knows his subject quite well and he is a good Christian. . . . I appreciate Goshen College more than ever before since I came down here. It meant so much for me to attend chapel every morning and mingle with good Christian friends on the campus. . . . # Enrollment Trends

Goshen College has enrolled this fall four more full-time students than a year ago, for a total of 537. It is very gratifying that last year's level of enrollment has been maintained in the face of factors tending to decrease college enrollments. These factors include the smaller number of young people of college age due to the decreased birth rate during the depression years, the strong demand for labor and farm production with its lure of high income, and the draft prospects for young men of military age. These factors tending to decrease college enrollments have no doubt been balanced by other factors tending to increase the Goshen College enrollment. One of these is the growing interest in higher education in Mennonite circles, coupled with the economic prosperity that makes it possible for Mennonite parents to send their children to college. Another is the increase in the number of women students entering the nursing school and the secretarial curriculum. A third is the continued strong interest of men in the work of the Biblical Seminary. An analysis of the enrollment statistics printed in this bulletin reveals the influence of these factors.

The freshman class, with a total of 171, has 15 more students than a year ago. This increase is significant in the face of a decreased population of potential college students. Rather strikingly, the class contains 24 more women and 9 fewer men than last year's class, showing a total of 100 women and only 71 men. This is the first freshmen class since the war years in which the women outnumber the men. These figures reflect the strong interest of women students in nursing and secretarial studies, as well as the economic and perhaps also the draft pressures on men.

The total number of women students has increased over last year by about 10 per cent, from 238 to 262. On the other hand the number of men students shows a decrease of 20, from 295 to 275. These changes have almost wiped out the predominence of numbers of men over women students experienced during the post-war years. Men this year constitute 51 per cent of the total, as compared to 56 per cent last year and 59 per cent during each of the two previous years. The freshman class has more women than men, as stated above; the sophomore and junior classes are almost equally divided between men and women, while the senior class still has a few more men than women. The advanced students in the Biblical Seminary are all men.

Mennonite students constitute a larger proportion of the total student body than at any time in recent years, with 463 to make 86 per cent of the total. Members of the Mennonite Church, the branch operating Goshen College, number significantly more than a year ago, numbering 419 as compared to 407 a year ago, for 78 per cent of the total. Other Mennonite branches contribute only 41 as compared to 44 students a year ago. This increase in patronage of Goshen College by Mennonite students reflects the growing interest in higher education in Mennonite circles.

Teaching still leads the list of occupational interests for freshmen, with 41 freshmen naming teaching as an occupational goal. This number is somewhat smaller, however, then for the past few years. If this decrease represents a trend away from teaching as a profession, it is to be regretted, since the shortage of teachers on the elementary level is becoming more rather than less acute. Nursing shows a marked increase in the interest of freshman women, as is to be expected with the opportunities of the new Goshen College School of Nursing. Secretarial work has also attracted a larger number of freshman women. This is a gratifying trend since there is a large demand for women with secretarial skills. Only five men have given farming as an occupational goal, as compared to 10 last year and 16 two years ago. This decrease results in part, no doubt, from the fact that agricultural courses originally planned for this year have been postponed while the newly appointed agriculture instructor, Dale Swartzendruber, spends another year in study preparatory to his teaching. It is hoped that more students interested in farming will again be attracted to Goshen College when an adequate course offering in agriculture is available. Other occupational interests are listed about as frequently as by previous freshman classes. Among the more frequently mentioned occupations, 15 choose religious work, 8 medicine, 7 engineering, and 7 homemaking.

The enrollment by states reveals that Indiana has furnished 159 students, which is 15 fewer than a year ago, while Ohio has 107, or 15 more. This places Ohio in second place again, with Pennsylvania third, as has usually been the case, excepting that last year the positions of these two states were reversed. Pennsylvania has sent 90 students this year, three more than a year ago. Illinois has this year a few more, with 43 as compared to 37 last year. Other states have sent approximately the same numbers as previously. Ontario has sent 15 students, and the western Canadian provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia have sent a total of seven students this year. Seven students come from European countries; seven from Puerto Rico and Latin American countries; with two from Japan, one from Formosa and one from India to represent the Far East.

The number of students who had served during the last World War, either in C.P.S. or in the armed forces, has again decreased, from 47 last year to 33 this fall. This is to be expected. The married student, however, continues to be much more common than was the case before the war. There are 65 married students included in this year's student body. The larger proportion of these are seniors or advanced theology students, including many persons who are more mature and whose education was delayed, but among them are also students of normal college age. By classes the married students number: freshman, 6; sophomore, 11; junior, 3; senior, 26; post-graduate, 5; advanced theology, 14.

A goodly number of students have again transferred to Goshen College from other colleges, with 49 transfers of full-time students. Last year's total of such transfers was 54. However, the pattern of these transfers by classes is significantly different from a year ago. There are only 15 transfer juniors as compared to 27 last year, whereas there are 3 post-graduate and 5 advanced theology as compared to one in each of these classes last year. The transfers from junior colleges, notably our sister Mennonite colleges, have been fewer this year than last. On the other hand the transfers of college graduates, particularly for advanced study in the Biblical Seminary, have increased. The new transfer students for this fall number as follows by classes: freshman, 3; sophomore, 16; junior, 15; senior, 7; post-graduate, 3; advanced theology, 5.

Looking ahead, it seems that Goshen College is in a favorable position as regards enrollment numbers. The patronage of the Mennonite constituency of the college seems to be on the increase. There are factors that seem to point to a continued increase in this patronage: the good reputation of the college, an increase in the number of children of alumni of Goshen College, an increase after several years in the number of persons of college age, and the growth of the School of Nursing and the Biblical Seminary. Against this favorable outlook one must balance such things as the continued small number of persons of college freshman age for a few years, and the effect of the Selective Service draft on men of college age. The latter factor will no doubt make itself felt strongly in the coming school year. Approximately 50 men now at Goshen College are of an age and status such that they might undertake government service during the year. Others might be deterred from entering college for the same reason.

A more detailed prediction by classes for next fall's enrollment might be made somewhat as follows. By calculating and averaging for the past five years the percentage retention of students from one class to the next in the succeeding year, and using these percentages of the current class sizes, one would arrive at about the numbers given below for sophomores, juniors and seniors. Assuming that freshman, post-graduate, and advanced theology numbers will be about the same as this year, these class sizes are also determined for next fall. The classes for the fall of 1952 might then be about as follows: freshman, 170; sophomore, 120; junior, 100; senior, 100; post-graduate, 10; advanced theology, 30. This makes a total of 530. To this total one might add about 15 for additional nursing students, making 545. One might also need to subtract about 50 for men entering government service, leaving only 495. It would appear, therefore, that next year's enrollment might be about the same as this year, excepting for the draft. Taking the draft into account, as one should, the enrollment may be as much as ten per cent below this year's figure.

At Goshen you find every encouragement to build a life. To earn a living may require no special training but to build a beautiful, satisfying life one must lay a worthy foundation. Much study, prayer, and consecration have gone into planning the Goshen College program of classroom and campus activity to help students lay such a foundation.

This bulletin is intended to help you to understand some of the advantages afforded by Goshen College to build the one life that is yours to live on earth. In these pages you will see students living and serving together at unselfish tasks and you will see a few of the thousands of Goshen alumni living out the life principles strengthened at Goshen College.

Naturally you wish to be a Christian—a true Christian. This is no day for sham or pretense. This age demands genuineness, it despises make believe, it pities straddlers.

The Goshen College "Y" can help you to be a better Christian. The first part of the "Y" motto is "To Know Christ." This is the sincere desire of many fine young people at Goshen College. The "Y" plans weekly devotional meetings conducted entirely by students. A student leads the meeting, a student conducts the song service, and students conduct the devotional exercise and give the talks.

Group Prayer Meeting in the Quadrangles.

The "Y" plans dormitory group prayer meetings like the one shown in the picture.

The "Y" cooperates with the Christian Workers Band and other organizations under faculty supervision in carrying on visitation work in the homes of shut-ins and in the jail, and in tract distribution.

The "Y" cooperates in arranging for gospel team tours. In 1949 the Ambassador Male Quartet with Edgar Metzler of the Class of 1952 as their speaker gave seven programs in the states of Pennsylvania and New York, and in Ontario. Gospel teams like these as well as peace teams and chorus tours enable students to visit many congregations in the constituency and to form closer ties with the Church in general.

Pictures at right — Top to bottom: Locust Grove Church, Sunday School class at Wawasee Chapel, Wawasee Lakeside Chapel, Sunday School class at Wawasee.

The "Y" cooperates in promoting Sunday school work. The North Goshen Mennonite Church began as a Sunday school in a celery shed in East Goshen in the summer of 1929. Later moved to North Goshen, it developed into a regularly organized congregation with its own church building. The bishop and two ministers of this congregation are former students of Goshen College and were workers in the "Y". Two of them, John C. Wenger, class of 1934, and Russell Krabill, class of 1944, are former presidents of the "Y".

The East Goshen Mennonite Church began in the same way, first as a Sunday school in the hilly area in East Goshen south of Indiana Route 4 and now is an organized congregation. The pastor, Paul W. Miller, a graduate of Goshen College in the class of 1949 (Th.B. 1950), served as Sunday school superintendent during his freshman year, 1945-46, and since that time has carried the responsibility of the pastorate.

Goshen College students continuing this type of work, are conducting four Sunday schools and also assist in the Sunday school in East Goshen. The oldest of the four Sunday schools, Locust Grove, is about to be organized as a congregation independent of "Y" sponsorship. Beginning under adverse circumstances, it now has an attendance of ninety. A new church building was completed last year.

At the Sunnyside Sunday school near Dunlap the work is highly organized and quite extensive, including club work as well as Sunday school and visitation. Gospel songs are played over a loud speaker each Sunday morning before services begin. The Indiana-Michigan Mission Board has built a small church for the community.

One of these Sunday schools is conducted in a conservation club house near Lake Wawasee. Students call it the "Wawasee Lakeside Chapel."

The most recent of these student Sunday school projects is the one known as the Plymouth Street Chapel. The activities include a Sunday school, club meetings for children, homemakers' meetings for the women, and visitation work.

Students also conduct club work, visitation, and tract distribution in South Bend.

Many of the young people who have worked in these Sunday schools have become truer Christians and have come to a fuller recognition of Christ as Lord and Master. They have determined to walk in Christ's way of life, doing good as He did, living and loving as He did, and serving Him in all things.

Goshen can help you to find deeper meanings in the Christian life. It can help you to a new nearness to Christ. It can offer you friendships with other young people whose life and will are surrendered to God.

The above are only a few of the hundreds and hundreds of Goshen College Alumni engaged in a busy life of service. They work hard, but they find satisfaction in knowing that the work they do serves not merely to make a living for themselves. It counts also for the extension of the Kingdom of God. Many of them, engaged in the so-called "secular" callings, find great joy in serving the Church through the Sunday School, in Mission Stations, in the Sewing Circle, in MCC, in MRC, and in other ways through the expanding program of the Gospel outreach.

They many times express their gratitude to their former teachers at Goshen for opening their eyes to the broader meanings of education. They feel that contact with the "Y" and the other Christian organizations of the campus has enriched and beautified the whole tenor of their life. They registered at Goshen College with the vague notion of getting an education, but they never anticipated that four years at Goshen could give them such breadth of vision, or unfold to them such interesting vistas of service opportunities.

Goshen College Invites You to Share in These Enriching Experiences

Although, as already suggested, mere "jobs" are not the most important contribution which a college can make to life, Goshen College does not neglect the foundations for wholesome vocational choices and economic independence.

Do You Like Chalk Dust and Children?

Goshen students find the public and parochial school rooms a rewarding field of service. The College is particularly fortunate in being situated in a city with an excellent school system whose superintendent, principals, and teachers are sympathetic toward the cadet system of teacher training. Approximately three dozen elementary school cadet teachers and the same number of secondary school cadets do practice teaching in the local schools every year.

Hundreds of Goshen Alumni are teaching in many states of the Union—from Massachusetts and Delaware to California and Oregon, and from the Dakotas to Florida, Mississippi and Arizona. Several are teaching in the public schools in Ethiopia. Most of them are not merely teachers; they make a valuable contribution to the religious, social, and cultural life and activity of their community. At Goshen College they learned "To Know Christ" better, and they welcome opportunities "To Make Him Known."

Do You Like Dictation and a Typewriter?

Goshen College has an excellent Secretarial Course, well-trained instructors, and a growing Secretarial Department. The Department is not able to supply the demand for properly qualified secretaries. During the past few years the Department has prepared and placed over sixty students in secretarial positions. Many doors open to the Christian secretary.

Do You Like To Ease Pain and Nurse the Sick?

Goshen's new School of Nursing is set up on the most approved pattern for modern nursing education and training. Students in the Goshen College School of Nursing have the advantage of College environment, interests, and outlook and also secure the necessary clinical experience in a hospital. Students receive instruction in theory in the College; the new Nursing Arts Laboratory and the Elkhart General Hospital furnish facilities for instruction and training in nursing arts and in bedside care of patients.

Are You Looking Forward to Possible Full-time Christian Service?

You will enjoy studying Bible courses in the Goshen College Biblical Seminary under consecrated Christian teachers, sound in the faith, trained in the best methods of Bible teaching, and skilled in conducting a Christian education program in the home or foreign mission field and in ministering to a local congregation.

In the Goshen College Biblical Seminary you will have an opportunity to live and study and work with young men and women from this and other lands. The "Y" with its mission Sunday Schools and Gospel Teams, the Christian Workers Band, the Foreign Missions Fellowship, and the Aero Club offer the future missionary or church worker many opportunities for study and service. Literally hundreds of Goshen College alumni are serving in full-time Christian service on the mission field or as pastors and institutional workers on the home front.
